

Two-in-One
Tells time in the dark, $3.75

Give an Ingersoll

THERE'S no gift like a watch—nothing used so much, consulted so often, carried so long. The Ingersoll you give now will be ticking Christmas greetings next July—next September—and so on through the years to come.

There are fifteen different Ingersolls from which to choose, including jeweled watches and the famous Radiolites that tell time in the dark. They range in price from $2.75 to $13.50.

Gift Suggestions

- For the COLLEGE GIRL
Bears located near the famous girls' colleges do a rushing business on Ingersolls. Why not give an Ingersoll? The dealer will show you several models. Give him a "Two-In-One," $3.75 or a Wrist watch, $6.00. Or one of the jeweled watches illustrated below.
- For the DOCTOR
A doctor needs "open" watches—on his desk—for his wife. Give him a "Two-In-One," $3.75 or a Wrist watch, $6.00. Or one of the jeweled watches illustrated below.
- For the NURSE
A Wrist watch that tells time in the dark—the Ingersoll Midget Wrist Radiolite—a useful gift $6.00.
- For the MOTORIST
Give a Wrist watch, $6.00, or any one of the Radiolite models. The Wrist Radiolite is a jeweled Radiolite.
- For the HOUSEKEEPER
The Radiolite "Two-In-One" for desk, dressing table, on the piano or in the kitchen. Price $3.75. Ingersolls are watches for the home.
- For the MAN WHO DOES HEAVY WORK
Ingersolls are sturdy but they keep accurate time. The famous Maple Leaf at $2.75, or the Eclipse at $4.00 or a Radiolite. For "dress-up" a jeweled Ingersoll.
- For the BOY
Nothing would please a boy as much as a Radiolite at $3.50, or the Eclipse Radiolite at $4.75. For older boys, too, a Waterbury Radiolite, as illustrated.
- For the SALESMAN
Active men who have schedules to meet and trains to make will appreciate an Ingersoll jeweled watch. Select from those illustrated.
- For the SPORTSMAN
A Radiolite Wrist watch, of course. The time is always in sight at a glance. Besides, it tells the time in the dark. Price $6.00.
- For the FARMER
A farmer needs two watches—a watch for "work" and one for "dress-up". In other words, one of the low-priced Ingersolls and a jeweled Ingersoll. He'd prefer a Radiolite.
- For the BUSINESS MAN
The "Two-In-One" as a desk watch at $3.75. And if he hasn't a good pocket watch, one of the jeweled models illustrated below.
- For the TEACHER
"Two-In-One" pictured at the top. Or the Wrist watch at $6.00. Or the Midget Radiolite, $5.50, a small watch for women.
