PRINCE RUPERT AND GEO. LOCONDO WINNERS

Two Races Decided in Split Heats on Fourth Day at Hillcrest Park.

Two hundred harness horse racing enthusiasts attended the fourth day's racing at the six-day winter meeting of the Toronto Driving Club at Hillcrest Park on Saturday afternoon. The races were down for decision. The first, the 2.18 pace, had six starters. Eight were carded to go to the post, but just before the field were called by the starter, Emily Dolorest and Stevarras were withdrawn.

In the second race the conditions called for 2.12 pacers. In this event there were five starters. Fred Hal and Judge Direct were scratched.

In the first heat of the 2.18 pace Brown Hal and Dan Forester were split favorites at 2 to 2. Brown Hal was driven by the veteran Nat Ray, who got him off in front and kept him there to the finish. Lucy T. slipped thru on the first bend and raced in second place all the way. Dan Forester was away badly, and raced on the outside for the entire mile. In the stretch run he closed fast and was a fast going third. George Locondo also finished well.

There was lots of excitement in the running of the second heat of 2.18 pace, in which Brown Hal at odds on repeated. The horses were well bunched the entire route. Brown Hal was on the rail position thruout, with Lucy T. and Dan Forester at his heels. They raced this way to the turn for home, where Dan Forester broke badly when it looked like he would be the winner. George Locondo, in a cyclonic rush, just failed to catch the winner by a small margin. Lucy T. was well up from the start, but was a distant third.

Prince Rupert carried his field along at a fast clip in the first heat of the 2.12 pace and at the finish was a couple of lengths in front of Grey Ghost. Grey Ghost was a handy second over Wills Woodland.

In the second heat of the 2.12 pace Prince Rupert demonstrated that it was by no fluke that he captured the opening dash. Prince Rupert and Grey Ghost were away together and raced like a team for the first half. The pace was too hot for the grey gelding and he dropped back. Prince Rupert ran the first half in 1.07 and won the heat by two open lengths in 2.19. Nat Ray was driving hard, but his mount was not good enough. Marion Ashly was third, several lengths back. The others were also strung out. Grey Ghost was made an odds-on choice in the book.

George Locondo won the third heat of the 2.18 pace in a driving finish from George M. and Dan Forester. Brown Hal, who won the first two heats of this event, bled, and was pulled up. Dan Forester was the early pacemaker, but quit in the stretch. George M. was second thruout, but could not withstand the rush of Locondo.

Rena Bison was a 4 to 1 chance and after making a very wide turn into the home stretch won going away by a comfortable margin. Prince Rupert was a 3 to 10 favorite. Grey Ghost was an easy third.

With Brown Hal withdrawn from the race George Locondo had no trouble in winning the fourth heat of the 2.18 pace. As usual George Locondo was slow to get going, but McDowell nursed him along in the third hole to the stretch, where he ran over the early pacemaker, George M. George M. was a handy second over Dan Forester.

The last heat of the 2.12 pace proved to be the most keenly contested heat of the day. Nat Ray got off flying with the Grey Ghost closely followed by Prince Rupert and Rena Bison. The Prince came on fast on the outside and won by a head from Grey Ghost, who was just a nose in front of Rena Bison, the favorite. Rena Bison closed up a lot of ground in the last quarter.

In winning the fifth and deciding heat of the 2.18 pace, George Locondo made a procession of his field. He raced into a long lead and won eased up by a dozen lengths. George M. was second, several lengths ahead of Virgil Maid. Summary:

2.18 pace, purse $400, mile heats, three in five:

Geo. Locondo, by.g.; J. McDowell, Toronto (McDowell)	4	2	1	1
George M., by.g.; R. Scott, Toronto (Scott)	5	6	2	2
Dan Forester, by.h.; G. V. Hogaboam, Inkerman (Powell)	3	5	3	3
Virgil Maid, by.m.; T. M. Tough, Niagara Falls (Rysdale)	6	4	4	4
Lucy T.; J. Smith, Toronto (Smith)	2	3	5	5
Brown Hal., br.g.; W. B. Williamson, Toronto (Ray)	1	1	dr

Time 2.21¼, 2.23, 2.24¼, 2.25, 2.25.

2.12 pace, purse $400, mile heats, three in five:

Prince Rupert, by.g.; Dr. Young, Sudbury (Lindburg)	1	1	2	1
Rena Bison, gr.m.; Dr. Riddell, Orangeville (Esson)	5	5	1	3
Grey Ghost, gr.g.; Dr. Crang Edmonton (White)	2	2	3	2
Marion Ashley, gr.m.; F. Ragsdale, Beaverton (Ragsdale)	4	3	4	4
Willis Woodland, by.g.; N. Ray, Toronto (Ray)	3	4	5	5

Time 2.20¼, 2.19, 2.21¼, 2.22½.

