By an unintentional error the word "Ald." appeared before the name "Baxter" in one line in the sketch headed "Baxter's Little Game." which appeared in these columns yesterday. This error led some of our readers into thinking that the popular alderman of St. Patrick's ward was the hero of the relation. This is an entire mis ake, and if an apology will set the matter right, we tender one to Mr. Alderman Baxler. That gentleman has not been in Montreal for months, and when he does visit that city it is always by boat that he

A BIG SALE. The sale of the household effects of Mr. Cockburn, late principal of Upper Canada college, yesterday was an event in the auctions of Toronto. Mr. Macfarlane presided, and, duly impressed with the dignity of the occasion and the rarity with which articles from the Tulleries are offered in this city at e hammer, he wore his best black silk hat and the cleanest of shaves. Everything was well arranged, the articles were well exhibited, and little jostling was experienced. The prices realized in some cases exceeded the original purchase.

(FOR THE WORLD-BY JAMES MILLEN.) I say a fig for your prophets all! A race of frauds from first to last, And those who like serpents cringe and crawl, And believe in all things present and past, That priest or prophet hath sung or said, Are not the good or the truly wise; But where credulity bows her head,

There ignorance gropes with blinded eyes! And the farther down in the depths you go Of human stupidity or blight, The brighter you find that faith to glow That knows the prophet and priest are right And that faith that sees in the crocodile A god of power, a form divine,

And the ibis that treads the mud of the Nile Exalts to a deity benign! Is more to be praised—if I learn aright Your lesson's teaching—than that of those Who boldly search for the hidden light That nature alone can e'er disclose; Who trust that law, unvarying still, Doth rule all nature's vast domain,

And knows no gods of fickle will To win by prayer or penance vain; Whose faith is based on the eternal rock Where science bath built her temple fair-And fears no trial and dreads no shock When Truth her immortal soul lays bare!

PUBLIC OPINION.

Montreal Star: Will the people of the province ever get it into their heads that in local politics the phrase "Reformer" and "Conservative" is nothing but a deligion. lusion? If we sit down thoughtfully and consider the issues involved in our provincial affairs, we will find that party politics should have no more to do with our local should have no more to do with our local affairs than the man in the moon has with kindling wood, notwith tanding the popular tradition. Let business not politics be the watchword, and if the people are in earnest they will only support the men who are prepared to treat the affairs of the province in a spirit of commercial enterprise, and not in a spirit of political folly.

The defence set up was that the inspector was privileged to act as he had done, under the authority of the commissioners. The plea was demurred to, and yesterday Mr. Justice Osler allowed the demurrer. His lordship thought that the privilege given under the act to any member of the family of a man who drank to excess to prohibit the tavername road st what is now the Marble Arch, so that it no longer pursued the course of the modern park lane to the ford at Westminster, but turned toward what was then the Mr. Aylesworth read extracts from statutes and documents to show that the boundary line between Ontario and Quebec was never fixed at all. The whole front of the county of Glengarry was without an ascertained boundary. The objection is also in later times took an English name from its course among the high clay banks of the county of Glengarry was without an ascertained boundary. The objection is also taken that the offence being committed within Indian reserves, is beyond the jurisdiction of the Ontario government. Judgutant Judgut tuary wild enough for ships probably as large as any then built. A water-gate may have existed at Ludgate, though but even here the Watling street is not quite on the original site. The exact date of the alteration to which Newgate owes its existence will now, in all probability, never be known. It must have been after the Roman occupation of Britain, but that is all we can say with certainty. Of Newgate itself, however, it will be safe to assert that it was first built when the Romans that it was first built when the Romans made their new wall to take in not only the ancient city, but also tist suburbs. Even here, toe, the exact date eludes us, but it must have been between the time of Julian the apostate and that of Valentinian, or in the ten years between A. D. 360 and 370.

THE DESCENT OF THE ESTHETES. Here is a bit of Darwinism that has refernce to the descent of the æsthetes:

Out or the house came the utterly too-too all dressed and perfumed like a comical foo-foo His polished shirt-front was a gleaning like glass, and he looked, as he was, an esthetical ass, as His kinship was plan to a neighboring horse, And a quick recognition was natural of course; so the sociable beast, with a thundering thud, Saluted his cousin with plenty of mud.

INSURANCE

TEN YEARS' RECORD.

In a Life Insurance Company, conducted on the mutual principle (such as the Mutual Department of the ÆTNA LIFE), all the money paid in will, substantially, come back to the insured, with compound interest—except that portion—ursed for working expenses. Some expenses are necessar, even in charitable operations. Other things being equal, those companies are usually found among the best—and live the longest, and return most value for the money they receive—which are most economically conducted.

Only three old companies (and they well grown previous to 1350) have shown better record in this respect than the ÆTNA LIFE. The following table, carefully compiled from the official reports, embraces all the other leading U. S. companies, also those of Canada, and lastly three British companies doing business in Canada:—

rate indulged in by other companies. For instance, by confining its working expenses to $9 05 instead of $15 07, the rate of the Massachusetts Mutual (9th in the list), it has saved the difference of $6 07 per $100, which upon the ten years' receipts of the ATNA comes to $3,155,470!

When it is considered that the real cost of being insured is nor the premium paid, but the portion of that premium used up in expenses, it will be understood how large an interest the insuring public have in a table like the above. Such a table exerts a powerful influence in favor of economy. After examining it no one will be surprised to learn that the most expensive of the mutual companies has not yet declared any dividend to its members, and a stock company, the last one, has been obliged to write off half its capital, originally $25,000 sterling.
