

AFRICAN TRIP STORY TOLD TO AUDIENCE HERE

Dr. J. W. Inches Holds St. Paul's Audience Deeply Interested

Dr. J. W. Inches, of Detroit, who delivered an interesting lecture on his famous trip through dark Africa from Cairo to Cape Town, in St. Paul's church hall last evening, was greeted by a large and appreciative audience.

The party of which Dr. Inches was a member consisted of Colonel George, a famous hunter and noted author, Colonel Walden and Commander Emmons. This expedition leaving Detroit and arriving in northern Africa set forth from Cairo and followed the Nile River to its source, and thence through Uganda, Belgian Congo, Rhodesia and Cape Colony to Cape Town.

The audience listened to the lecturer's story with absorbed attention and derived great pleasure from the skillful and delightful manner with which Dr. Inches told of his remarkable journey through this vast territory, the greater part of which is under British control. Many places were visited which had hitherto been rarely seen by a white man.

Accompanying his discussion Dr. Inches showed some very interesting slides and motion pictures of the places visited and of noted events which happened on the journey. Some of the most interesting of these were the ancient tombs of the king of Egypt—grin reminders of an ancient civilization, the Protestant and Catholic missions, and the scenic beauty of that famous region, the Mountains of the Moon. Many views of the Zambesi Falls, were also shown by the lecturer. Coming to Rhodesia many places made famous by Cecil Rhodes were seen and particularly the last resting place of that great empire builder, among the Matopo Hills.

Dr. Inches is a New Brunswick man and is visiting his niece, Mrs. A. H. Inches, of Saint John. He left New Brunswick about 20 years ago and has attained prominence in the medical profession in the city of Detroit.

Last evening's lecture was a treat for those who were fortunate to be present. The proceeds of the lecture were donated by the lecturer to St. Paul's organ fund and a very substantial sum was netted.

LADY OF FASHION MAKES HER HOME IN LONDON ALLEY

Former Stable Opposite Her House, Becomes Gay Residence

London, Sept. 20.—Londoners, formerly well-to-do but whose means no longer permit them to live in town houses, are resorting to strange devices in order to remain in the fashionable West End.

A lady who has recently made her home in a new house, a mere former stable, now a gay little house, has been making a name for herself in the fashion world. This particular lady backs on to a street of big houses of which they formerly contained the coachmen's quarters and stables, but their function today seems to be quite as much to provide a solution of the housing problem for anxious house seekers who fall to find it among the mansions in the fashionable district as to provide a solution of the housing problem for anxious house seekers who fall to find it among the mansions in the fashionable district.

DIGNITY PROMOTED.

The coach-house front, bricked up nearly half way, gives generous space for the low casement window of the living room, to which dignity it has now been promoted. Above the front door, the bay of former days, now an airy bedroom, gives on to a miniature balcony with nasturtiums running riot over its rails. The lady's house had been in the earlier stages of its existence the public house of the new, with a little alley at the back. The bar needed but little alteration to turn it into a comfortable and rather picturesque parlor, with its low broad window occupying the whole of the front and commanding a view of the opposite neighbor's bay trees, and the alcove where the bar counter used to be making an inviting fireside recess which a large, luxurious Chesterfield settee piled with bright hued cushions fitted as if made for it. The bar parlor for a maid, and the passage way between the rooms has provided accommodation for a bathroom. There are two bedrooms upstairs, and a good sized kitchen and scullery in the basement, while the dining room looks out on to a pretty little garden into which the little alley has been converted.

NO CHARGE MADE IN MADAWASKA CASE

Counsel For Alleged Assailant in Brawl Starts Habeas Corpus Action

EDMUNDSTON, Sept. 20.—Henry Michaud, of St. Andre, Madawaska county, who was arrested by Constable Violette, of St. Leonard, at his home in St. Andre, as a result of an election brawl, is still lying in the Edmundston jail, without any charge laid against him so far.

The prisoner states that he was arrested at his home, quite some time after the alleged stabbing affray, by Constable Violette, but that the constable did not carry any warrant for his arrest. Michaud's lawyer, Mr. J. H. St. Pierre, is taking habeas corpus proceedings to liberate him.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Davis, of Sussex, returned home yesterday after spending a few days as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Rourke, Fairville.

N., and Mr. Donald Taylor, who are to be principals in an interesting event to take place on the 25th of the month. The house was lastingly decorated with ferns and cut flowers. During the evening a miniature covered wagon, drawn into the living room by Masters Austin and Daryl Rivers, driven by the housemaid, carried the guests to the Little Donald Gault. The evening was spent in games and dancing. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Daryl Rivers and the Misses Alleyne and Mabel Armstrong. At the close of the evening everyone joined in wishing the honored guests many happy and successful years of married life.

Mrs. Joseph Petrie, formerly Miss Fannie Richards, of Fredericton, and her son and daughter, Dick and Dorothy Petrie, have removed from Saint John to the capital and taken up their residence with her aunt, Mrs. Annie Whittaker, King street. Mr. Petrie, who is a well-known commercial man, has made his headquarters for years at Saint John, but will now have their home in Fredericton and will join his family in the course of a few days. They are being warmly welcomed to Fredericton.

Mrs. C. W. Mabey, 807 Princess street, entertained a party of little girls on Monday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock for the pleasure of her little granddaughter, Melva Floyd, whose fifth birthday it was.

Mr. W. A. Simonds was the convener of a delightfully arranged bridge of 12 tables at the Grand Bay Outing Club on Saturday evening. After bridge, a corn boil was enjoyed.

Women's Allure

no longer imperiled under hygienic handicaps—new way offers true protection; discards like tissue

FRESH, charming, immaculate under ALL conditions. Sheer gowns worn without a second's fear, any time, any day!

If you seek this added charm, stop employing old-time "sanitary pads," insecure, uncertain.

Eight in 10 better-class women now employ "KOTEX" . . . a new way, 5 times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads.

Absorbs and deodorizes at the same time, thus ending ALL danger of offending.

You discard it as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

You ask for it without hesitancy, at any drug or department store, simply by saying "KOTEX."

In fairness to yourself, try this amazing way. Costs only a few cents. Comes twice in a package.

KOTEX

No laundry—discard like tissue

YEAR'S BIGGEST SALVAGE AWARDS

As echo of the hurricanes of last November, which are still discussed in shipping circles, is heard in the report of one of the biggest salvage awards of the year, recently made in the Admiralty Court by Justice Bateson, in respect to the saving of the Stikstad. A total of £7,600 has been given to four steamers, after the owners of the Stikstad have already paid $26,000 to the owners of the other ships. The claimants were the ocean tug Zwartee Zee, of Rotterdam; the steamer Genadine Mary and the steamers Flint and Dampden. To the New York salvage steamer Relief $2,600 and to the Reindeer £2,120 had been paid before the latest award of the Admiralty Court.

A Letter Of Interest to The Stylish Women Of Larger Proportions

Saint John, N. B.,
Sept., 1926.

Dear Madam:—

We take pleasure in letting you know that we are opening a new department of "Youth-line" Dresses and Coats for women of larger proportions.

This section will be under the special direction of Mrs. Curtis, who has made a study of garments with a slenderizing effect.

We would much appreciate showing you a number of exceptional models, and might also mention particularly that the objective is to give extra quality at moderate prices.

Trusting you may find time to drop in.

Mrs. Curtis will give you every attention.

Yours very truly,

F. W. DANIEL & CO.
