London, Wednesday, Jan. 7.

This (Wednesday) evening, in the Queen's Avenue Methodist Church, of which the use has been kindly granted, there will be opportunity to see and hear the world-famous explorer, Henry M. for something wrong, in return for something wrong he is willing to vote March Across Africa, its Cannibals, Pigmies, and Story of the Rear Guard." This will be the only opportunity the people of London and Western Ontario are ever likely to have to hear this famous man, and we advise all who can to take advantage of the occasion. It is expected that Mrs. Stanley, who was recently married to Stanley in Westminster Abbey, will be also present. Wednesday night, Jan. 7, in the large

THE CITY ELECTIONS.

The municipal elections yesterday were keenly contested in every ward. Though the chief interest centered in the mayoralty and the license reduction bylaw, the competition for election as water commissioners, aldermen and school trustees was keen, and a very fair representation of the electorate went to the polls. This fact is satisfactory for two reasons: It shows that the citizens are alive to their own interests when they are once thoroughly aroused, and it proves that when there are questions before the citizens that affect the homes and the pockets of the people, as the increase in taxation and the license question undoubtedly do, they can be relied on to speak

Mayor Taylor returns to the chief magistrate's chair for a third term. His opponent, Mr. Minhinnick, had strong fighting forces behind him, and influences which it was hoped would overcome the majority with which Mr. Taylor started, but the fates were against him, as, indeed, was the logic by which some of his friends endeavored to strengthen his case. For example, the cry that a third term for the lty was a heinous offense for the reason that the offices should go round. If that rule had held good in the past representation of the people, and we by just as means say that it is entirely without year. merit, Messrs. Carling and Meredith should have long since shared up the honors with their fellow-citizens. That they have not This has been a surprise to most people. done so shows that some of the opponents of the third term were at least one-sided in the streets will make a great change in their application of the "honor monopely" rule. Ex-Mayor Anderson, who also entered for the mayoralty, was the victim of cirstances. While practically first in the field, the impression took hold on the popu-lace that the fight would really be between Mr. Taylor and Mr. Minhinuick, and it was thus made impossible for Mr. Anderson to develop his full strength. In a singlepresented by the churches, the W.C.T.U., handed contest, there cannot be a doubt that Mr. Anderson, with his long record of municipal usefulness, would have made a ducted with moderation and tact, are splendid fight. He at least had the satisfaction of seeing that his railway and debt refunding policies were indersed by his opponents as conceived in the best interests of the taxpayers. The only regret of the many friends of the ex-mayor will be that in the Council of 1891, before which so much important business will come, he like a new doctrine that for all defects of the moral of the council of so much important business will come, he will not be able to lend his powerful aid.

ent from the Water Commis Board during next year. His place will be taken by Ald. Jones, who polled a very large vote. Commissioner Davis will be by his side, and will doubtless be re-elected chairman-a post which he has pre-eminent ability for filling. It was the boast of both Mr. Essery and Mr. Davis that they neither advertised themselves as candidates nor canvassed a voter. That may have been dignified, and the abstension from canvassing, in view of their good record as commissioners, may be deemed worthy of emulation, but certainly the tactics are not such as to materially aid a man while elections are lost and won largely on the button-holing plan. We are confiman while elections are lost and won largely on the button-holing plan. We are confident that if the retiring commissioners had taken advantage of the opportunities of publicity that others used, they would have made a much better showing. We are hopeful that the new Board will maintain the record for waterworks management established by their predecessors.

London as Ald. Jones Triends put in for him yesterday. In the City Hall division alone, the new water commissioner had no fewer than 106 solitary voters, will Commissioner Davis had but 29, and Commissioner Resery had 20. In that division—a specimen one, we believe—Davis and Essery appeared together on 64 believe and Jones on 34. tain the record for waterworks manage-ment established by their predecessors.

