BRITAIN'S KING AND QUEEN TO BE MET BY ROYALTY OF GERMANY

Upon Their Arrival in Berlin This Morning King Edward and Queen Alexandra Were Given an Enthusiastic Reception—King and Kaiser Exchanged Kisses and Rode in Same Carriage—Meanwhile an Agreement is Announced Which Settles Long Standing Differences of France and Germany.

Berlin, Feb. 9.—King Edward, accompanied by Queen Alexandra, arrived in Berlin this morning and was given a warm and hearty reception by Emperor William and the German authorities.

The Lok Anzeiger says:—"At this time when international tension is at length relaxing, the visit of the British monarch can only be greeted as very welcome."

Berlin, Feb. 9.—The train bearing the King and Queen arrived at the station at 11 o'clock.

These exchanges over, the procession for the march to the palace departed.

King Edward and Queen Alexandra were greeted each other and greeted each other on the cheek.

The route of march to the palace was lined with large crowds that had been waiting at the railway station.

King Edward was evidently pleased at the welcome, and seemed to be in a jovial mood.

Paris, Feb. 9.—France and Germany today reached a far reaching agreement concerning Morocco, banishing a specter which for years has haunted international relations between the two countries.

The German and British colors played a conspicuous part in the decoration.

Of more importance still, perhaps, than the formal settlement of pending differences and the harmonizing of views concerning Morocco, is the moral effect of establishing a broad basis of friendly relations between two nations which have been separated, so to speak, since the disastrous war of 1870.

The agreement signed today guarantees the integrity of Morocco, and insures, in the future, the peace of the Algerian coast.

France promises to maintain the integrity and independence of the Moroccan empire, and sets forth that she is "resolved to safeguard the economic equality and not to embarrass the commercial and industrial interests of Germany."

Germany, whose interest in Morocco is merely economic, recognizes that the political interests of France are closely linked to the consolidation of order and peace in the interior of Morocco.

In conclusion the signatories promise never to pursue any measures designed to create an economic privilege in their favor or the favor of any other power, as they agree that they will not enter into any agreement which would prejudice the people in Morocco.

There is reason to believe that this agreement was reached during the summer of 1907, when the irritable attitude of the Moroccan Casablanca incident stopped the preparations for a while.

A striking coincidence is the fact that this agreement was announced at the moment of the arrival in Berlin of King Edward, particularly as there was a strong inclination in diplomatic circles to consider the improvement of Franco-German relations as one of the objects of this visit.
