

BISON FURNACE

Any one of the sections in a Bison Hot Water Furnace can be readily shut off without affecting the others.

A section in the Bison Furnace is not likely to leak, but through neglect and rust it is possible in any furnace.

Your house does not have to remain cold until a new section comes from the distant manufacturer, as is the case with other furnaces. Imagine the value of this in case of sickness in mid-winter.

The Bison has more good heating points than all other heaters combined.

THE H. R. IVES CO., LIMITED.
MONTREAL.

EXTRAORDINARY METHOD OF DISPOSSESSING TENANT

Rideau Hall, Fashionable Union Street Boarding House, Filled With Drunken Negroes Last Night --- Guests Fled in All Directions --- Police Called but Refused to Interfere.

Rideau Hall, the well known hotel at the corner of Union street and Hazen avenue, was the scene of the wildest excitement last night when a crowd of nearly a dozen negroes, the Messrs. Burns and other familiar characters had the run of the house, cultivating the music and enjoying themselves at the utmost as they sat at their ease in the luxurious parlors. At the night drew on the visitors took the best rooms of the house and prepared themselves for repose, until they were disturbed by police invasion.

The story is a long one. Harry Wilson, who has for some time past been the proprietor of the Rideau Hall, leased the building for such a purpose from Adam Bell, the owner. At the hotel Adam Bell, Mrs. Bell and his son were among the boarders.

It would seem, however, according to Adam Bell, that the lease for the building expired today. Mr. Wilson, however, did not vacate possession under the advice of his lawyer, J. A. Sinclair, and as Mr. Wilson was away they soon secured possession and in a short time were making themselves quite at home.

The guests at the hotel were shocked and there ensued a wild scramble, while trunks were packed, cases ordered and plans made for a migration to the four corners of the city. Count deBury and Miss deBury, who were among the guests, fled to the Dufferin.

The exit was not made altogether peacefully according to Mr. Wilson, as one of the negroes went into the room of a gentleman boarder and tried to take possession. The gentleman, however, said that he was in possession yet and therefore ejected the negro.

Meanwhile there were great doings in the parlors. The whole building was a blaze of lights and a vast crowd which thronged the streets watched the spectacle through an open window into the parlors where the negroes sang, Silver's and other well-known and well known in solo and chorus. The music could be heard at considerable distances.

A telephone message was sent by Mr. Wilson's brother to central station. Officer Crawford immediately responded. Arriving on the interesting scene, he was shown papers by Mr. Bell to prove that the lease had expired and that Mr. Wilson had no legal right in the building. Officer Crawford under the circumstances felt that he could not take any step.

About eleven o'clock Mr. Bell came in with a large parcel under his arm and invited the negroes, who had by this time dwindled to four and who were standing outside hailing in the full moon, back into the house and upstairs.

It became fairly quiet after this, and the crowd on the street had dispersed. Mr. Wilson returned to the hotel and found the situation looking into his parlor he was, he said, amazed to find it strewn with papers covered with spit and smelling of liquor.

About one o'clock there was another consultation between Mr. Wilson and the negroes. He was advised to have not only the negroes ejected, but Adam Bell also.

Thereupon Mr. Wilson went to the Water street lock-up and procured Officer Wm. Sullivan, who accompanied him to Rideau Hall and was escorted by him to the room where the negroes were enjoying their peaceful property.

"Hullo!" said the officer, calling each by name, as he recognized the familiar faces. To his request that they come forth, the answer was made that Mr. Bell owned the place, and that he had invited them there, and as Mr. Bell was away they were there. "Ask Mr. Bell," they said.

The officer asked Mr. Wilson if Mr. Bell was the owner of the building, to which he replied that he did not care whether he was or not. "Do your duty, officer," he said. "I ask you to remove them under the circumstances, and said he would go and bring back with him some assistance."

The next police visitor was Officer Lee, who was brought in by one of the boarders. The officer also did not like the look of the affair, and after viewing the situation telephoned Chief Clark, who told him to use his own judgment. The officer thereupon retired, and the excitement died away.

