

the same methods that have been so successful in building up the business in the United States will be employed in the conduct of this new branch.

The details of the various departments of the firm's affairs have now been developed to such a state of perfection that the House feels the time has come for extending its field of operations. For a number of years Saunders' books have been sold in England through the agency of a London publisher, and, although they have already met with remarkable favor, the House is confident that by applying to the English market the same policy that has proved so successful at home, the sale of its publications in Great Britain and her colonies can be enormously increased.
