LABOR MINISTER UTTERLY HELPLESS

London, Jan. 28.—Alex. Thompson, editor of the Socialist-Labor newspaper, "Clarion, in reviewing present industrial unrest for The Mail, writes:

"The new Labor minister, Sir Robert Stevenson Horne, whose sincere sympathy with labor's desire for improved conditions of life has very favorably impressed leaders of the trades unions, confesses his utter helplessness in dealing with the grave problem assailing him on his entrance to office. None of the present strikes has been authorized by the executives of the unions involved, and all are contrary to official advice. Therefore, it is obviously impossible for Sir Robert to interfere. It is his policy, as labor minister, to support trades union executives, as any other action would only weaken their authority and strengthen the hands of those who have disobeyed instructions."

LIVE STOCK MARKET

With a run of 668 fresh cattle, together with the heavy supply of left over cattle from Monday's trading, yesterday's market, while it had more activity, was admittedly weaker and lower than that of Monday. On Monday the buyers were disinclined to buy butcher heifers at all, and yesterday they bought them, but at a sharp decline at from $1 to $1.50 from a week ago. A number of loads of good butcher heifers that a week ago would have brought close to $12, were yesterday cashed in at $10.50. The market was weak for this class without a doubt, and to the extent named.

The heavy steers are all right, and selling at steady prices, but the fat cows are selling considerably lower, from 75c to $1. Canners sold yesterday at 5½c, but the outlook is for lower prices in this line.

Milkers and springers are holding about steady with the stockers and feeders probably showing more steadiness than other lines. At the close of the exchange there were a great many cattle unsold, and the outlook is for lighter receipts for the next few days until the market has a chance to right itself.

The sheep and lambs held about steady with yesterday, and calves show little change with light receipts.

The hog market is weak and unsettled with light receipts, 433 head, and relatively 50c lower. In a general way the market is running at from 16c to 16¼c fed, with a few odd lots at 16½c, but no 16c so far as could be learned.

Fred Dunn for Dunn & Levack topped the market yesterday with one load at $14.65 and another load at $14.50.
