LOMBARD STREET HAS PLENTY MONEY

London, June 10.—The city passed through a very agitated and anxious week, the situation being practically without precedent, judged by ordinary standards. Little seems to have changed. There was no pressure for money in Lombard street, where discount business proceeded on the usual terms. The event of the week has been the failure of a firm of dealers in foreign railways and some $5,000,000 worth of stocks became homeless. The event proved a blessing in disguise as a syndicate was promptly formed, and took over the stocks and so great proved the absorbing power of the public at the reduced quotations that within 48 hours a large portion of the syndicate's holdings were successfully marketed. This provision of care is not in the least overladen and is prepared to buy stocks at bargain prices. Appearance of the investor gave a flip to the market, and the week-end saw a recovery in prices after a prolonged slump. The outlook is regarded as favorable, for underlying conditions in the markets sound and free from inflation.

R. G. METCALF, FARMER, IS KILLED BY MANIAC; SLAYER IS CAPTURED

Sacrificed His Life in Defense, of Elderly Couple In Whose Shack the Murder is Committed; Alfred Main, Who Did the Shooting, Had Threatened to Kill Victim

CORONATION, Alta., June 10.—R. G. Metcalf, a farmer, who was killed by Alfred Main, a homesteader, sacrificed his life in saving Mr. and Mrs. Smith, an elderly couple, in whose shack the murder was perpetrated.

Metcalf was over at the Smith house when Main came over to the shack, leaving his team standing attached to the plow in the middle of the field. Picking up the gun belonging to Mr. Smith, a No. 10 shotgun, Main put a shell into it and looked at Mrs. Smith in a queer way.

Main has been subject to periodic fits of insanity, and during these spells he has often threatened Metcalf. When Main picked up the gun Mr. Smith remarked that it was foolish to load it, as the children might get hold of it.

Smith thought at first that Main would shoot at his wife, and he signalled to her to leave the house, which she did, going over to a neighbor. Smith, an elderly man, troubled with rheumatism, was afraid of Main, and told Metcalf that he was afraid to stay with him alone. He then left the shack, saying that he would look after Main's team.

Shots Metcalf; Drags Body Out. When he was some distance from the hut Smith heard the sound of a shot, and went back to see what had happened. He met Main, dragging the lifeless body of Metcalf to the trail about 70 yards away. Main opened the granary door suddenly with the intention of putting the body in there, but closed it again and took the body around to the back of the granary and left it there.

Main remarked to Smith: "I don't want anything to do with this, and I went away to McNeill's shack about three-quarters of a mile away, where he shut himself in the shack, it being empty."

An examination of Metcalf's body showed that the shot which caused his death was fired at close quarters. The top of the head was almost blown away. No motive can be assigned for the crime other than the frenzy of a crazy man.

An Ontario Homesteader. "Homestead insanity" is the name applied to Main, who is a brother who is a married man 47 years of age, who came from Ontario. He stands five feet eight inches, and is described as a good looking. He is said to be considerably more intelligent than the average homesteader. He has a brother who only left the farm yesterday, and a sister at Fleet, named Mrs. Brissette.

Main is Captured. Main was captured at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Major Cuthbert, of the mounted police, said that Sergeant McBride had notified the barracks that Main had been captured and taken to the headquarters at Stettler.

JUDGMENT RESERVED IN CLEARWATER APPEAL CASE

Argument Was Concluded Yesterday Afternoon in Appeal Against Order of Judge Beck to Returning Officer to Count Certain Ballots.

ELECTION ACT IS VAGUE ON SUBJECT
Counsel for Appeal Argues Court Had No Power to Issue Order, Whereas the Contrary Opinion is That Officer Neglected His Duty.

ARGUMENT was concluded yesterday afternoon in the Clearwater election appeal case, and their lordships reserved judgment. The argument of the three counsel throughout the day, the others being Frank Ford, K. C., for McKenney, the Liberal candidate, and C. C. McCaul, K. C., for Williamson, the Conservative, was to the effect that the Alberta election act as it stood contained no provision for the returning officer counting the disputed ballots. That the law was deficient in this matter was acknowledged, but Mr. Ford contended that there were ample other remedies for any who felt aggrieved in the matter, and it was for that reason that the act did not call on the returning officer to do so. It could be done at a recount, for instance.

Mr. Ford, in concluding, said that the wilful neglect could not be proved against the returning officer, for he could not be charged under that section of the act which dealt with wilful neglect that he could be submitted to the penalty.

Charges Wilful Neglect. C. C. McCaul, in opening, said the returning officer was guilty of wilful neglect, and was liable to a penalty fine of $400. He had wilfully refused to do what was his duty under the terms of the act. Mr. Justice Simons was of the opinion that that was hardly true.

Mr. McCaul then contended that if there was no express instruction to the returning officer to count the ballots that was contained by implication in a number of the other clauses of the act. Certain parts of the act were obscure, but those who drew it up did not realize all the cases which might arise, and the various instructions contained had to be interpreted in their widest significance.

Power to Change Act. Mr. Stuart contended that their lordships had the power to read into the act something which was not there if it did not meet with certain circumstances. He wished to have a clause inserted which would enjoin the returning officer to count the disputed ballots when the right of the persons to vote was decided in the court of inquiry.

