ST. JOHN, N. B., MARCH 19, 1904.

LAME EXCUSES.
Sir William Mulock, discussing Imperial preferential trade at the recent annual meeting of the British Empire League, while not condemning the policy, deprecated the expression by Canada of any opinion upon the question at this time as an unjustifiable interference with British politics and gave it as his opinion that sentiment, rather than mutual trade interest, was the strongest bond of empire. Dr. Russell, of Halifax, in endorsing Sir William, declared that an expression of Canadian opinion would prejudice rather than strengthen Chamberlain's campaign. Besides, he said, such an expression was entirely unnecessary, because no one in the old country would dare to say that Canada was opposed to preferential trade.

All this is nothing more than a lame excuse for the government's failure to endorse the preferential campaign last session. The question under consideration now in England is not an English but an Imperial question and instead of an expression of Canada's opinion being considered impertinent, such an expression has been asked for by both sides. No one would dare charge Canada with opposition to the preference, says Dr. Russell; but the fact remains that Mr. Chamberlain's opponents have repeatedly made just that charge—have based one of their strongest arguments against him on the allegation that none of the colonists were in favor of his scheme. Sir William Mulock's unbecome apology is of the same class.

THE VENGEANCE OF A MINIST.
Mr. Emmerson's spite at those who defeated him in St. John is finding petty vent. After last election day somebody told this autocratic puppet that some I. C. R. men had dared to vote according to their conscience instead of according to his wishes and he publicly vowed vengeance. Now the slaughter has begun. A checker and a car-cleaner, both old employees with no pull, have been the first to fall, and before the wrath of an outraged minister of railways no employee of the government road is safe. The rank and file boss, may feel safe. Somebody voted Tory and somebody must suffer and it's safer to hit a man that hasn't many friends.

SMALL POLITICS.
In a recent speech in parliament, Sir Wilfrid Laurier took occasion to describe the Conservative party as "an old hulk, without a captain on board, but commanded from the shore by a junta." No party, no leader, no policy.

It is a pity that when a man rises to the highest position in Canadian public life he cannot rise above the petty jealousies and trickeries of the lower politicians. Sir Wilfrid knows and to his credit that the Conservative party has a leader of strength and influence and who has the absolute confidence and warm admiration of every one of his followers. He also knows that in every issue before the Canadian people the Conservative party has a definite and decided policy which is the same for every province in the dominion—a strong contrast to the government of which Sir Wilfrid is the head.

On the tariff question the Liberals are all at odds; one faction clamoring for free trade, another for higher tariff and another, which evidently has control, composed of those who saw-saw fitfully between the other two. The Conservatives, on the other hand, are a unit in demanding an increase of protection to an extent that shall adequately secure the Canadian market for Canadians.

With regard to preferential trade with the Empire, which Conservatives unanimously favor, the Liberals are also divided in three parties; one favoring the policy, another opposing it on account of the protectionist policy it implies and another opposing it because it promises to bind Canada closer to the Empire.

Disagreement with the railway policy the government owes the loss of its ablest member and upon practically every other issue in Canadian politics—except the retention of power—the Liberal party is so divided that it is only held from total collapse by a leader who has the enviable ability of making every cantankerous faction believe that its policy is the real policy of the premier and will eventually be the policy of the party.

A SORRY KING DETHRONED.
The end of D. J. Sully, the "Cotton King," is the end of every man who has tried to rule and maintain the price of any necessary of every-day life above the level regulated by the laws of supply and demand. But, as with all the "Curtis Jadvina" who have tried to make money and fame by juggling with the food and clothes of the people, Sully's personal loss will be by no means commensurate with the suffering he has caused. Though his boasting of cotton beyond its natural level has temporarily increased the prosperity of the Southern farmer, it has, by stimulating cotton growing in other countries, injured him in the long run. And to the poor of the world, Sully's ambition, by raising the price of one of their necessities, by closing hundreds of mills, throwing thousands of employes out of work in the dead of winter and cutting the wages of those who could still get employment, has caused suffering that no punishment to him, however severe, could adequately atone. Add to this the loss of the hundreds of men who, following the great cotton bull's lead, have sunk their fortunes and are desperate today and there is piled upon Daniel J. Sully's shoulders a load that should crush him out of the sight of honest, kindly men forever.

SHOULD BE IN WRITING.

The statement made by Sir Wilfrid Laurier appears to be a flat contradiction of the announcement made by Attorney General Pugsley on Tuesday in the legislature. Here is the official report of Mr. Pugsley's announcement. "He was glad to be able to say that he had brought from Ottawa a message from the leader of the government to the leader of the provincial government, which had given them the strongest possible assurance that the resolutions of the Quebec conference in regard to additional subsidies for the provinces would be carried into effect."