A sister of Mr. Wilson, who was in the house, was, during the middle of the affair, carried on a stretcher by a number of the boarders to a quiet part of the house, as she was ill and under doctor's treatment.

It was stated last night that the building has already passed out of the hands of Mr. Bell, having been sold to Hudson Breen. It is known that negotiations to that end have been going on for some time.

Scene, he was shown papers by Mr. Bell to prove that the lease had expired and that Mr. Wilson had no legal right in the building. Officer Crawford under the circumstances felt that he could not take any step.

About eleven o'clock Mr. Bell came in with a large parcel under his arm and invited the negroes, who had by this time dwindled to four and who were standing outside hailing in the full moon, back into the house and upstairs.

It became fairly quiet after this, and the crowd on the street had dispersed. Mr. Wilson returned to the hotel and found the situation looking into his parlor he was, he said, amazed to find it strewn with papers covered with spit and smelling of liquor.

About one o'clock there was another consultation between Mr. Wilson and the negroes. He was advised to have not only the negroes ejected, but Adam Bell also.

Thereupon Mr. Wilson went to the Water street lock-up and procured Officer Wm. Sullivan, who accompanied him to Rideau Hall and was escorted by him to the room where the negroes were enjoying their peaceful property.

"Hullo!" said the officer, calling each by name, as he recognized the familiar faces. To his request that they come forth, the answer was made that Mr. Bell owned the place, and that he had invited them there, and as Mr. Bell was away they were there. "Ask Mr. Bell," they said.

The officer asked Mr. Wilson if Mr. Bell was the owner of the building, to which he replied that he did not care whether he was or not. "Do your duty, officer," he said. "I ask you to remove them under the circumstances, and said he would go and bring back with him some assistance."

The next police visitor was Officer Lee, who was brought in by one of the boarders. The officer also did not like the look of the affair, and after viewing the situation telephoned Chief Clark, who told him to use his own judgment. The officer thereupon retired, and the excitement died away.

A sister of Mr. Wilson, who was in the house, was, during the middle of the affair, carried on a stretcher by a number of the boarders to a quiet part of the house, as she was ill and under doctor's treatment.

It was stated last night that the building has already passed out of the hands of Mr. Bell, having been sold to Hudson Breen. It is known that negotiations to that end have been going on for some time.

After repeated summonses from Mr. Wilson and Officer Sullivan, to which the negroes made at times defiant and then again pleading replies, the door was opened and Officer Sullivan looked within.

The night was an interesting, if not an attractive one, for inside were the four negroes stripped.

"Hullo!" said the officer, calling each by name, as he recognized the familiar faces. To his request that they come forth, the answer was made that Mr. Bell owned the place, and that he had invited them there, and as Mr. Bell was away they were there. "Ask Mr. Bell," they said.

The officer asked Mr. Wilson if Mr. Bell was the owner of the building, to which he replied that he did not care whether he was or not. "Do your duty, officer," he said. "I ask you to remove them under the circumstances, and said he would go and bring back with him some assistance."

The next police visitor was Officer Lee, who was brought in by one of the boarders. The officer also did not like the look of the affair, and after viewing the situation telephoned Chief Clark, who told him to use his own judgment. The officer thereupon retired, and the excitement died away.

A sister of Mr. Wilson, who was in the house, was, during the middle of the affair, carried on a stretcher by a number of the boarders to a quiet part of the house, as she was ill and under doctor's treatment.

It was stated last night that the building has already passed out of the hands of Mr. Bell, having been sold to Hudson Breen. It is known that negotiations to that end have been going on for some time.

After repeated summonses from Mr. Wilson and Officer Sullivan, to which the negroes made at times defiant and then again pleading replies, the door was opened and Officer Sullivan looked within.

The night was an interesting, if not an attractive one, for inside were the four negroes stripped.

"Hullo!" said the officer, calling each by name, as he recognized the familiar faces. To his request that they come forth, the answer was made that Mr. Bell owned the place, and that he had invited them there, and as Mr. Bell was away they were there. "Ask Mr. Bell," they said.

