LONDON, Sept. 13 .- The Duke of Westminster, who rejoices in the nickname of "Jack Sheppard," which was bestowed winster, who can be stored when him in his school days at Eton, in consequence of his extraordinary resemblance to the famous boy burglar delineated by Cruik-hank, is now making his annual stay at his shooting lodge in Reav Forest, Sutherlandshire. The Duke has there one of the finest sporting domains in Great Britain. He has leased Reny Forest from his brother-in-law, the Duke of Sutherland, for more than 30 years.

The extent of his ground is about 115,000 acres, and it yields some of the best deer stalking and grouse shooting in Scotland. The stags in Reay Forest are unsurpassed for size and quality, and the breed of red deer has been improved by the introduction of stags from the royal herd in Windsor Great Fark.

In addition to Reay Forest proper, which can extend to nearly 65,000 acres, the Duke of Westminster, who is the wealthiest subject of Queen Victoria, also leases the adjoining forest and moors of Glendhu (40,000 acres) and the extensive Corry Kinloch shootings at the head of Loch Shin, which adjoin Reay Forest. HE SHOCKED THE PRINCESS.

Ee Had Lost His Money at Mcnte Carlo and Then Shot Himself.

Berlin, Sept. 14.—The Fremdenblatt has a dispatch from Monace giving an account of a sensational tragedy at that place. Prince Albert of Monace and his wife, the Princess Alice, on returning from their recent tour, were received with great enthusiasm by the people of the principality, the attaches of the Casino turning out especially in strong force to greet them. The little army of members was drawn up at the landing as a guard of honor, and the Governor and Council were present to deliver addresses. The cannon thundered a greeting, and the scene was of a most joyous and festal character, when suddenly a young man burst through the throng and rushed toward Prince Albert and the Princess, He was well dressed, but his wild and disordered appearance at once caused dismay among the group which surrounded the sovereign. In his hand he grasped a weapon, and before anybody could interfere he raised the pistol, for such it was, and putting it close to his head, fired and fell dead at the feet of the Princess Alice.

The princess, who had a moment before been all smiles, nearly fainted. She gave a cry of alarm and sank back in the arms of her husband. A dozen officers sprang forward and seized the prostrate body, only to find that life was extinct. The lifeblood which cozed from the wound almost stained the garments of the princess. On searching the body not even a centime was found, but there was a ticket to the Casino, which told the story of his fate. He had evidently been overcome by despair, after losing all he had in the great gambling establishment, which supplies a revenue to support the Prince of Monaco in luxury, and had determined to end his life at the feet of the Prince.

The Marseillaise of Christianity.

Dr. M. D. Hoge tells an instance of the power of the late Dr. Plumer in turning passing incidents to profitable account. In the summer before the war he was at the White Sulphur Springs, where a larse company was gathered, and there was great excitement in view of the anticipated secession. Everywhere this was the theme of conversation. The band played patriotic airs, among which the most popular and most frequently in demand was the Marseillaise hymn. One Sunday in the height of the season and excitement, Er. Plumer was appointed to preach. A large crowd was gathered, but how was any man to bold its attention? Plumer rose to the occasion. His first words were: "Now let us begin the worship of God by singing the Marseillaise hymn of Christianity, 'All Hail The Power of Jesus Name.'" The effect was immediate as he read "Coronation." All confusion was stilled, and most reverential attention was given unto the very end of the service.—[Christian Intelligencer.

QUEBEC, Sept. 13.—Dr. Montizambert and officers of Quarantine may take the best of precautions against cholera-stricken immigrants passing Gross Isle, but it does not deter the Government and railway officers from assuring the country that they will not pass Quebec without a second cleansing from head to foot, baggage and all. The emigrants by the steamer Labrador were compelled to take a bath, and their baggage was disinfected in a temperature reaching over 250 degrees. This operation was conducted in a car on the embankment and in a steam laundry at Levis. An unfortunate trouble has arisen on the other side with the passengers bound for the States, and they are still at the emigration sheds awaiting orders from the Grand Trunk Railway authorities before proceeding on their journey. It appears that although they may have a clean bill of health from Quarantine here it is not sufficient, and emigrants have to undergo another ten days' quarantine on the border before entering the States.
