The Alleged Murderer in France and May Be Tried There.

Paris, March 23 .- A formal request for the extradition of Paul E. Roy to the United States was received at the American embassy this afternoon from Washington. It was subsequently turned over to the French foreign office. Roy is a Frenchman, who married an American woman known as Glacia Calla, and who has been accused by his wife of killing her brother, George A. Carkins, on Jan. 2, at Newington, N. H. After the death of Carkins, Roy returned to Paris, where he still is.

The answer of France has not yet been framed, but the foreign office has previously stated that France's principle has been not to deliver a citizen charged with a crime in a foreign country, but to agree to a trial in France.