The officer asked Mr. Wilson if Mr. Bell was the owner of the building, to which he replied that he did not care whether he was or not. "Do your duty, officer," he said. "I ask you to remove them under the circumstances, and said he would go and bring back with him some assistance."

The next police visitor was Officer Lee, who was brought in by one of the boarders. The officer also did not like the look of the affair, and after viewing the situation telephoned Chief Clark, who told him to use his own judgment. The officer thereupon retired, and the excitement died away.

A sister of Mr. Wilson, who was in the house, was, during the middle of the affair, carried on a stretcher by a number of the boarders to a quiet part of the house, as she was ill and under doctor's treatment.

It was stated last night that the building has already passed out of the hands of Mr. Bell, having been sold to Hudson Breen. It is known that negotiations to that end have been going on for some time.

For Family Colds

A reliable cough and cold cure should be always in the house ready for use the moment the first symptoms appear. It is always easier, cheaper and better to check a cold in the very beginning. It is safer, too.

Shilo's Consumption Cure, the Lung Tonic, has been tested for thirty-three years, and tens of thousands of homes in Canada and the United States to-day are never without it.

A dealer writes: "Shilo's Consumption Cure is what I need. I have used it for Coughs and Colds on the market. Once used, my customers will be cured. I order Shilo's Consumption Cure. It is the best medicine I have ever used."

If it were anything but the best would this be so? Try it in your own family. It does not cure you, you get back all you lose. We take all the chances. Neither you nor your dealer can lose. Isn't that fair? 25c. is the price. All dealers in medicine sell.

SHILOH

A HEARTY WELCOME

Will no doubt be extended to the Ellis Stock Co. next Monday night at their fifth annual appearance at the Opera House in this city. They will present as their premiere the greatest play of modern times dealing with the trust evil, entitled "The Octopus." Rehearsals are going on every day and an elaborate production is promised.

Mr. Ellis, the manager, assures the people of St. John that nothing stronger in the shape of a modern play has ever been given on this or any other stage. Beautiful goods, handsome women, good acting, strong, very strong situations, all go to make a delightful evening. The demand for seats has already begun and this year as in the past, the first night of the Ellis' company will be a crowded house. The company will go to Montreal for Friday and Saturday, returning the next Monday, Oct. 15, to begin a five weeks' stay. The Red Rose will be given Oct. 15th.—Advt.

MR. FOSTER TESTIFIES IN HIS OWN DEFENSE

His Explanation of the Deals With Union Trust Company's Funds.

Transaction Was Approved by Directors — He Shared With Fowler in Profits of Lumber Deal, but Had Nothing to Do With Arranging It — Oronhyatekha Got 100 Shares for Nothing—George W. Fowler Will be Heard Soon.

HON. GEORGE E. FOSTER.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 2.—Having waited silently since Monday morning to be called by G. F. Shepley to finish his testimony, and seeing little chance of being called, Peter Ryan kicked over the traces this morning. He electrified the insurance commission by hurling a six minute explanation at them almost before they had taken their seats. Shepley did not put to him again the question Ryan refused to answer, as to the men with whom George W. Fowler said he had to divide the $55,000 handed back to him after he paid for the Kamloops lumber property.

Hon. Geo. E. Foster closely followed Mr. Ryan on the stand, and he also was given an opportunity to explain his connection with the syndicates that managed properties, while he was manager of the Union Trust Co.

Mr. Foster said he came out of politics poorer than he went in. During a spell of hard luck he applied to many friends for assistance. Among them was George W. Fowler, to whom he applied for between $5,000 and $7,000. Mr. Foster said they were not altogether loans. They were not not altogether loans either, as they had to do with ventures in which Foster and Fowler were jointly interested, and which had no connection with the Forsters or any company subsidiary to them.

