

BIG ELECTRICAL CONCERNS ARE READY TO FINANCE ELECTRIFICATION CAMPAIGN

Expectant of Landing Contracts, They Will Go to Any Length To Bring About Expenditure of Million Dollars—Ready To Provide "the Sinews of War."

GLAUBITZ PICKED AS THE ENGINEER

Surprises at the electrification interests meeting tonight are promised by Mayor C. M. R. Graham and his official press agent—the Free Press. Just what the surprises will be can only be guessed by those who have kept in touch with the campaign that has been waged in London and out of London and Port Stanley. It has been the open boast of some of the electrophobes that the election will be won by them—not on sentiment—but on organization. The surprise promised for this evening is believed, by the initiated to be a revelation of the strength of this organization that is being touted as the real little election winner.

Corporations to Help.
Hints of a large campaign fund that will afford an ever-ready supply of cash for the pro-electrification interests have been made for some time. It has been asserted that this fund has received the support of large OUTSIDE corporations, those who are in touch with the situation have no hesitancy in declaring that the contracts for the electrification reconstruction have been practically let so sure are the electrophobes of their success.

Not Here For Health.
Representatives of the big electrical construction companies of the States and of Canada have been in London for some time on various mysterious missions. Some of them have cloaked their real missions by calling on the electrical department soliciting orders there. Others have hardly bothered adopting such a subterfuge, so confident have they been. The fact that they have been in London is well known. It is also known that they have not been here for their health.

Glaubitz as Engineer!
Surprises by the score could be sprung on the electrification question. Rumors as to the future conduct of the road are rife. Among the most prevalent is one that alleges that General Manager H. J. Glaubitz, of the water commission, has been slated for the chief engineering of the electrified line. Another is that Mayor C. M. R. Graham, in the event of the success of his campaign, will endeavor to secure a third term in the reaction that will follow the election. Both these rumors have been stamped with the mark of more than possibility. Indeed both would be part and parcel of the "cut and dried" program that the interests who are fostering and furthering the electrification.

INSANE MAN GETS OUT THREE TIMES AT THE HOSPITAL

Pursued by Scores of Children, He Rushes Naked Up Colborne Street.

CAPTURED, TIED DOWN

He Loses Bonds and Again Gets Away at Noon Hour.

A deranged patient in Ward 3, of Victoria Hospital, has managed to escape three times in the last 24 hours, and has created the greatest sensation in the vicinity of the hospital by dashing wildly up the street absolutely nude, and with scores of children in pursuit.

The man made his first escape at 8 o'clock Monday night, and was returned to the hospital with little difficulty. At 8 o'clock today, however, he made his second escape, after threatening the nurses, and tearing off his hospital bed uniform.

Pursued by Children.
Scores of children went on the streets when he managed to gain the front of the hospital, and he ran wildly up Colborne street. The sight of his nude figure, the flying attendants, and the following of children was one that caused the most intense excitement. After being captured and brought back once more to the ward, he was strapped to the bed. At noon, however, he managed to get loose from the bonds and manœuvred his third escape, running west on Ottawa avenue.

HAD NO AUTHORITY TO USE NAME OF MARSHALL FIRM

Electrificationists Secured No Permission From Messrs. Munro or Simson.

A STRAIGHT REBUTTAL

Members of the Firm Call The Advertiser to Explain Their Position.

Another name, inserted without authority, has been found on the pro-electrification petition that was plastered over the front page of the evening electrophobe on Saturday. In big type the name of the John Marshall & Co. was included in this list. Messrs. Sam Munro and Walter Simson, members of the firm, called The Advertiser this morning to state that the firm's name had been used without authority.

Mr. Simson called The Advertiser office and drew attention to the fact that the firm had not given permission to use its name in the petition. Mr. Samuel Munro corroborated his partner's statement.

They had no authority to use the firm's name at all," said Mr. Munro. "No permission or authority was granted for its use."

BRITISH GOVT. TO DEFY CARSON AND PASS THE HOME RULE BILL

No Chance of Any Compromise—Carson Will Simply Be Ignored and Government Is Ready To Take All Chances on Civil War in Ulster.

[Canadian Press.] New York, Oct. 7.—A London cable to The Tribune today says: Home Secretary McKenna made a speech of great importance last night. He is the first cabinet minister to speak in public on home rule since the Ulster crisis stirred up by Lord Loreburn's famous letter.

He said: "The Liberal party have convictions, and have the courage of their convictions. One of those convictions is that in the government of the country the will of the majority lawfully expressed through their representatives must prevail, and upon that conviction the Liberal party will stand. There is, indeed, no possible alternative. We are not going to submit either to rule by minority or to anarchy."

More Reasons Why It Would Be Folly to Spend $700,000 on Electrification

The tax rate of the city—24 9-10 mills on the dollar—is such that all unnecessary expenditure must be avoided. The electrification scheme is unnecessary.

