

THE EVENING TIMES, ST. JOHN, N. B., FRIDAY, MARCH 10, 1905.

Backache, "The Blues"

Both Symptoms of Organic Derangement in Women—Thousands of Sufferers Find Relief.

How often do we hear women say: "It seems as though my back would break, or 'Don't speak to me, I am all out of sorts'." These significant remarks prove that the system requires attention. Backache and "the blues" are direct symptoms of an inward trouble which will sooner or later declare itself. It may be caused by diseased kidneys or some uterine derangement. Nature requires assistance and as Mrs. Oakes and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound instantly asserts its curative powers in all these peculiar ailments of women. It has been the standby of intelligent American women for twenty years, and the ablest specialists agree that it is the most universally successful remedy for women's ills known to medicine.

The following letters from Mrs. Oakes and Mrs. MacNamee are among the many thousands which Mrs. Pinkham has received this year from those whom she has relieved.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—After what your Vegetable Compound did for me, I am a firm believer that it is a wonderful medicine, and that every woman who is troubled with any of the ills we suffer from should try it. It has been the best thing I have ever used. My back aches, my head aches, my nerves are all out of order, and I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good. I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good. I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good. I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good. I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good. I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good. I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good. I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good. I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good. I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good. I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good. I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good. I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good. I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good. I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good. I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good. I feel as though I was never going to get any better. I have tried everything else, but nothing has done me any good.

GREAT SCHEME. LAURIER TO BORDEN.

The Latter Asks Questions to Which the Former Replies.

Ottawa, March 9.—On the orders of the day, R. L. Borden, in accordance with what passed at the morning caucus, brought up the Northwest Autonomy bill. The prime minister introduced the bill without having got the consent of the cabinet to its introduction. The house expected that when a bill was presented, it was the duty of the cabinet to give its approval. The cabinet's attitude of opinion, the house should have been informed of the facts. It was disappointed, after its introduction, that Mr. Laurier had not been consulted at all. The leader of the opposition did not know about the bill until the cabinet had decided upon it. He did not know whether the finance minister was consulted. If he were not consulted, he should have been in regard to financial clauses. The bill was brought down three days before the return of Mr. Sifton.

Mr. Laurier said that one of the reasons put forward for the introduction of the bill was the fact that it occurred in Mr. Sifton's mind. Under this rule, Mr. Sifton ought to have been consulted. He wanted to know why under this constitutional rule, Mr. Sifton was not consulted. Mr. Borden said that the premier had also asked for the portfolio of one of his colleagues, Mr. Tarte, because of the resignation of Mr. Sifton. His own portfolio should be demanded by the minister of the interior, and not by the premier. Mr. Borden wanted to know who was to be the successor of Mr. Sifton, and also if any amendments to the bill were being considered by the government. He wanted to know if amendments were decided the House should know of them.

Mr. Laurier's Reply. Mr. Laurier, in reply, said that the Minister of the Interior was an old parliamentarian, and must know what answer to expect. He had no objection to Mr. Sifton's resignation, but he was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country.

Mr. Laurier's Reply. Mr. Laurier, in reply, said that the Minister of the Interior was an old parliamentarian, and must know what answer to expect. He had no objection to Mr. Sifton's resignation, but he was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country.

Mr. Laurier's Reply. Mr. Laurier, in reply, said that the Minister of the Interior was an old parliamentarian, and must know what answer to expect. He had no objection to Mr. Sifton's resignation, but he was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country.

Mr. Laurier's Reply. Mr. Laurier, in reply, said that the Minister of the Interior was an old parliamentarian, and must know what answer to expect. He had no objection to Mr. Sifton's resignation, but he was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country.

Mr. Laurier's Reply. Mr. Laurier, in reply, said that the Minister of the Interior was an old parliamentarian, and must know what answer to expect. He had no objection to Mr. Sifton's resignation, but he was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country.

Mr. Laurier's Reply. Mr. Laurier, in reply, said that the Minister of the Interior was an old parliamentarian, and must know what answer to expect. He had no objection to Mr. Sifton's resignation, but he was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country.

Mr. Laurier's Reply. Mr. Laurier, in reply, said that the Minister of the Interior was an old parliamentarian, and must know what answer to expect. He had no objection to Mr. Sifton's resignation, but he was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country.

Mr. Laurier's Reply. Mr. Laurier, in reply, said that the Minister of the Interior was an old parliamentarian, and must know what answer to expect. He had no objection to Mr. Sifton's resignation, but he was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country.

Mr. Laurier's Reply. Mr. Laurier, in reply, said that the Minister of the Interior was an old parliamentarian, and must know what answer to expect. He had no objection to Mr. Sifton's resignation, but he was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country.

Mr. Laurier's Reply. Mr. Laurier, in reply, said that the Minister of the Interior was an old parliamentarian, and must know what answer to expect. He had no objection to Mr. Sifton's resignation, but he was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country.

Mr. Laurier's Reply. Mr. Laurier, in reply, said that the Minister of the Interior was an old parliamentarian, and must know what answer to expect. He had no objection to Mr. Sifton's resignation, but he was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country.

Mr. Laurier's Reply. Mr. Laurier, in reply, said that the Minister of the Interior was an old parliamentarian, and must know what answer to expect. He had no objection to Mr. Sifton's resignation, but he was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country.