A veritable revolution has taken place in the personnel of the Council. Of last year's Board, Aldermen A. Jerson, Moule, nes and Glass retired volun vily; at the Jones and Glass retired volum crily; at the polls yesterday Aldermen Heaman, his $20,000 staff ought to have gathered, is said to have been an old and successful Is on the WRAIPPER. Heaman will be munerative" British trade himself? Cana-missed, though his place is taken by ex-Ald. Conners, who made a good represent a tive when last at the Board. The places of the other aldermen who are retired are taken by entirely new men. Mr. Ivey joins the Board in No. 2. Major Gartahore and Mr. W. H. Winnett enter in No. 3. In No. 4 a clean sweep was made of the old aldermen, and ex-Ald. Scarrow, Mr. old aldermen, and ex-Ald. Scarrow, Mr. W. M. Spencer and James Fitzgerald take their places. Ald. Bartlett is joined in No. 5 by Mr. Fitzgerald and Mr. Wilkie. In the sixth ward, Mr. Luney did not find time to canvass—he has been too busy domestically recently—and the result is his very small vote. His place is taken by Mr. Judd. Almost everybody in No. 6 believed that Mr. Parnell would be elected. He very nearly got there, and with fewer He very nearly got there, and with fewer candidates out he would certainly have been elected. As new brooms sweep clean, it is not unreasonable to hope that the Aldermanic Board of 1891 will be able to

A word of counsel to the new members, najority of whom are young and progressive men. You have an opportunity to make or mar your record. You start with a clean slate. It will be entirely your own fault if your record is in the least smirched. The greatest danger will come from the log-rolling ward system. Ald. Somebody will ask you to vote for you. Turn your back on all log-rolling or questionable projects of any kind. It is easy for new members to attach too much importance to the opinions of municipal ringsters with whom you may come in contact. Do the right, regardless of conse uences. Make your appeal on broad and high principles, not to any narrow circle, but to the public as a whole.

With one exception, there were contests in every ward for school trustee. All the old members were re-elected except Mr. Rowlands, in No. 6 Ward—a good man, who failed, in a large measure, because neither he nor his friends worked for success. Dr. Ferguson is an experienced eduist, and will no doubt make his mark

There is general satisfaction at the suess of the license reduction bylaw. It was not openly opposed on the platform, and the arguments brought against it were llogical and absurd. The adoption of this ylaw here and the bylaw to withdraw all licenses from London West shows the trend of public opinion. Not a little credit s due to the women voters, who, at considerable personal inconvenience, worked and voted for the bylaw.

The ward reduction bylaw was defeated, but the large vote polled in its favor, in spite of the gross misrepresentation of its intentions, shows that the principle contained in its provisions has come to stay. The citizens who are in favor of ward reduction and the economy and efficiency which it implies should persovere in the good work thus begun, and before another year elapses the principle will be adopted. In some circles, the Board of Trade have been sneered at, and Mr. Colwell, Mr. Marsh, Mr. W. J. Reid, Mr. J. W. Little and others who set the municipal ball rolling, have been misrepresented. But the lively contests, and the headway made in this and other matters, conceived for the welfare of the city, supplies an effective reply to the croakers. It is significant that the aldermen who most strongly opposed Board of Trade co-operation have been displaced by the electors. The ward reduction bylaw will be carried next year, just as it has been carried in Toronto this

The frontage bylaw has been carried. civic management.

One moral lies on the surface worth pondering. Much of whatever was satis factory in yesterday's contest, including the carrying of the bylaw for the reduction etc. It shows that these forces, when combined and united in a campaign con irresistible. Now for the moral. If the our civic life, in their relation to the mora The familiar face of Mr. Essery will be responsible; but can it be denied?

Although not formally issued, an order has been prepared at the Union Pacific headquarters at Omaha for the reduction of the clerks' and general agents' salaries from 15 to 25 per cent. It is understood that the reduction in the case of higher officials will be even greater. The salary of the company's general agent will be cut down 50 per cent. in New York.

Toronto, Jan. 6.—Dr. Koch's remedy was used for the first time in Toronto yesterday upon two patients in the Toronto General Hospital. The cases operated upon by Dr. Bingham were of pulmonary tuberculosis and lupus. The first was a young man 20 years of age, who was admitted to the hospital on Dec. 10 last from York township, where his people live. His symptoms were of a rapid decline. The other case is a girl 30 years of age who for twenty years has suffered the ravages of lupus. She has been an in mate of the hospital for fifteen years. The disease has destroyed her nose and has attacked her lower lip, making her The disease has destroyed her nose and has attacked her lower lip, making her a pitiable object of misery. It was matter for surprise to the doctors who, in the superintendent's office before the operations, examined her that her life had been so many years prolonged. Late last night the report from the hospital was that so far as could be judged at that hour the condition of the patients was favorable to the success of the treatment.