The Sun remarks at the time that the assurance should have been obtained from Sir Wilfrid in writing, as the federal minister has a bad habit of contradicting Mr. Pugsley's statements concerning his assurances. This view is supported by the announcement of Sir Wilfrid yesterday that he gave no assurance at all in the direction of the attorney general's statement. It will be remembered that Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Fielding both did the same thing after Attorney General Pugsley had told the electors of Kings county what the federal ministers were about to do in the matter of the fishery award—Sun.

SUSSEX, N. B., March 18.—James Wiles died at his home at Apohaqui this morning, aged 70 years. He is survived by his wife and a grown up family. The funeral will take place at Apohaqui burying ground Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

THE TREES AND THE MASTER.
Into the woods my Master went,
To the forest, to the trees,
When the woods my Master came,
Forwent with love and shame,
But the olives they were not blind to Him,
The little grey leaves were kind to Him,
The thorn-tree had a mind to Him,
When into the woods He came.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.
(New York Press)
It worries a woman never to be sick enough to have her husband worry about her. A woman judges the merits of a play as goes to see by how good her seat is and the gown worn on the stage.
If a woman will only have servants enough they will make so much work for her that she can't get it done.
The little fellow under somebody else gets more satisfaction thinking he is doing his superior's work for him than he would out of being at the top himself.

A FLOUR THAT MAKES BOTH BREAD AND PASTRY.
It is no trouble to get good results in making both loaf bread and pastry if Galt's Royal Household Flour is used. This flour is unlike any other flour made or sold in Canada. It is as good for pastry as for bread and the best in the world for either. You can get it from any flour dealer by corresponding with the agent, Mr. J. S. Harding, St. John, N. B.

DEATHS.
HAYES.—In this city on the 18th inst., after a lingering illness, Mary, beloved wife of Joseph Hayes, in the 56th year of her age. Burial on Sunday the 20th inst., at 3:30 o'clock from her late residence 27 Gilbert's Lane. Friends and acquaintances are respectfully invited to attend.

LOCAL NEWS.

The remains of Mrs. Mary Gilliland will be interred in the Presbyterian burial ground at Jubilee, Kings Co., this afternoon.

A. I. Megarity of the Marsh Bridge has decided that he will be unable to enter the vic contest as a candidate for Victoria ward.

Rabbi Rabinowitz called on Mayor White yesterday morning in connection with the proposal to increase from $20 to $50 the junk license of the city. The Rabbi protested against this as unfair and unjust to a number of junkmen, who find the present tax sufficiently burdensome. It is likely that a strong move will be directed against the proposal.

W. Manning, B. A., son of Rev. J. M. Manning, and a graduate of the Dalhousie law school, has gone to Amherst. He will be found in the law office of the late firm of Townshend and Rogers, of which Mr. Rogers is now the head.

N. B. LEGISLATURE.
FREDERICTON, N. B., March 18.—In the house today in answer to a question from Mr. Fleming with regard to the payment made to the attorney general in connection with the claim to the Halifax award, reduction of representation and Duin v. the King, Hon. Mr. Pugsley said that the claim was not confined to last year. He went into the various items at length and labored through a long speech to explain how he had taken so much money out of the province.

Mr. Robertson introduced a bill for the removal of garbage in the city of St. John. He explained that the dumping of garbage had become a nuisance and this bill would give power to the common council to make arrangements for its removal.

Mr. Pardy introduced a bill to amend the St. John assessment act. Mr. Lantulum introduced a bill to the effect of the creation of a new engine house in Guss ward, St. John.

Mr. Lantulum presented the petition of A. O. Skidmore and others of St. John that ratepayers who have not paid their taxes be not prohibited from voting in civic elections.

NORDICA IN MONTREAL.
All local readers of the Montreal papers are familiar with the splendid success which Nordica scored in that city Wednesday evening. The audience crowded Windsor Hall, in fact it was necessary to place seats on the platform to accommodate the people. The same applies to almost every concert in this triumphal tour which the prima donna is making from coast to coast. Nordica very often can secure just enough room on the platform to sit comfortably. Excursion rates are offered both on the I. C. R. and C. P. R. for the Nordica concert. Tickets will be sold at one fare and will be entitled the purchaser to come to St. John on Saturday, the 9th, returning Tuesday the 15th. This reduction will be on condition that ten or more are purchased, excepting on the I. C. R. this side of Sussex, where there is no reserve. Plan opens to subscribers only Saturday April 2nd, and as the list is reaching St. John, the proportion, it would be well for probable patrons to sign immediately.
