SAVE MUCH ON BEAUTIFUL FURS
Several excellent price benefits are offered for Thursday as an inducement for after Christmas business. Bigger varieties, bigger values, bigger savings.

FURS=FURS

We sold more furs this year than all the stores in town

WHY?

Because we have thirty years' experience in the fur business. We do our own buying and pick the best skins. We made up every piece of fur that we have in the store, and on that account you can assure our patrons that not only are we selling our furs cheaper than any other fur store in the County of Waterloo, but also guarantee the quality as we represent it.

We intend to make this the greatest two weeks' fur selling event ever known. Such values never have been known at the beginning of the fur season, and may never be duplicated again. Every muff or stole is high class fur and strictly up-to-date and stylish in perfection.

$10,000 worth of fine furs, including a number of small purchases will be brought forward for this sale. The high reputation of this house, backed by our absolute and unequivocal guarantee on every fur piece in the collection and the wonderful fineness and beauty of the furs offered, their matchless style and splendid character, stamp this sale as the event of the age.

The explanation of these unprecedented fur values is found in the tardy coming of cool weather. A consequent slow demand made stocks drag with the inevitable result that prices must be cut. The furs are here. We await your selection.

Please bear in mind that we are the only practical furriers in the town. We do repairing unequaled by any one at reasonable prices. Your call will convince you of the fact.

PICKS FIGHT, IS DEAD

St. Catharines Man Killed as Result of Row on Car.

George Bulman is Jostled on Trolley and Starts to Abuse William Bradley, a Merritt Carpenter—Bradley Tries to Prevent Fight, But Later When Attacked Knocks Bulman Down, and Later Dies.

St. Catharines, Jan. 3.—William Bradley of Merritt was Saturday night remanded to jail till Friday next to appear before Magistrate Campbell on a charge of murdering George Bulman of Thorold.

Bulman lost his life Saturday evening as the result of a fracas with Bradley. Shortly after leaving the local line of the trolley on the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto Railway, following the Martin ten mile road race the railroad company sent three special cars to Thorold to carry the people of Merritt and Thorold to their homes. Bradley and Bulman were passengers on the centre car, which was so crowded that they had to stand on the rear platform. They were total strangers to each other.

In the course of the journey to Merritt Bulman was crowded over against Bradley, who pushed him away. This caused a slight altercation, in which Bulman called Bradley some ugly names. As a consequence a scuffle broke out on the car, but Conductor Francis and some passengers separated the men. Words followed, but those who were on the car declare that Bradley was much quieter than Bulman and took considerable verbal abuse. Some say Bulman was drunk, others declare that he was not, though he had been drinking to some extent. Bradley had also had a number of drinks during the afternoon.

Finally Bulman asked Bradley if he were going to Thorold, to which he replied that he lived in Merritt and was going to get off the car near his home.

"That's all right," Bulman said, "I'll get off at Merritt just to lick you."

Bradley cautioned him against it, but when the car stopped near Lock 9 in the Mill Creek Canal, a few doors from Bradley's home, both men left the car. Bradley was first. As he turned around, Bulman made a lunge at him with his fist. Warding it off, Bradley struck him in the jaw, knocking him down. Bulman was in the act of getting to his feet when Bradley struck him a second time. This time Bulman fell back striking his head on the stone kerbing of the crossing. He did not attempt to arise. Bradley continued to his home. Passengers on the car who had witnessed the affair, tried to help Bulman, but High Constable R. E. Boyle of Lincoln County and Constable Moffat of Merritt had been spectators at the road race and were on the other special cars, and were among the first to render assistance. Bulman, who was carried to the power house of the Winson Carbide Co. a few years ago, where Dr. Vanberg of Merritt attended him. Bulman was bleeding profusely from the ears. In ten minutes he was dead. The constable went to Bradley's house and paced him under arrest, and the body of Bulman was brought here.

There are only two wounds, one a bruise on the back of the head, the other a lump in the neck, evidently where he was struck.

Bulman came to this city from Nottingham, West England, on April 28th, 1898. Several weeks later he went to Thorold where he obtained employment in the Montrose Paper Mill. Friends say that he was peaceable and industrious. He is survived by a widow and a young boy. In his pocket was found a package of endearing letters written to him by his wife previous to their marriage two years ago, and a due book for the Canadian Forester, which had taken out a $1,000 policy in September last.

Bradley comes from a fine family in Merritt, and is a son of A. B. Bradley. He has always borne a good reputation. He is a carpenter by trade. Only Friday night he concluded a job at Niagara Falls on which he had been engaged for some time. He has a young wife and one little daughter, who last May lost one leg and two toes on the other leg as the result of being struck by a trolley.

When arrested Bradley was about to offer himself to the officers. No evidence was taken, but in the presence of Crown Attorney Brennan and A. Kingston, who has been engaged to defend him, he was remanded. Coroner Jory will hold an inquest.

Did You Forget Anyone at Christmas?

Perhaps there was some one you overlooked at Christmas. Someone you would like to remember at the New Year. Then let us suggest for you the gift that every housewife appreciates the most.

There are odd bits of furniture, such as rockers, Morris chairs, parlor cabinets, parlor tables; pictures, mirrors, hall racks, flower stands, smoking stands, tea tables and many other beautiful articles too numerous to mention.