The result of the examination of the books of the Bank of Nova Scotia disclosed the manner in which some of the $55,000 received by Fowler from Peter Ryan in connection with the Kamloops Lumber Company's purchase was disposed of. The names of "Foster," "Clarke," "Bernett," "Lefurgey," "MacKenzie and Mann," "Pardee," "Rufus H. Pope," and "Peacock," appeared in the bank ledger as recipients of money from Fowler, or Pope and Fowler. There were a number of other payments against which the names of the recipients did not appear in the books. Foster volunteered the statement that $2,500 which, according to the account produced, he had received from Fowler, was not the only amount he had obtained. The aggregate advances made by Fowler to himself he placed at between $5,000 and $7,500. He had contra claims against that gentleman which were fully equivalent to the total of the advances and there would be an accounting between them.

Foster stated that Fowler was acting in the negotiations for the purchase of the lumber properties in pursuance of an understanding between McCormick, Irwin and Fowler, on one hand, and while declining to define the relationship of Fowler as that of agent, he admitted that he would be likely to ask for an accounting of any profits made by a person in Mr. Fowler's position.

Foster emphatically denied that he had any interest in the transaction when it was made, but stated that after the deal was closed, Fowler had given him an option on a portion of his interest in the Kamloops Lumber Company and that the option was still outstanding.

Foster also explained how he and his associates, Wilson and McGillivray, acquired first a half interest and finally the entire interest in the Pope-Fowler option for C. F. E. lands as individuals, intending to finance it themselves. Finally, believing it was a good thing, they let the Union Trust in and borrowed money from the company, giving them in return 27 1/2 shares of bonus stock as an inducement.

Reference to the minutes showed that on June 4 Foster laid the proposition before the directors of the Union Trust Company verbally. There were present Dr. Oronhyatekha, Sir John Boyd, Foster, Matthew Wilson, K. C., Lieut. Col. McGillivray and Lieut. Col. Davidson.

There was, Shepley pointed out, no mention made in the minutes that Wilson, Foster and McGillivray owned the option, but Foster said it was not mentioned, then it was afterwards well understood and mentioned. The idea in first bringing the matter before the Union Trust Company was to obtain a loan for the amount of the first payment to the C. F. E.

Foster was not able to give any definite reason for having given the shares of stock in the Great West Land Company, which originally belonged to Wilson, McGillivray and himself, to Dr. Oronhyatekha. The suggestion that this was done was made by Oronhyatekha himself at a board meeting, and was acted upon. Foster could not give any explanation why he had given up his hundred shares in the business of individuals, and no private interest will be permitted to dictate my policy. I shall decide and act accordingly to the best of my ability, and I believe the public interest requires.

Regarding the labor situation he said:

In closing, Mr. Hughes said:

"I shall spare no effort to make effective the reforms in the business of life insurance so essential to the interests of policyholders."

"I promise the enforcement of the law with equal severity and equal justice to all, rich and poor, corporations and individuals."

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—With the declaration that the issue in the forthcoming campaign in this state is not to be one of republican principles or of democratic principles, or a partisan issue at all, but the vital issue of decent government, Charles E. Hughes, in this city, to-night formally accepted the nomination for Governor, which was brought to him by a committee from the republican state convention recently held at Saratoga.

In reply to the official notification of his nomination for Governor, Mr. Hughes said in part: "As a lifelong republican, as one loyal to the principles and best traditions of the party, I respond to the unanimous call, and especially claim to represent true republicanism when I promise to administer the affairs of the state in the interest of all its citizens. I recognize the exigency which has made us the trustees of the conscience and sober sentiment of the people of the state, and has charged us with the duty of leadership in a contest for decent government. To this contest, humbly conscious of my own limitations, but strong in the strength of the cause, I commit myself heart and soul without doubt as to the result."

After referring to the example set by our great leader, Theodore Roosevelt, and what congress accomplished at the last session in the way of remedial legislation, Mr. Hughes touched upon reforms he accredited to "decent government," including cheaper gas and the purging of life insurance companies. He added:

"Who do we find in opposition to us? A masquerade, an independence league whose independence has been betrayed and a so-called but spurious Democratic party, which has violated every principle of Democratic government. Our contest is not with them and the candidates opposed to us are not of them. Vain is it for our opponents to parade the liveliest of virtue. Empty are their professions and hollow their declarations and promises."

