

ALDERMAN STEWART RESIGNS

MR. J. S. FULLERTON, O.C. APPOINTED CITY COUNSELLOR.

The Legal Department of the City of Toronto has advised Mr. Stewart to resign as Alderman for the City of Toronto.

W. T. Stewart is no longer a member of the City Council. At the meeting of the Council yesterday afternoon the following letter was read:

"I resign my seat on the City Council as Alderman for Ward 1. I was subpoenaed as a witness to attend the Civic Enquiry proceedings, and I attended and gave my evidence as a witness. After that, in my absence, and without my notice, evidence was offered and received to me, which a report has been made and sent to the press and to the Council. I am not guilty of any offence which I had not been charged with, and I am not guilty of any offence which I had not been charged with, and I am not guilty of any offence which I had not been charged with."

After some hesitation Ald. Stewart moved that the resignation be accepted, and the resolution was adopted without dissent.

Legal Department to be Re-arranged.

The only other matter of importance before the Council was the appointment of a City Council in the place of Mr. W. T. Stewart. The subject came up with the report of the Executive Committee, recommending the appointment of J. S. Fullerton, O.C., to the position.

WHEN BIGAMY IS NOT BIGAMY.

If a Married Man Weds Another Woman in the U.S. Canadian Law Cannot Punish Him.

Benjamin Plovman, the Weston tanner, did not commit bigamy when he married Matilda Dixon at Detroit in May, 1893, although at the time he had a wife living in Canada. Plovman was convicted by a jury at the York Assizes, but Judge McDougall reserved the case for the Divisional Court, and it came up yesterday.

The act says: Bigamy is an act by a person, who, being married, goes through a form of marriage with any other person in any part of the world.

Lawyer Du Vernet argued that it is not bigamy to marry in a foreign country, and that the British Parliament might provide that if a British subject married in another country he could be punished if he returned.

The Parliament is in a subordinate position. Its jurisdiction is territorially limited to within its own borders. Justice Falkenberg concurred.

The decision overrules the judgment of Chancellor Boyd in Queen v. Brierly and has the effect of rendering unapplicable any married man or woman who desires to escape the 'cost' of a Canadian divorce, marry in the United States and return.

BORNE TO HIS REST.

All That is Mortal of Alexander III. Laid in the Grave.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 19.—The morning opened cold and foggy with no rain, but a thick mist. People were out before daylight, and the thoroughfares were lined with infantry. From 8 o'clock there was a continuous flow of carriages towards the fortress Cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul, where the ceremonies were to take place.

The religious service over the body of the dead Emperor was a magnificent imposing scene. Prominent among the hosts assembled were the members of the Holy Synod, the Metropolitan of St. Petersburg and Novgorod, the Canon of the court dignitaries, the ladies of honor, ladies of the harem, and ladies in waiting, all in plain black, with a few dashes of white trimming here and there to relieve the sombre effect.

There were crowds of officials, ministers, marshals, generals, admirals and secretaries of state in full uniform, the members of the state council, the senators and all the foreign ambassadors.

Three guns from the fortress signalled the beginning of the service.

After the Car and the Imperial family had taken their places, the Metropolitan began the mortuary mass of the orthodox church. Besides the Car and Carina stood the Prince and Princess of Wales, Duke of York and Duke of Coburg and King Christian of Denmark.

After the general mass the special services began with a brief prayer and several psalms and anthems. Six Hittites and a Gloria followed. Then came the Mass, and a psalm, six hymns and an intercession. Then interlarded a prayer and the musical service went on with eight troparia.

The fifth chapter of John, verses 24 to 31, was the lesson. The Metropolitan delivered the mortuary message, the "Holy, Holy," and the Lord's Prayer. He then followed the absolution for the dead. Perhaps the most impressive moment was when the bronze doors of Konistars were gradually opened, and a light merely human power could not cure. Cremation the lecturer condemned, and were gradually opened, and a light merely human power could not cure.

extempore preaching, and deprecated novelties in doctrine and asking people bowed low and said: "I have advised you to bravely doing the lonely duty of life and trusting firmly in the Lord."

The Sunday Qu set.

On this subject the Dean spoke out boldly. He did not see why the Lord's Day should not be a day of rest and innocent recreation, as well as worship. (Applause.) He condemned rigid, self-indulgent persons who are pale days a week and on the seventh cannot spare one single hour from their service. The poor man should not be restricted from innocent enjoyment. "Of this," said the Dean, "I have had many examples to get men into the House of God from the open fields, from the gardens, from the parks, from galleries of beautiful pictures, from museums of natural curiosities, from public libraries of good books, from all these to the gates of God than from the public house or solitary rooms or dismal homes. (Loud applause.)

At the close a hearty vote of thanks was given the Dean for his admirable lecture. It was the first of the Massey Music Hall course of lectures, managed by Mr. L. P. Seckinger. The second lecture will be given Dec. 3, by Max O'Reil.

DEAN HOLE ON SUNDAY CARS.

He Likens the Opponents of the Cars to the Pharisees of Old—As to the Continental Sabbath.

Dean Hole of Rochester Cathedral is perhaps the best living example of the broad churchmen who have saved the Anglican Church from plunging into a non-progressive, non-useful institution. A man who thrives on 200 to 300 a week in his stockings, he is still, though carrying the weight of many years, a magnificent specimen of manhood. With his powerful frame, clothed in ecclesiastical garb he is imposing in spite of a scholarly stoop in the shoulders. His face is broad, intellectual and full of benign kindness. A pair of twinkling dark eyes and a wealth of iron grey hair complete the picture.

World reporter called on Dean Hole at the Rossin House yesterday to ask his opinion on the Sunday car question. After he had explained the situation, the Dean's first comment was:

"I suppose the World encounters the antagonism of those who, having plenty of opportunities to enjoy fresh air and green fields, propose to give these benefits to the poor?"

