MACISTE, the Superman

The story of "The Warrior," starring the giant Maciste, simply duplicates the actual experiences through which the herculean Italian stunner passed through at the outbreak of hostilities. With several companions, Maciste was on the wrong side of the border when war was declared. The Italians were placed in a detention camp. Maciste over-powered the guards, led his companions to safety, and after many thrilling adventures, joined one of the brave bands of Alpines fighting in the mountain fastnesses to "keep the world safe for democracy."

A gripping story full of thrills and spectacular action. Comedy, war and hair-raising stunts which rival Douglas Fairbanks' best.

Chicago Still In The Game

Come Back Strong and Win 5th Game With Score of 3-0

There was great excitement amongst the large gathering of spectators on the North End grounds last evening when the Comedians and the Wolves played off the finals for the Hilyard cup. The play was fast and keenly enjoyed, and Commissioner Hilyard was one of those who enjoyed it most. The batteries were: For the Wolves, McKiel and Vanjour; for the Comedians, McKuldy and Dougherty.

Double-Header on Saturday.

An announcement that the Giants and Courtneys will play a double-header next Saturday afternoon and evening will create more enthusiasm among local baseball fans than the present world's series games. These teams have been battling for premier honors for some time and the games have been so interesting and keenly contested that fans from all parts of the city journey to the Queen square diamond, in West St. John, to witness the contests. Both teams have a large number of supporters and there is no small amount of speculation as to the outcome. The first game will start at 2.30 o'clock and the evening game at 6.15 o'clock.

Players on Strike.

The players of the Boston Red Sox and Chicago Cubs held up the championship game in Fenway Park for two hours yesterday in an endeavor to force the national commission to readjust their share of the receipts. A committee of players met the national commission members and stated their case, but were informed that they could do nothing. After deliberating for some time the players agreed to play for the sake of the game, but maintained that they had not received a fair deal.

B. L. Gerow made a plea in the police court yesterday for the dismissal of James McCausland, charged with drinking liquor in public and also with supplying it illegally.