A real "good thing" went wrong in the third heat of the 2.12 pace when Rena Bison beat Prince Rupert. Prince Rupert had little difficulty in taking the first two heats. He raced Grey Ghost into submission, but could not withstand the challenge of Rena Bison in the last fifty yards.

PLAYER LIMIT IS BAD BLOW TO JOHN M'GRAW

Giant Leader is Firm Believer in Bench Instruction for Youngsters.

New York, Dec. 30.—The adoption of the twenty-two player limit and abolition of the disability list by the National League at its recent meeting may prove a severe handicap to the Giants next season in years to come. It will be a hard blow to the school of bench instruction made famous by John J. McGraw, and by which he has developed such star performers as "Charlie" Herzog, "Tillie" Shafer, Arthur Fletcher, "Fred" Merkle, "Dave" Robertson, "Ferdie" Schupp and "Fred" Snodgrass.

With a few exceptions the great players of today have learned the game from a major league bench, where they have been constantly under the care of the manager or the veteran members of the team. Now that only twenty-two players are allowed to be on the roster of any club in the Tener circuit and the disability list, by means of which managers were able to keep more men on the club payroll than the league rules permitted, has been abolished, there will be no room for the youth who has been signed and whom the managers wish to tutor before he is allowed to take his place in the regular line-up.

Many great baseball clubs, among them the Giants and the old Athletic machine, were assembled because the managers were able to have a sufficiently large number of men on the bench to play out the season's schedule and at the same time have other younger men learning the rudiments of the pastime. Many star ball players have graduated from the bench over which John J. McGraw holds sway. Of the late perhaps "Ferdie" Schupp spent the longest term. For several years the youngster sat among the other "rookies" and absorbed the fine points of the game, reciving instruction from Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Dodgers, who used to coach McGraw's young pitchers, and from McGraw himself. Last season McGraw decided Schupp was primed for major league service and tried him out. "Ferdie" made good at once, and toward the end of the season electrified the "fans" by pitching better ball than any other member of McGraw's staff.

John J. McGraw always has been a firm believer in the policy of bench instruction rather than in the minor league school. He believes a ball player can learn more in one season on a big league bench than in two seasons in a minor league. Experience is the greatest of all instructors, according to the leader of the Giants. Chumming with the big league players, hearing their chat while on the bench, studying the game from the angle of the major league player, absorbing the fine points of the pastime, in the opinion of John McGraw will develop a player quicker and more thoroly than years of playing in the minor leagues. Shafer, Fletcher, Merkle, Snodgrass and many others have proved the efficacy of McGraw's policy. And take, for example, the case of "Connie" Mack. Where would Mack have been today if he had not been able to keep "Eddie" Collins, "Stuffy" McInnis and "Jack" Barry on the bench long enough to instruct them in baseball methods? Where would the famous Mackian machine have been?

CALGARY BONSPIEL.

Calgary, Dec. 30.—The executive committee of the local branch of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club held a meeting last evening and drew up plans for the 13th annual bonspiel. This year's spiel will be held commencing Monday, January 22, and continuing until January 28. The different committees were selected for the entertainments, ice and seforth. Everything points to another successful bonspiel, as already several inquiries from outside rinks have been received.

FRENCH CHAMPION NOT IN CONDITION TO FIGHT

Georges Carpentier, Cheeks Hollow, Would Require Four Months' Training.

Paris, Dec. 8 (by mail).—Georges Carpentier, French heavyweight champion, will require nearly four months to get into condition for the ring, and it is doubtful whether the French army authorities will consent to his leaving active service for so long a period.

Carpentier himself, here recuperating after a bad spill from his army aeroplane at the front, made this declaration today. The French pugilistic star is in Paris for a brief time, and his condition is such that he must make daily visits to the hospital for treatment.

"I am in very bad condition," Carpentier said. "I consider that nearly four months will be necessary to get me into shape again. The doctors say, first of all, I must have complete rest, with nothing but the mildest sort of exercise—like cross-country walking. Then I would have to begin a process of long, gradual training.

Willing to Fight.

"If by fighting with gloves I can help my country more than I can by piloting an aeroplane, I'm naturally willing to do so—if I am permitted.

"If sufficient leave is obtainable, I am willing to fight in America. I am offered a fight with the Australian, Les Darcy, but I prefer a chance at the champion, Jess Willard.

"However, talk is futile just now; I don't believe it is possible for me to leave. I am perfectly willing to fight Willard, the purse to go to charity work for the allies. As a boxer, I thus believe I may be able to strike a few blows in my own manner in behalf of my people."

