A Low Voice in Woman.

Yes we agree with the poet who said that a low, soft voice, was an excellent thing in woman. Indeed, we feel inclined to go the reins, and are fitted with a metallic attachment to connect them with the poles much further than he has on the subject, attachment to connect them with the poles and call it one of her crowning charms. No matter what other attractions she may still have; she may be as fair as the Trojan Helen, and as learned as the famous Hypa. to make any runaway horse see starlight and tia of ancient times; she may have all the accomplishments considered requisite at the present day, and every advantage that wealth can procure, and if she lack a low sweet voice, she can never be really fascinating. How often the spell of beauty is broken by eoarse, loud talking! How often you are irresistibly drawn to a plain, unassuming woman, whose soft, silver tones render her possitively attractive. Besides, we fancy we can judge of the character by the voice the bland, smooth, fawning tone seems to us deceit and hypocracy as invariably as the musical, subdued voice indicates genuine refinement. In the social circle, how pleasant it is to hear a woman talk in that low key which always characterizes the true lady! In the sanetuary of home, how such a voice soothes the fretful child, and cheers the weary husband! How sweetly such cadences float through the sick chamber: he is the bravest soldier that lays about him without fear or wit: wit pleads—fear dis-heartens. He that would kill Hydra had and around the dying bed, with what solemn melody do they breathe a prayer for a departing soul!

Don't Drink Much Water. A person in good health, and in moderate pursuit of business does not feel like drinkng water, even in summer time if not very thirsty. In fact great habitual thirst in summer, is the sign of a depraved appetite, resulting from bad habits or it is a proof of internal fever; and the indulgence of even so simple a thing as drinking cold water largely in summer time, especially in the early part of the day, will produce a disordered condition of the system.