The reports of the experts appointed by the city do not justify the conclusions which the promoters of electrification profess to draw from them.

The city needs storm sewers. Unless the bylaw for that purpose carries, thousands of cellars will be regularly flooded, with serious injury to property and health.

A new breakwater would be only a measure of fair play to West London. It would increase the value of property in that growing suburb, and return to the city in taxes more than the cost of protection.

The city must soon embark on a good roads policy. The state of the roads last spring was lamentable. Miles of new unpaved streets in the new districts aggravate the problem.

London needs radial railways north, east and west. It is folly to neglect these opportunities by spending $700,000 to revamp a railway through a district already served.

The city could derive a large revenue from the L. and P. S. R.—larger than at present—without spending a dollar on reconstruction, and at the same time obtain all the benefits that are promised by electrification, without the risks.

MOTHER TOOK BOY AS HE PLAYED IN STREET

Intends to Take Little David Hetherington to Detroit, She Says.

David Hetherington, 5 years old, who disappeared from his home, 692 Adelaide street, several days ago, has been located. He is now with his mother, who starts Wednesday morning for her home in Detroit.

Parents Are Separated.
For some time Hetherington and his wife have been parted. Marital troubles brought the couple to police court on several occasions, and the last time they appeared the husband was ordered to pay his wife a certain sum each week. He took possession of the little boy. On several occasions the mother tried to get the boy, and even went to the police magistrate and asked that an order giving her possession of him be granted.

Saturday afternoon she found the boy playing on the street near his home, and took him with her. She did not kidnap him, she told the police, and intends to take him to her home.

"We are powerless in the matter," said Chief Williams. "The boy belongs to his mother as much as he does to the father. If he wants the boy he will have to steal him back again."

MAYOR SAYS WARFIELD REPORT IS NOT "APPROPOS FOR GENERAL READING"

"That's the Reason I Want It Printed," Says Ald. Bennett, "To Show the People What a Pack of Dope It Is."

in full?" Inquired Mayor Graham of Ald. Bennett, after the motion had been made.

"Yes," was the answer. "Not for 'General Reading.' There is a lot in the report that would not be apropos for general reading," returned the mayor. "That's the reason I want it printed," said Ald. Bennett, "to show what a pack of dope we have been paying for. The ratepayers paid for it and they're entitled to see the entire report, and not any section of it that might suit any one of us."

Mayor Graham resented the "any one of us" section, but was informed that that was the appearance seemed to indicate, by Ald. Bennett.

A committee is now having the other reports printed," said Mayor Graham.

"When did No. 1 committee have this done?" demanded Ald. J. G. Richter, a member of that committee.

Chairman Moore Did It.
Cornered, Mayor Graham said that he did not know what No. 1 really was having printed. He only knew that they were. Chairman J. P. Moore, of the committee, came to his rescue then, and said that the printing was being done on his authority—the Eastman and Warfield reports being printed in pamphlet form.

"We did not think it necessary to have the Warfield report printed, as that is on file at the city clerk's office, and anyone desirous of seeing it could get it from the Warfield report."

ATHLETICS WIN 6 TO 4 NEW YORK WAS OUTBATTED

Bender Had Best of Great Pitchers' Battle—Baker Features With Home Run Wallop Into the Right Field Stands—Mack's String of Heavy Hitters Proved Too Much For the Veteran Marquard, Who Retired in Favor of Crandall—Tesreau Finished Game.

[Canadian Press.] Polo Grounds, N. Y., Oct. 7.—Some 40,000 persons filled the broad reaches of the big Brush stadium this afternoon to witness the New York Giants, pennant winners of the National League, do battle with the Philadelphia Athletics, leaders of the American League, in the first game of the world's baseball series.

A record-breaking attendance was insisted for the turnstiles were still merrily clicking at noon, and elevated trains, traction cars, automobiles and all manner of conveyances were bringing their hundreds to the playing field. Over back of the Athletics' dugout were several hundred Philadelphia enthusiasts.

Murky clouds, from which there came an occasional sleetless drizzle, screened the sun, and there was a constant threat of heavy weather.

Both Out Early.
Shortly after the contending clubs trotted into the field, and then came the batting practice. What a shout there was when long hit after long hit was driven by the Giant batters to the far corners of the field. Of course, the hits were made off straight balls, but the home club, and the crowd was happy. Fielding practice was brisk and brilliant by the home folks, and the visitors and the players were loudly cheered.

Two hundred or more newspapermen from all over the country turned out reams of copy in the press cage behind the catcher, while sixty operators were required to telegraph the accounts of the game.

In Usual Uniforms.
The Giants wore their home uniforms of white with blue and purple accents, while the Athletics wore their regular travelling uniforms of gray, with white stockings with black bands.

Before the game began an automobile was presented to Jake Daubert, first baseman of the Brooklyn club, as being the most valuable player to his club of any player in the National League.

During the batting practice Wyckoff pitched for the Athletics and Fromme for the Giants.