Heavier, Cheeks Hollow.

Carpentier was wearing his uniform as a member of the aviation squad, and eating a light dinner at a boulevard cafe, when the newspaper correspondent met him. He looked bigger and broader than he did when he used to fight in the ring, but, paradoxically, his face seemed thinner. His cheeks were rather hollow.

"There's little use in talking of a match," he said, at the outset, "even if that match is for the benefit of charity, unless I can get a leave.

"I am a soldier first, like every other able-bodied Frenchman. My one duty now is to my country."

The above despatch was originally filed, by cable, on Dec. 8. For some reason, it was never received, but a mail copy of the cable was permitted to leave Paris.

The French censor may have objected at first to the despatch of the story by cable on account of reference to Carpentier's condition, but apparently this objection was later removed.

Largest Skating Rink Opened at Los Angeles

Vancouver, Dec. 30.—The new skating arena in Los Angeles, which will have the largest ice area of any plant in the United States or Canada, will be open for business shortly, according to Frank Patrick, president of the Pacific Coast Hockey Association, who returned to Vancouver yesterday from a flying trip to the southern California metropolis. He brought back word that everything was in readiness when he left for the opening on Saturday.

"The only difficulty appears to be in keeping the ice in good shape in such a warm climate," remarked the coast hockey magnate. "That the sport will be popular in the south appears certain, and the outlook is fine. It remains to be seen, however, whether we can overcome the one difficulty experienced in providing a good sheet of ice owing to the higher temperature."

President Patrick spent a day and a half in Los Angeles, making the jump there following the match at Portland. While in the south he discussed hockey plans informally with the southern officials, but no definite plans were arrived at. Los Angeles and San Francisco would like to have a visit from a couple of Coast League teams next spring, but definite action on the project has been deferred until a later date. It is not improbable that a couple of teams will make the trip south when the P.C.H.A. race closes.

Napoleon Lajoie Slipped to Minors After Brilliant Career in Majors

Napoleon Lajoie, who started his major league baseball career as a member of the Phillies, in the month of August, 1896, quit it as a member of the Athletics last October.

After 21 consecutive years of service in the fast set, this tall, swarthy French-Canadian and later of Woonsocket, R.I., is thru as a player of first ranking.

Lajoie, the man who had a world-wide reputation as a swatter of renown, goes to the minor leagues. The man feared by three decades of pitching, has at last yielded to time.

Forty-one years old, last September, Lajoie lasted many years after the usual playing life of the ordinary tosser. Only Adrian Anson and Hans Wagner can approach his record for long, efficient service in the major leagues.

Lajoie came to Philadelphia from Fall River of the New England League in the month of August, 1896. The Phillies, then managed by Billy Shettsline, paid $1200 for Phil Geier, and Lajoie was thrown in for good measure. Unheralded, Lajoie was placed in right field and made good at once.

Next year he was an acknowledged star. Lajoie remained with the Phillies until 1901, when he jumped to Connie Mack's Athletics. Larry played wonderful ball for the Athletics, but the next year, John I. Rogers won a court decision, and Lajoie had to stay out of the jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania courts until the trouble between the National and American League was settled.

Mack sent him to Cleveland, and he was the star player for the Naps for a long term of years. When Mack sold Eddie Collins to the White Sox in December, 1914, he fetched Larry Lajoie back to Philadelphia. Larry played good ball here in 1915 and 1916, altho he was not as agile as he used to be. Realizing that he was slowing up, he asked Connie Mack at the close of last season for permission to negotiate with a minor league club as manager.

Mack did not stand in his way. He told Lajoie he was a free agent, and Larry soon began to receive offers from American Association and International League Clubs.

President Barrow of the International League was especially interested in Larry, and decided not later than a week ago that Larry would accept an offer from one of his clubs. Larry is also negotiating with an American Association team.

Here is Lajoie's wonderful batting record as a major league player:

Year.	Club.	Ave.
1896	Phillies	.326
1897	Phillies	.363
1898	Phillies	.328
1899	Phillies	.379
1900	Phillies	.346
1901	Athletics	.422
1902	Cleveland	.370
1903	Cleveland	.355
1904	Cleveland	.391
1905	Cleveland	.329
1906	Cleveland	.355
1907	Cleveland	.299
1908	Cleveland	.280
1909	Cleveland	.324
1910	Cleveland	.384
1911	Cleveland	.365
1912	Cleveland	.382
1913	Cleveland	.335
1914	Cleveland	.258
1915	Athletics	.27*
1916	Athletics	.246

The record shows that in 21 seasons of playing in the major leagues, Lajoie made 3243 base hits.