"If you would know the sort of administration we should have in the event of their success look at the Buffalo convention, for there you will find their motives and their methods mirrored; their motive selfishness and their method intrigue."

"What, then, is the supreme issue of this campaign? It is not an issue of the Republican record. It is an issue of Republican principles or of Democratic principles. It is not a partisan issue at all. It is an issue which should array on one side all lovers of truth, of sobriety, of honest reform, of independence."

"The question is whether the unholy alliance that succeeded at Buffalo shall capture the State of New York."

Continuing, Mr. Hughes said that if elected he would give the state "a sane, efficient and honorable and honest administration."

"It will be an imposed administration," he said, "I believe in party organization; in clean, efficient organization. I promise all members of the party fair treatment and just consideration. No individual or group of individuals, and no private interest will be permitted to dictate my policy. I shall decide and act accordingly to the best of my ability, and I believe the public interest requires."

Regarding the labor situation he said:

In closing, Mr. Hughes said:

"I shall spare no effort to make effective the reforms in the business of life insurance so essential to the interests of policyholders."

"I promise the enforcement of the law with equal severity and equal justice to all, rich and poor, corporations and individuals."

Business is like unto a clock. The store's face, the clerks are the hands, the key's advertising. Without a regular use of the key the whole running system becomes disordered, disorganized, rusty, useless.—H. M. Hill, Boston.

FITS PERFECTLY

Defies criticism in cut and finish, follows smoothly and accurately every curve and contour of the figure.

"Tiger Brand" Underwear For MEN and BOYS

TRADE MARK REGISTERED

BRIEF DESPATCHES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—A despatch was received at the Navy Department to-day from Chief Constructor Capps, at Pensacola, stating that most of the damage caused to the ships by the storm can be repaired.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 2.—The first of the sensational "graff" cases against three councilmen and other citizens was finished late to-day, when the jury found Councilman Max Friedman guilty of having aided and abetted in the maintenance of a house for immoral purposes.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The battleship Dreadnought today started a thirty-four consecutive steam trial. In several preliminary short trials she is said to have proved a distinct success from the point of view of handiness in maneuvering.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—Two robbers entered the Kimono Ginko, a Japanese bank also known as the Golden Gate Bank, at 1388 O'Farrell street, to-day at noon, and fatally beating S. Urakata, the manager of the bank, and seriously injuring A. Wassaki, a clerk, with a piece of gas pipe, escaped with $5,000 in gold. Manager Urakata died two hours later from his injuries. Urakata was acting as teller of the bank.

The Globe CLOTHING HOUSE

Has opened today a fine stock of new

Boy's Clothing,

All new goods, cheap, with a large lot of Neckwear, White Shirts, Colored Shirts, Top Shirts, Underwear, in great variety.

Sox, Braces, Suit Cases, Umbrellas, Overcoats, Men's Pants, Boys' Pants.

With a lot of sample Dress Shirts and Colored Shirts, at 50c on the dollar, or one dollar Shirts for 50c

.....ALL AT.....

The GLOBE, 7 and 9 Foot of King Street.

REV. DAVID LONG ASKED TO REMAIN

Congregation of Victoria Street Church Agree to His Terms—Will Give Answer on Sunday

BENCH WARRANT FOR SCOTT ACT WITNESS

Several Interesting Cases in the Hampton County Court Docket—St. John Lawyers Present

The annual congregational meeting of Victoria Street Baptist Church was held last evening. A unanimous call was extended to Rev. D. Long, the present pastor, to remain. It has been well known to the members of the congregation that Mr. Long had been HAMPTON, Kings Co., Oct. 2.—The October session of the county court of Kings county opened this morning at eleven o'clock and was adjourned until 2 p. m., when E. R. Chapman on behalf of Mr. Foster asked his honor to name a day when the case of MacRae v. Poole could be heard in chambers in St. John, the counsel having been called away to Montreal. His honor decided to stand it over until Friday, Dec. 7th.

