

Canada's offer on services covers a range of areas, from tourism and certain consulting and professional services through to commercial services such as environmental, farm and forestry management services, to computer software, enhanced telecommunications services, and financial services such as banking and insurance.

"Many Canadian service industries look to better and more secure access to foreign markets for their future prosperity. Canada's actions are the kind of progress we must see this week to ensure success," Mr. Crosbie said.

-30-

For more information, media representatives may contact:

Media Relations Office
External Affairs and International Trade Canada
(613) 995-1874