Only Thirteen Deaths in the Year. Dr. deBlois, the health officer for the own of Bridgetown, in his official report, makes the following statement regarding the mortality during the ast year:-In regard to births and deaths with-In regard to births and deaths with-in the town limits, the former I could not ascertain the number, there being no public register; but of the latter, with the help of Mr. Reed, undertaker, I have been enabled to make a very ing deed, raised a cry and Ingrahan's twin brother came and rescued the victim. The ringleader in the mean-time had chased a little girl, who was the first to give the alarm, into a mearby house and, failing to reach her, threw the weapon through the window. The injured boy will probably recover, though symptoms of blood-poisoning hast developed before Dr. William Mc Leod, eye specialist, from this city, arrived there. There is much indigna-tion in the community at the horrible ded, but no attempt has been made the villainous attack. They are all over fifteen. and one to theretain intervent sumption. Two cases of consumption, ages 19 and 24, and one case (female) chronic blood-poison, age 32. I consider the above a remarkably good record-not a death among the adult population due to acute inflam-matory disease.

There have been enabled to make a very accurate report. There have been thirteen deaths dur-sing the whole year, viz.: Four infants under a year old. The deaths of three were due to convul-sions and inflammation of the brain, and one to tubercular inherited con-summition

Cruck Deed by a Fifteen-Year-Old Mar gares Boy to a School Fellow. Sydney, Feb. 10 .- A shocking crime is reported from Margaree, Inverness county, the result of a premediated assault made by a school fellow upor a young lad named Oliver Ingraham. The boys had a grudge against Ingraism because he belonged to an adjoining section, and these boys prepared a erude weapon out of wire, which the ringleader bound round his hand in the shape of a knuckle. One day when ngraham came to school he was set upon by four youths, the leader of whom forced the sharp wire instrument into the most vulnerable part of young Ingraham's left leg. The other en, horrified at the blood-curdevening.
