SEVENTEEN SECOND YEAR

BOYS' PEARSE CAPTURED FOR LIBERTY RIFLE TAKES FIRST PLACE

Alex. Patterson's Dead Body Was Hanging on a Small Tree.

MISSING FOR FIVE WEEKS.

Two Lads Came Across a Gruesome Spectacle While Picking Flowers Near the Junction.

MOROSE WHEN HE WENT AWAY

Identification of the Suicide Was Made by His Bicycle and His Clothing.

Toronto Junction, July 11.—Whitby Borden and Harold Kemp, two boys between the ages of 12 and 14, whilst picking flowers this afternoon on the banks of the Black Creek at the head of Jane-street, came across a gruesome spectacle, which turned out to be the body of a man who was hanging to a tree by a piece of wire.

The place was a very secluded one and difficult to get at, and the body might have hung there for months without being discovered. It was a ghastly sight. The face was black, the mouth wide open, the hands hanging to a tree by a piece of wire. The tree from which the body hung was a very small one, leaning over the banks, so that the face looked upward towards the boys, who were un-expectedly came upon it. Nearby was his wife, in a good state of repair, which, with a description of his clothes, led to his identification.

Dr. Clendennan ordered the remains to be taken down, and undertaker Cummings took them to his undertaking rooms on Dundas-street.

Alexander T. Patterson was 43 years of age and lived with his wife and four children in the rear of 202 Chestnut-street in this city. He was a lather by trade. He was a member of Duke of York, L.L.C., and the Ancient Order of United Workmen. Patterson disappeared from his home after breakfast on Wednesday morning, June 5. He mounted his bicycle, saying that he would go for a short ride around town. He had been out for some time, and his disappearance became so worried and morose as to call on his wife, who was in the same fashion, staying out for about 18 hours, which he spent, according to his report, in the return, in rambling around near Mount Dennis, the home of his brother-in-law, and on Friday, when the body was found yesterday.

On the day of his second disappearance he had left his home, but nothing more was heard of him until, according to a family last night that the body had been found. Arrangements for the funeral will be made to-day.

BOER REFUGEE FREE. Friend Pays $10 Fine and Gives Necessary Bond.

New York, July 11.—David Stephen du Plooy, a Boer, who escaped from the British prison on Darrell's Island, one of the Bermudas, and stowed away on the steamer Trinidad, was yesterday released from Ellis Island. He is now free to become an assistant janitor in a Harlem apart-ment house. If he does not like that man-ner of life he has the option of going to a ranch in Colorado.

Little official interest was manifested in Washington in the case of David Stephen du Plooy. The British Embassy has made a request that du Plooy be returned, and it is the belief among officials of the State Department that the British govern-ment is not greatly concerned about his escape.

The Board of Special Inquiry decided du Plooy was a qualified immigrant, and provided the $10 fine was paid and a bond given that he would not be a public charge. Man-ager Schroeder of the Manhattan apart-ment house paid the fine and gave the bond.

WOMAN SAVES FIFTY LIVES. Flags Passenger Train With Aprox After Putting Out Fire.

St. Louis, Mo., July 11.—By flagging a passenger train on the Pacific Short Line after she had extinguished a fire upon a bridge which it had to cross, Mrs. Frank Ziercher, a farmer's wife, probably saved the lives of 50 persons last night.

The location of her timely deed of hero-ism was near Osmond, Neb. Noticing that a short railway bridge was on fire, and knowing that the train from St. Louis to Chicago was quick work, Mrs. Ziercher called her sons and by quick work succeed-ed in putting out the blaze. Then she ran down the track, and signalling with her flag, stopped the train at the bridge.

On the east side of the bridge there is a deep cut and curve, and it would have been impossible for the machine to see the danger ahead in time to stop his engine and avert a dreadful accident.

RAISE RATE TO MAXIMUM. Knights of Pythias Will Meet Deficit in Endowment Fund.

Chicago, July 11.—The Supreme Lodge Knights of Pythias, to-day decided to raise the insurance rate to the maximum prescribed by the National Fraternal Con-gress to meet the deficiency of $600,000 in the treasury of the endowment fund.

The resignation of John H. Hines, ex-posed president of the rank, as a member of the Board of Control, was accepted.

Edwards and Hart-Smith, Chartered, called her sons and by quick work succeed-ed in putting out the blaze. Then she ran down the track, and signalling with her flag, stopped the train at the bridge.

St. Petersburg, July 11.—The czar's affectionate treatment of the crippled sol-diers returned from China has produced a great wave of popular emotion. Assisted by the Dowager Empress, the czar received the heroes in the great military hall of the Alexander palace. Sixty-five in-valids were decorated with the St. George's Cross. His majesty conversed freely with each of the silver medalists, and made several valuable presents to the wounded troopers. The emperor embraced and kissed the oldest invalids, and endeavoured to weep like children. He has given them a special address, where they will be cared for tenderly the rest of their lives, and the passage of the returned heroes in open carriages through the streets provoked scenes of hysterical enthusiasm.

Senator Casgrain Gives a Glowing Account of Clergy's See.

Montreal, July 11.—(Special)—Senator J. P. Casgrain, who arrived here to-day from Saint Ste. Marie and Buffalo, says the Pan-American Exposition does not hold a candle to Mr. Clergy's mighty show at the Canadian See. The senator says the pay roll is $500,000 a month, and that it will take five years to come to finish the colossal undertaking. He also says that Clergy will begin to make real raises by September next.

Volunteers to Go Back.

New York, July 11.—Joseph Levesque volunteered in Police Court, Brooklyn, to-day to accompany Montreal detectives back to the city to face a charge of defaulting in the sum of $20,000 during his employ-ment as a bookkeeper 10 years ago in the City District Bank of Montreal.