This concluded the appeal, and their lordships reserved judgment.

School Board Meeting Postponed. The regular meeting of the school board which should have been held last evening was postponed as there was no quorum. It will be held next

UNITED FARMERS WILL GET FRUIT DIRECT FROM GROWERS

Scheme to Be Put in Vogue to Abolish Profits of Middle Men in Supplying Fruit.

The United Farmers of Alberta have made arrangements to secure fresh fruit direct from the growers in British Columbia in such a way that the farmers will be supplied at cost without the intervention of the middleman. This was the announcement made by P. P. Woodbridge yesterday, the secretary having made the arrangements and sent out circulars to the various local unions who will handle the fruit at their several points.

The firm in question will ship the fruit direct from B. C. to Calgary where an agent will be kept to look after the distribution. The fruit will be supplied in boxes, each specially packed and marked as grown specially for the United Farmers of Alberta. It will be sent through in carloads to Calgary and will be distributed to the various points where it is required.

There will be no fixed price for the various fruits and these will vary with the market prices, but the farmers will constantly get the fruit at the cost at which it is quoted on the market, with of course the addition of the cost of shipping and handling.

Begin This Month. The first fruit will be strawberries and will be shipped about the end of June or the beginning of July, as the season is this year considerably later than last year.

The cash transactions and the orders will be placed through the central office in Calgary and the various local unions will have to send through their orders and their money in payment to the agent at the headquarters in Calgary. This agent will be under the control of the secretary of the United Farmers.

As the firm which is supplying the fruit will this year erect a canning plant there will in all likelihood be arrangements made at an early date to have canned fruits supplied on the

SUGGESTED NO MORE LAUREATES TO SING

London, June 10.—The death of Alfred Austin has opened the question again whether the post of poet laureate should be retained. Most papers agree it ought to be abolished, and many seize the opportunity to ridicule it. Writers in general agree on abolition. W. H. Davies says: "Certainly the post should be abolished," while Edward Garnett says: "It might as well remain for some time in abeyance, with the object of recuperating. It has suffered from many chilling years of anaemic depression."

Joseph Conrad says it depends on the holder. On the other hand, Maurice Hewlett says it should not be abolished, as it is a state recognition of art, and Sir A. Quiller-Couch says it is always a pity to abolish old institutions in haste. There are only a few months' suggestions for an appointment, with a general agreement that there are outstanding figures worthy of recognition.

Though the name of Kipling appears on every list, while at the same time it is considered unlikely that he will be chosen if the post is continued, Thomas Hardy, who is 73 years old, and Austin Dobson, who is a few months Hardy's senior, are both thought too old to accept, and Wm. Watson, as everybody knows, is indisposed.

The Daily Citizen, the principal Labor journal, suggests a woman, Mrs. Alice Meynell.

The list of names so far discussed is as follows: Rudyard Kipling, Robert Bridges, Henry Newbolt, Wm. Watson, W. H. Davies, Maurice Hewlett, Austin Dobson, Alfred Noyes, Thos. Hardy, Alice Meynell, Stephen Phillips, and Richard Le Gallienne.

Judging from the newspapers, the choice seems to lie between Henry Newbolt and Robert Bridges. John Massfield is considered too outspoken, and it is not believed that W. E. Yeats would be accepted.

FAMOUS CARDINAL IS NEAR TO DEATH

Rome, June 10.—Cardinal Giuseppe Vives Y Tuto, prefect of the congregation for religious affairs, has received the last rites of the church. His physicians say he cannot possibly recover. The Pope was deeply affected by the news. He has ordered a special mass said for the recovery of the grand inquisitorial officer, who was one of his first supporters in the conclave which elected Cardinal Sarzo to succeed Leo XIII.

According to certain reports Cardinal Vives Y Tuto has become insane, but, according to others, is suffering only from neurasthenia, and by the advice of the attending physicians has retired to a monastery at Frascati, a short distance out of Rome.

The Cardinal is 83 years of age. He was elevated to the sacred college in 1899.

SNOW IN NEW BRUNSWICK SUNSHINE IN ALBERTA

Fredericton, N. B., June 10.—Residents of Little Lake, Sunbury County, on the north branch of the Oromocto river, report a heavy snow squall there yesterday, and a man who arrived on a late train last night from Bangor said that east of that city in the state of Maine there was a fairly heavy snow-

QUEEN-MOTHER IS FOND OF OPERA

London, June 10.—Queen Alexandra does not go to the opera, often, but is so very fond of music that she has had an electrophone installed at Marlborough House, and the other night she and the royal princess of Russia spent the whole evening hearing the Grand Opera production of "The Barber of Seville" at long distance.

The matter of the Prince of Wales' marriage even though it would be three years off, as he is only 19 years of age, is now engaging the attention of the circles and the royal press, as the question means the choice of a future queen of England. There is a list of names of possible brides, only two, the czar's eldest daughter, and Elizabeth, daughter of the Crown Prince of Roumania, both 17 years old, being considered. Queen Alexandra is said to favor the Russian alliance, but Queen Mary while very recent, thinks the Coburg alliance with Roumania the more desirable.