Mr. Laurier's Reply. Mr. Laurier, in reply, said that the Minister of the Interior was an old parliamentarian, and must know what answer to expect. He had no objection to Mr. Sifton's resignation, but he was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country.

Mr. Laurier's Reply. Mr. Laurier, in reply, said that the Minister of the Interior was an old parliamentarian, and must know what answer to expect. He had no objection to Mr. Sifton's resignation, but he was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country.

Mr. Laurier's Reply. Mr. Laurier, in reply, said that the Minister of the Interior was an old parliamentarian, and must know what answer to expect. He had no objection to Mr. Sifton's resignation, but he was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country.

Mr. Laurier's Reply. Mr. Laurier, in reply, said that the Minister of the Interior was an old parliamentarian, and must know what answer to expect. He had no objection to Mr. Sifton's resignation, but he was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country.

Mr. Laurier's Reply. Mr. Laurier, in reply, said that the Minister of the Interior was an old parliamentarian, and must know what answer to expect. He had no objection to Mr. Sifton's resignation, but he was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country. He was not sure that the resignation of the cabinet was the best thing for the country.

SPRING JACKETS AND COSTUMES

In less than a month Spring Costumes will be worn, which should be an admonition to the ladies to have a look at our new styles and materials in Costumes and Jackets. Yesterday afternoon we completed arranging the advance display, and today the big airy department is really brilliant with the very latest ready-tailored garments from the best markets of the world.

GOVERNMENT JACKETS ARE IN FASHION'S FAVOR.

Among the prominent features of this season's apparel will be Government Jackets. They were rather popular last year, but this season they are slated for exceptional favor. The jackets we are showing in the material are light-fitting, have new designs in Strapped Collars, possess the Lap Seams, the Large Full Sleeve, and are Collared and Collared. Lined and Unlined. We also have the Norfolk Coat Jacket.

BOX EFFECT TWEED JACKETS POPULAR.

With a greater range of cloths, a brighter array of trimmings, and an even more dishing quality of style and finish the Tweed Jacket to hand made a handsome showing. Pleated Box Effect in the back, and with and without Collars, with Applique Persian trimmings, the New Inland Buttons, Full Sleeves and elegant Tailoring they are sure to win lots of wearers. Sleeves, Coats and Furrows.

Exclusiveness in Tailored Costumes.

In Costumes there are two distinctly prominent styles, the Box-Plated Blouse Eton, with Pleated Skirt, and the Tight-Fitting Jacket effect, also with the Full Pleated Skirt. There are other styles of course, but these seem to be leaders. Gorgeous Trimmings in Braids and Buttons, to say nothing of Silks, etc., and superior work and finish mark a still further advance in Ready-to-Wear Clothing for Women.

MANCHESTER ROBERTSON ALLISON, LTD.

125 Remingtons Used in this City.

Why? Because they wear the longest, run the easiest and do the nicest work.

Typewriters of all kinds cleaned and repaired. Typewriters supplies of all kinds constantly in stock. PRICES RIGHT.

BAILEY & PATERSON, Telephone 45th, 90 Main Street.

Spring Style Hats, Soft Hats. The Kind That Sell.

Always a shape and color to suit every customer. Our styles are exclusive and always correct. Customers like our Hats because he can always find a fit. Keep their color and finish in all weather. Price $1.50, $2.00, $2.50, $3.00 to $4.00.

THORNE BROS. . . Hatters, . . . 93 King Street.

The Loving Wives in St. John.

Can keep their husbands in the best of humor by sending their Shirts, Collars and Cuffs to UNGAR'S Laundry, Dyeing and Carpet Cleaning Works, Ltd. Phone 58.

YOUR AD. HERE

Would be read by thousands every evening.

GILBERT LANE DYE WORKS.

LACE CURTAINS cleaned and done up EQUAL TO NEW. Carpets cleaned and beaten. Dyeing and scouring. MACAULAY BROS. & CO., City Agents.

Subscribe Today for THE TIMES

at 5cts. per month in advance.

Cut out this Coupon.

The EVENING TIMES SUBSCRIPTION COUPON.

Enclosed find $ Please deliver your paper for . . . months to address below, and credit M with . . . votes in the I. C. S. Scholarship Contest.

Subscriber's name Street and number

S. S. STANLEY IN THE ICE.

Two St. John Travellers and Eighteen Passengers Will Have to Wait a While.

Pictou, N. S., March 9.—This is sent by Marconi wireless from the steamer Stanley to the steamer Minerva to King at Pictou dock. The Stanley has been jammed for three days in heavy ice four miles north of Cape Bear. Among the passengers on board are C. F. Fournier, of the Canadian Drug Co., St. John, also T. E. Gowan, Mrs. M. C. Williams, of Moncton, N. S., and J. Knight, of Sussex; altogether there are eighteen passengers.

NOTICE.

A special meeting of the shareholders of the Hampton and St. Martins Railway Company will be held at the office of the company, St. Martins, New Brunswick, Monday 13th day of March, 1905, to take into consideration the financial standing of the company, and to provide ways and means to meet liabilities now pressing.

W. E. Skillee, President. E. M. Anderson, Vice-President.