STANDARD DICTIONARY

Now Offered to the Teachers of Canada on Remarkably Easy Terms.

Work of Specialists Throughout.

Authoritative in Every Detail.

Each class of words has been passed upon by a recognized specialist in the science, or art, or handicraft, or party, to which the terms respectively belong. The people to whom a term belongs have the right to say what they mean when they use that term. No other work has nearly so universally applied this principle, hence cannot be so satisfactory.

Over 200 Specialists were engaged upon it for years at an actual Cash Outlay of over $960,000. "Must have cost as much as a little war."—The Literary World, London, Eng. Invaluable to scholars and handicraft men, and laymen of every class. Only $2.00 cash; twelve to eighteen months to pay the balance. Don't buy any dictionary until you examine this one.

As THE NEW YORK TIMES said, May 19, 1895:

"In the Standard Dictionary we have the latest utterance of competent specialists in every matter of technical detail. No one can doubt that, with Professor Simon Newcomb in charge of words relating to astronomy and mathematics, we have in the treatment of these words the latest results of scientific research. So of Professor T. Mitchell Prudden, in charge of the department of bacteriology; and so on down through hundreds of divisions and subdivisions of the field of knowledge."

LAWYERS.

The American Lawyer, New York City, says: "Law terms hold, perhaps for the first time in any dictionary, a prominent and satisfactory position. Lawyers should welcome a work, the legal definitions of which have been placed in competent hands and that will prove an excellent guide. . . . We say, without fear of contradiction, that the legal work is so ably performed that the 'Standard Dictionary' should henceforth form an essential part of every lawyer's library. We specially commend the editors for the definitions of 'ambassador' and 'high seas,' which evidently embody the result of recent decision and legislation."

PHYSICIANS.

The North American Journal of Homœopathy, New York, says: "The Standard Dictionary is particularly rich in the terms of science and medicine, and will be invaluable to all medical men. We cannot too strongly urge our readers who want a new dictionary to procure the Standard. It is worth many times its cost. . . ."

The Lancet, London, says: "The work is wonderfully good."

The Atlanta Medical and Surgical Journal, Atlanta, Ga., says: "From a medical point of view, the Standard is infinitely ahead of any other general dictionary we know of."

TEACHERS, STUDENTS.

Education, Boston, says: "We take great pleasure in recommending this new dictionary to teachers, students, and others because of the common-sense plan on which it is based; because of the authoritative system of pronunciation it has adopted; because of the accurate and concise definitions; and because of the numerous and comprehensive tables and lists which are to be found sprinkled throughout its pages."

ARCHITECTS, BUILDERS.

The Architect and Builder, New York, says: "We desire to say to architects, builders, and others, that you will find in this work more relating to your particular professions and callings than in most works of reference devoted to special subjects."

PAINTERS, DECORATORS.

Painting and Decorating, New York, says: "It cannot fail to prove an invaluable addition to the working library of every painter and decorator. . . . In the other departments, the Standard Dictionary shows the same thoroughness and care that has been given to the subject of color."

PRINTERS, PROOFREADERS.

The Inland Printer, Chicago, says: "It would be highly advantageous to have the Century, the International, and Funk & Wagnalls Standard Dictionary all at hand for reference and comparison; but if only one is to be had certainly the Standard is the best one for the Proofreader. There is not one department of knowledge or science not represented in the Standard by more words than it has in either of the others, and the record of word-forms is more valuable to proofreaders than any other feature of the dictionary as a practical aid in proofreading."

TEST the Standard Dictionary from the Standpoint of Your Own Especial Trade, Profession or Creed.

Find out who were the editors in charge of the particular branch of the language which most concerns or interests you. Consider whether they were qualified for authoritative work in that particular class of words. Examine their work. Compare it with the same department in other dictionaries, and don't have at any price a dictionary that cannot give you the latest and most authoritative information. Other dictionaries may "do" for some people, who care more for bulk and pounds avoirdupois than for genuine merit. Surely you want the best.
