As regards action in other theatres of war and the means and measures that might be taken certain essential information touching the character of British and allied action and contemplated plans must be available before any intelligent and definitive decision could be made as to Canadian action even in the immediate future. The Canadian Government ^{like the governments of other of the British Dominions} is in consultation with the British Government ~~and we~~ will continue to consult with the purpose of ^{in the most serious manner} ~~determining~~ ^{responsible} ~~the course of action which it considers~~ ^{may be provided or most effective} ~~in the interest of Canada and our associates in this~~ conflict. The question of an expeditionary force or units for service overseas is particularly one of wide reaching significance which will require the fullest examination. I note that Sir Henry Gull^{er}ock, Australian Minister for External Affairs told the Australian House of Representatives on Wednesday that the Government had not yet seriously considered despatching an expeditionary force overseas. He declared that when the Commonwealth had discharged its first duty to the Empire which was to ensure its own safety and when it was better able to assess the strength of its enemies and the nature of the conflict, it would evolve proposals of further participation in the war and participation of the people. That statement indicates the Australian Government are making the same ~~responsible~~ approach to this problem ~~which~~

as the Government of Canada. ~~which~~

The information in our possession indicates the desirability and feasibility of certain measures of ~~naval~~ cooperation.

Perhaps the most immediate and urgent ~~means~~ of co-operation could be effected by a rapid expansion of air training and facilities. ~~These~~ ~~measures~~ ~~are~~ ~~of~~ ~~the~~ ~~most~~
