

ST. PIERRE IS SENT TO THE GRAND JURY

Court Room Packed at Edmundston at Preliminary Hearing in Murder Case.

EVIDENCE SIMILAR TO CORONER'S COURT

Chief Savage Repeats Story of the Blood Pools on Bank and River Search.

(Continued from page 1.) The prisoner was again brought into appearance at 10.30 that night. The evidence of the train despatcher left him in the vicinity of Emerson street about 4.30. At 10.30 that night he was at the dance hall underneath the Star Theatre, according to the evidence of Charles Johnson, manager of the building. Johnson said St. Pierre, who had just returned from the theatre under the light of an exit sign, asked him to look and see if there were any scratches on his face. "He told me," said the witness, "that he had been in a fight. He appeared nervous in his actions and wasn't smiling a usual when he came to the dance hall," accused was dressed in a gray suit of clothes.

The Alleged Fight The witness testified to leaving the hall about 12.30 that night and of St. Pierre going to the same time. Practically the same story was told by Leon Gagnon. Gagnon told more about the alleged fight with three men as told to him by the accused who said he got blood on his blue suit from pounding one fellow while holding his head under his left arm. Gagnon did not think accused appeared nervous but did seem warm and sweating, such as would come from overwork of exertion.

The Boy Witness Charles Magon, the expected star witness of the Crown, had about 15 years of age was next called. When called the witness did not take his place in the seat occupied by previous witnesses. He sat beside the Provincial detective and this immediately started an objection on the part of Mr. LeBlanc. The Attorney General argued that the boy should sit where he was. Mr. LeBlanc wanted to know what was going. The Magistrate ruled against Mr. LeBlanc. Charlie said he was well acquainted with the prisoner and the murdered girl. He was present when the body was taken from the water. On Monday night, October 11 he said he had some telegrams to deliver from the Western Union office about 8.15. He went towards Victoria Hotel, passing by York Drug Store when he saw St. Pierre. The prisoner offered the witness a drink but it was refused. He said "Don't tell on me, and a good word to your sister."

Saw the Prisoner Witness said he went from there to the Windsor Hotel. Returning he took a circuitous route which brought him into the vicinity of the Masonic Hall. He delivered a telegram to Mr. Belyea and came out and went to Emerson Avenue, when he saw St. Pierre sitting on a fence. He spoke to me, and I answered him. He held out a handful of money and offered them to me. I refused to take them. He afterwards offered me 25 cents, which I refused.

Why Anemia Prevails

The Strenuous Conditions of Life Today Are Responsible.

Mothers who remark that girls today are more prone to anemia than the girls of a generation ago, should look back at the surroundings in which they and their companions lived. They would easily see the reason in life's altered circumstances today. Now the school-girl's life is more strenuous; her more numerous studies are a severe tax upon her strength. Also, girls enter business soon after leaving school—at an age when they most need rest and recuperation. Their womanly development is hampered by the stress of working hours, hurried and often scanty meals. Girls are more liable to bloodlessness today, but there is this consolation that, where as doctors formerly regarded anemia as often incurable, the cure are now couched in terms of thousands. Such medicines as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have restored to good health thousands of weak anemic girls and women, simply because they contain the elements necessary to make new, rich, red blood which means good health and vitality.

When your daughter's strength fails and pallor, breathlessness and backache disclose her anemic condition, remember that you can make her well and assure her healthy development by giving her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to make good red blood. Remember, too, that for women of all ages Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are especially helpful in the many ailments that result from watery blood. They make women and girls well and keep them well. This is amply proved by the case of Miss Eva MacKinnon, Glanville, Ont., who says: "As a school girl I grew very pale and would take dizzy spells and sometimes vomiting. My condition was such that I was not able to attend school regularly and my mother was very much worried about my condition. Finally she decided to give me Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I took these for a considerable time, gradually gaining strength until I was perfectly well. It is some years since I took the pills and I have enjoyed the best of health, and I am certain pale, sickly girls will find new health if they give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. You can procure Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or they will be sent you by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing direct to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

Several other guests were present at the supper.

Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Tilley, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schofield, Mr. and Mrs. Heber Vroom, and J. H. A. L. Fairweather.

Very sincere sympathy is being extended to the family of the late Mrs. J. M. Robinson.

I took a walk on the hill and saw the witness then went back underneath the bars and saw St. Pierre go down and look over the water. After a while the accused moved along the bank towards the school house. The witness retraced his steps, going back to Emerson street and on about his business.

Sunday School Boy

On cross-examination, Charlie said he was a Sunday School boy, but had not been there this year only once, and couldn't remember the teacher's name. It was also brought out that witness had been in court for beating up a little girl. The cross-examination was designed to shake the story of the young witness, leading up to the time he said he saw St. Pierre sitting on the fence. Charlie repeated his statement made on direct examination about meeting the accused while he was sitting on the fence in front of the Emerson House, located on the street of that name. No material change was made in the main features of his story. He said that at the time of the coroner's inquest he did not know all the things he related in court today. Charlie, again pressed for some information regarding his Sunday School attendance, was unable to recall the name of any teacher or text which was learned.

Severe Sharp Clashes

The boy said Mr. Lawson, attorney, and Mr. Crawford, constable, had told him a lot of things to say and how to say them. Several clashes occurred between the Attorney-General and Mr. LeBlanc, and the Court. They reached very heated arguments at times and personalities were indulged in. Some idea of the brutal acts of the lawyer of Miss Stevens may be gleaned from the evidence of Dr. Stornany, who testified as to the results of the post mortem examination. The head showed bruises any one of which would cause death. The medical man in the case said there were marks on the throat, which in his opinion, gave evidence of attempts at strangulation. The fingers of one hand were mutilated, and he thought it was done by the teeth. There were other marks upon the body. The doctor said the girl died fighting for her honor and died with it. He was of the opinion the young woman was alive when thrown into the water, but unconscious.

SIR THOS. WHITE MAY BE FORCED TO RESIGN SEAT

If He Receives Pay for G. T. R. Arbitration Work the Constituency is Vacant.

Montreal, Nov. 12.—The Montreal Star tonight publishes the following, under date of Ottawa: If Sir Thomas White has accepted, with pay, the position of arbitrator for the Government in the case of the Grand Trunk Railway, his constituency of Leeds and Grenville is automatically vacant. Sir Thomas undoubtedly has accepted, as he has attended meetings of the board, but no arrangements as to pay are yet reported.

The Law Recited.

The law on the point, quoted today by Alexander Smith, K. C., an Ottawa authority, says, in section 150 of Chapter 10 of the revised statutes: "If any member of the House of Commons accepts any office or commission, or performs any service for the Government of Canada, or for any of the officers of the Government of Canada, for which any public money is paid, or to be paid, the seat of such member shall thereby be vacant and his election shall thenceforth be null and void." If Sir Thomas has accepted the position, on the understanding that he is to get pay, his seat, according to Mr. Smith, is already vacant without the need of resignation.
