LITTLE ONES

They Furnish a Very Pleasing Program at the McKeough Kindergarten Closing.

Nothing appeals more to the ordinary mortals of this world than children at play. Their innocence and real enjoyment entrances the observer and makes him or her forget the world and its realities, the future and its disappointments. When, however, you see the play-spirit of the child developed and educated along lines that will furnish lasting benefit to the children, you realize that man in his ingenuity has devised a means of putting even the play of children to some good use. A visit to the Kindergarten closing exercises of McKeough school yesterday afternoon would have taught the observant parent some of the many advantages of Kindergarten training for the young. Miss Victoria Aylesworth is the principal of the McKeough school Kindergarten. It has been said, and truly, that the children learn not only what the teacher teaches but they also learn the methods and ways of the teacher. Miss Aylesworth enters into the Kindergarten games most heartily and you can notice the same about the children. They appeared wrapped up in the games they played and had no eye or ear for anything else. It was to be remarked that the play-spirit was very strong in the children. For all of which the director must be cordially congratulated. There was something real about the children's play, yet by carefully watching them you discerned a method in it all. That method you discovered to be the guiding hand of the principal. One thing that could be easily seen was that the games yesterday were not prepared specially for show, but were the ones that the children knew thoroughly, evidently because they played them every day. The bright chants rendered by the children were all nature songs with the exception of one, a patriotic song. These are the choruses always sung by the children. One new feature was added this year in the tournament, a romping sort of game called "playing horse." The children moved to the music with wonderful activity and remarkable rhythm. The closing exercises pleased the large number of mothers and friends present, and they freely applauded the clever work and bunting and presented an exceedingly attractive appearance. It was a maze of natural beauty and only needed the merry Kindergarteners to give it life. Miss Aylesworth, the principal, was ably assisted in her work by the teachers-in-training, Miss Vida Farquharson, Miss Rose Morrison and Miss Grace Aylesworth. Miss Rose Morrison presided at the piano with her accustomed skill.

Summer Underwear

You can depend on the undertogs we sell. They're almost as carefully chosen as if they were watch springs. It's a strong testimonial for an undergarment when it gets into our show cases. Makers know this even better than customers do. We go to the mills with a clear cut notion of what we want, and never hesitate to reject an article that falls short of our standard. If all fell short we should just study out how to make the wanted thing ourselves. That's how this business grows. But these are all good enough.

Balbriggan stands high as a cool and lasting summer wear fabric and we've prepared largely in this line. Can sell you single or double thread balbriggans, plain or fancy knit, solid colors or stripes. Prices per garment range from 25c to 75c.

The stock of merinos, cashmeres and natural wools is just about what a particular man likes to choose from, whether the purse be large or small. Medium and light weights, well shaped, made and trimmed, with trouser finish drawers, ribbed cuffs and ankles, at 50c, 75c and $1.00.

Thornton & Douglas In Liquidation

LOCAL WORKS

The City Council decided to take the initiative in the following local improvements:—

Granolithic Walks — Prince street, west side, Murray St. to Stanley Ave.; Adelaide St., east side, St. Patrick St. to R. Gollan's line; Lacroix St., east side, Wellington St. to Lorne Ave.; Centre St., west side, Park St. to C. P. R.; Centre St., east side, Park St. to McKay's line; Wellington St., north side, William St. to Fifth St., except the market square; Church St., both sides, Victoria Ave., east side, from Head to Grand St.; Chatham St., both sides; Forest St., south side, Elizabeth St. to Victoria Ave.; Forest St., north side, Joseph St. to St. Clair St.; Selkirk St., south side, Victoria Ave. to Hilliard St.; Amelia St., south side, Victoria Ave. to St. Clair St.

Pavement—Vitrified brick, 28 feet wide on a concrete bed, on William St. from the C. P. R. to Wade St.

The petition for the pavement had the signatures of ratepayers on the street totalling more than half the assessed value of the property. As the law requires two-thirds, the work could not be gone on with. The Council are taking the initiative, and as more than half have to petition against the work before it can be stopped, the pavement will be laid.

THE MAP'S STORY

Early in the Boer war, P. C. Tom Groves hung a map of the Transvaal and Orange Free State in the men's room at the police station. Time had faded the map, so this morning P. C. Groves took it down. "You see," said the policeman, "we don't need the map any more. It came in useful when the reports of the reverses came. We would look up the places on the map and follow Roberts in his march to Pretoria. I am going to take the map down because it is a Boer map and I will have to patch it up with red. You will notice that the map, like the Boer government, has faded. I wish you would also notice a most remarkable and suggestive feature of this map. As you will notice, the map of the Orange Free State and the Transvaal is faded, while this little map of Cape Colony, up in this corner, hasn't faded a bit. There is something remarkable about this and tells the story of the war."