It was announced that Umpire Klem would give the balls and strikes decisions on bases, while Rigler went to left field and Connolly to right field. Marquard and Meyers were announced as the battery for New York.

Wilson Not Bet.
President Wilson was an enthusiastic fan today waiting for news of the world's series. Several friends telegraphed the President inviting him to their boxes at the Polo Grounds, but Mr. Wilson declined with regrets. He would have liked to go, but official business prevented.

The President thought the teams too evenly matched to bet. Secretary Tumulty wagered with Congressman Covington, of Maryland, that New York would win the first game.

Bender and Schang were announced as the battery for Philadelphia. John Brush Hempstead, the young grandson of the late John T. Brush, president of the Giants, threw out the ball, and the world's series battle was on.

Murphy Flew Out.
First Inning—First Half—Marquard sent over a high one and Murphy flew out to Murray. Murphy smashed the first ball pitched, and the crowd gave a big cheer. Marquard shot a strike over on Oldring. Oldring singled to right on second ball between Doyle and Merkle. Marquard tried to catch Oldring napping at first, but could not get him. The New York pitcher used plenty of speed and kept the ball around the Athletics' knees. Oldring caught off first by a quick throw by Marquard to Merkle. Collins singled sharply to centre, after having two strikes called on him. The crowd gave Home-Run Baker a great cheer when he came to bat. Baker did not get on. No runs, two hits, no errors.

First Inning—Second Half—Bender grinned as Shafer came to bat, and sent a wide curve which was close in to Shafer's knee. It was a ball. The next one was a strike. Bender had good speed, which was difficult to follow in the dark. Shafer fled out to Murphy. Doyle out on a high fly to Strunk. Fletcher got a strike by Bender. New York's first hit. Fletcher, out, stealing, Schang to Collins. Fletcher was at least ten feet off the bag. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Second Inning—First Half—McInnis fouled off the first pitched ball. McInnis out, Herzog to Merkle. Strunk fanned, being unable to solve Marquard's puzzling shoots. Barry out, Fletcher to Merkle. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Second Inning—Second Half—Bender employed a wide outshoot, and high fast ones. Burns fanned. He had three balls and one strike called when Bender shot over two curves for strikes, sending the New York batsmen back to the bench. Herzog out on a grounder to McInnis. who retired the runner at the bag. Murray singled to left and would have taken second, but Oldring's quick fielding and throw drove him back to first. With Meyers at bat it was Indian against Indian. Meyers fled to Oldring. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Third Inning—First Half—Schang out on a high one to Burns. Bender went out, Fletcher to Merkle. Fletcher made a poor throw. Oldring singled the ball, Murphy got a Texas Leaguer to centre, which Shafer could not get near. Murphy was forced at second base when Fletcher took Oldring's grounder and touched second. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Third Inning—Second Half—Merkle sent up a high foul near the right field stand, but neither McInnis nor Murphy could get it. Merkle singled, Collins to McInnis. Merkle got an infield hit, which Barry could not get in time to catch the runner. With one out and a man on second base the New York crowd kept up a constant cheering. Shafer out on a high fly to Strunk. Merkle scored on Doyle's single to right. The crowd was in a frenzy. Fletcher fled to Murphy. One run, two hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning—First Half—Collins sent a long drive to the centre-treble fence for three bases. It was the first ball pitched, with Baker at bat, the Philadelphia fans cheered to the echo. Baker fouled off the first ball. Collins scored on McInnis' double hit which Doyle was barely able to knock down with his glove hand. McInnis sacrificed, Marquard to Merkle. Baker out at third when Marquard speared Strunk's grounder and threw field line, sending Strunk to third. Strunk and Barry scored on Schang's three-base hit. Marquard threw out Bender. Three runs, four hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning—Second Half—Burns doubled along the left field line. Herzog sent a ball toward third, which was foul by only a few inches.

Burns Was Caught.
Burns was caught out on the line when Bender took Herzog's grounder and tossed to Baker, who threw to Collins, who returned the ball to Strunk. Merkle scored on Doyle's single to right. Shafer taking third. A double play killed the Giants' chances for scoring. Barry took Fletcher's grounder and tossed to Collins, forcing Doyle. Collins then threw out Fletcher at first. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Eighth Inning—First Half—Collins beat out a bunt, neither Crandall nor Merkle reaching the ball before Collins had slid into the bag. It was Collins' going hit. Baker singled to first. Collins' double third. Collins scored on McInnis' double. Crandall and Tesreau went in. Doyle. Strunk fanned on three pitched balls. Baker was caught out at the plate on an attempt to steal. The play was Meyers, Doyle to Meyers. McInnis took third. Barry out on a pop fly to Doyle. One run, three hits, no errors.

Eighth Inning—Second Half—Burns out, Baker to McInnis. Herzog out, Collins to McInnis. No runs, no hits, no errors.

The Hangers of "Peg-Leg" Brown.