In the Scott Act case of the King on the information of H. Cusick v. George Meyers, Amon A. Wilson appeared for the inspector, and Messrs. Jonah and McIntyre for the defendant. Mr. Wilson said the two witnesses for whom warrants had been issued are still out of the county, one now living in New Hampshire and the other coming and going in the service of the customs on the border line. Sheriff Pease returned two warrants which he had tried to serve on George Crandall without avail. Mr. Wilson consented to have the case against Pease dismissed, including a new bench warrant be issued for Crandall.

This was opposed by Mr. Jonah, who asked that if it informed the court, till the next term the costs of witnesses now present be allowed. His honor did not concur in the latter but stood the case over till next term, issuing a bench warrant for the recalcitrant witness, Crandall.

In the case of the King on the information of Harris T. Cusick v. William Cumming, O. P. King, clerk of the court, was acting on behalf of Mr. Fairweather, the attorney and counsel in the case, was prevented by illness from appearing, and thereupon the case was allowed to stand over.

In the case of Mary Quirk two of the three charges were disallowed on appeal, and in one case the conviction was confirmed.

Court adjourned sine die.

REV. DAVID LONG.

seriously thinking for some time past of going out West, and a few weeks ago had he been pressed for an answer, he would have declined. Certain conditions were named by him, however, under which he might decide to remain.

The members of the church are very desirous that he should retain the pastorate, and last evening in their call, met the requirements named, Mr. Long when seen last evening said that he could not say what his answer would be, but he would make his decision known next Sunday.

The following officers were appointed for the ensuing year: Deacons—W. A. Sprague, Russ Fieveling, M. J. Douy and R. E. Akerley; clerk of the church, Guy Kierstead; treasurer, G. M. Barker; trustees—M. J. Lausky, Chas. Paries, S. J. Corbett, G. B. Cromwell and L. S. Peters; superintendent of the Sunday school, Ezra Kierstead.

REV. GORDON DICKIE COMING TO ST. JOHN

Will be Inducted as Pastor of St. Stephen's Church on Oct. 16th—Acceptance Announced Yesterday

Rev. Gordon Dickie announced at the meeting of the Presbyterian synod at Montreal that he had accepted the call to St. Stephen's church here. The induction of the new pastor will take place at the meeting of the St. John presbytery on Oct. 16th.

Mr. Dickie, who is a young man, is the son of a Presbyterian clergyman of Nova Scotia. After graduating at Dalhousie in 1898 he entered on theological study at Pine Hill Theological College, Halifax. His first pastorate was at Colechester, N. S., after which he was assistant to Rev. T. C. Jack Sydney. Mr. Dickie then further pursued his studies at the universities of Harvard and Edinburgh and in Germany. In 1904 he accepted a call to St. Stephen's church, St. Stephen. At that time he was also favorably spoken of in connection with St. Andrew's church in this city, which was then in need of a pastor.

Hostelry earned free at Ungara.

DR. MELVIN DINED MEDICAL SOCIETY

At the annual meeting of the St. John Medical Society, held last evening, Dr. Melvin was elected president for the society's year, beginning on October the first. The first meeting of the year was held last evening in their rooms in the Market Building, at which the president read a valuable paper on Crossed Heredity. There was a large attendance of members, the meeting being one of the most successful ever held.

In accordance with the immemorial custom of the society the new president gave a dinner to the members of the society. The function, which was held at White's, was a brilliant one. Dr. Melvin presided, places being laid for about twenty-five. W. Frank Hatheway and Wm. Brodie were present as guests. Witty and pleasing speeches were delivered by nearly all those present, including Mr. Hatheway and Mr. Brodie. The dinner was served in Caterer White's best style, the service and appointments being very favorably commented upon.

BRASS CASTINGS

—AND—

All Kinds of Copper and Brass Work

G. HEVENOR,

CORNER SMYTHE AND NELSON STS

Phone 972.