"Exactly so," said the reporter.

"Well," said the distinguished speaker, "the New Testament points plainly to the fact that our Saviour only encountered opposition to the good work of the Sabbath Day from men of whom He expressed a very bad opinion—the Pharisees. The instances of His doing good works on the Jewish sabbath are so numerous that I believe he did them to demonstrate to the Jews that the Mosaic Sabbath was to be done away with by Christianity."

"You mean that Sunday should be a day of worship, but there is nothing which tells me that it should not be a day of recreation. If Christians believe that the Sabbath of the week should be a day of gloom, it should not be the day on which our Lord arose, but that on which He died. That is the justification for setting aside Friday as a fast day. I should like to see a Sunday car service in your city, which would make

RECREATION ON SUNDAYS.

DEAN HOLE'S PLEA FOR RATIONAL ENJOYMENT.

Favors Sunday Cars, Outdoor Reading, Picture Galleries, Mus-ums and Reciting Rooms on the Lord's Day—Brilliant Lecture at the Church of England.

One of the most brilliant lectures in Toronto for many a day was that by the Very Rev. S. Reynolds Hole, Dean of Rochester, England, in Massey Music Hall, last evening. It was delightfully interesting and as instructive as humorous.

The surroundings were most felicitous: 2000 of Toronto's citizens, 600 sweet-voiced chorists, the brilliant hall, an episcopal chairman at last, but not least, applause as repeated and hearty as was laughter irrepressible and frequent.

It was a treat to hear the combined Anglican chorists sing Strauss' triumphant hymn, "The Church's One Foundation," Jubilee "Lead, Kindly Light," Gounod's anthem, "Send Out Thy Light," and the unknown hymn, "Now the Day is Over" and "Ten Thousand Times Ten Thousand."

Bishop Swetnam's kindly words.

The Bishop of Toronto, who presided, spoke admirably to the point and was commendably brief. He was glad, as the chief representative of the Church of England in this community, to offer the heartiest welcome of a Toronto audience to the Very Reverend the Dean of Rochester. (Applause.) His Lordship added that it might be of interest for the Dean to know that the population of the city of Toronto was 50,000 members of the Church of England; 38 churches and 70 clergymen. It was unnecessary to dilate on the qualifications of the speaker. He was well known to many by one of his most popular works, his reminiscences recently published.

The Dean's hearty greeting and bowled to the enthusiasm of the audience. The Dean has a striking personality; clean-shaven, open face, with fine intellectual features. His forehead is covered with the sides of which falls thick iron-grey hair. He wore what is known as High Church attire—black frock coat, black silk apron, knee breeches, black silk hose and low buckle shoes. He is really a handsome man with bright eyes, black eyes and bushy eyebrows. Humor plays around his lips, and his voice is of rich and expansive tone.

An intellectual treat.

For an hour and a quarter he held his audience enthralled with his alternately humorous and serious remarks. Through the scaffolding of wit there was an earnest purpose and noble aim. Grotesque, indeed, was his description of the dilapidated state of many churches and neglect of sacred duties 50 years ago.

After the general mass the special services began with a brief prayer and several psalms and anthems. Six Hittites and a Gloria followed. Then came the Mass, and a psalm, six hymns and an intercession. Then interlarded a prayer and the musical service went on with eight troparia.

I am also in favor of having the art galleries, the museums and the public libraries open on Sundays. There is much talk of the Continental Sabbath, but while I have seen people indulging in amusements in Europe on Sundays, I have also seen hundreds of thousands of them going to church at 8 o'clock in the morning, a state of affairs that does not exist here."

KILLED FOR THE INSURANCE

A CASE RESEMBLING THAT OF THE FAMOUS DR. MEYER.

Grand Jury in Philadelphia Returns a True Bill Against a Woman and a Man in a Case Resembling That of the Famous Dr. Meyer.

Philadelphia, Nov. 19.—The grand jury this afternoon returned true bills of indictment against Herman Metzger, alias Dr. Meyer, and a woman, who is under arrest at Boston; J. D. Howe, a St. Louis lawyer, and Mrs. Carey A. Howe, alias Cook, for fraudulently obtaining $10,000 insurance from the Fidelity Mutual Life Association of this city upon the death of B. F. Pitzer.

Immediately following the finding of the indictments the Life Insurance Association received word of the arrest of St. Louis of Howe, and of the capture in Philadelphia of the woman, who to-day confessed to the conspiracy. Steps have been taken to extradite the accused. While the indictments do not charge murder, the authorities believe it is shown at the trial that Pitzer was done away with either intentionally or by accident. At the coroner's inquest upon the body of the accused Pitzer in this city, a verdict was rendered that he came to his death from congestion of the lungs, caused by inhaling fumes of poisonous drug, and his body was interred in the potter's field. The face was badly burned. The body was subsequently exhumed and identified by the alleged relatives of the Pitzer. The amount of the insurance policy was then paid to the woman. The insurance association afterwards became suspicious and its investigation led to the present developments.

They Have Been Murdered.

Vice-President McKnight of the Fidelity Association stated to-day: "It was a conspiracy and possibly an accidental murder. One theory is that Pitzer was induced to submit to chloroform in order that he might be painlessly placed with him in bed, and the physician had gone a dead body similarly marked could be put in bed and the physician could be deceived into the notion that his patient had died. The other theory is that Pitzer really died as the result of his treatment, and it is this possibility which leads to the suspicion of murder."

Holmes or Mudgett was interviewed in Boston, and declares that Pitzer is still alive, or was about the middle of October, when he last saw him at Detroit. The woman also declared to the best of her knowledge and belief that her husband is alive.

A Chat on Tobacco and It's Use.
