TRIP TO WALLACEBURG

County Councillors and Their Friends Spent an Enjoyable Time

Many Courtesies Extended by Electric Railway and Mangers of Beet Sugar Company

Warden Vester and his colleague of the County Council, together with a number of friends, both laddes and gentlemen, paid a brief visit to the Glass Town on Friday. By the courtesy of the C., W. & L. E. Radial Railway Company a special car was provided which left the Rankin House at nine a. m. The General Manager, Mr. Wartpurton, accompanied the at nine a. m. The General Manager, Mr. Warburton accompanied the party, all of whom were delighted with the ride, which to many was their first trip over the road. A number of the councillors of an investigating turn of mind took stock of the road and its equipment. The ears, which cost upwards of $7,000 each, seem specially to be built for the comfort and safety of passengers—each one is constructed with a steel bar passing from end to end to insure it against breaking or being sure it against breaking or being crashed in case of collision or other similar misfortune. The wheels, too, are of the best of steel, so that even if they should by any mischances leave the track there could be no danger of breakage. The careful operators, however, are determined that their cars shall not be put to any such tests, The trip to the 'Burg was made slightly within the hour. On the way and after reaching the prairie section of the country the stalwart and affable shep, Somers called attention to the historic grounds into which the party had entered and from the window of the observation department of the car it against breaking or being observation department of the car pointed out Walpole Island and the lands and Block House still standing on the banks of the Chanel Ecarte, where Lord Selkirk's colony first set-

After reaching Wallaceburg the party was given the freedom of the town. Every citizen vied with the other to show the greatest courtesy and kindness to the visitors, who were met on their arrival by D. A. Gorden, M. P., T. B. Dundas, Mayor Hennigan, David Lafavour and others and taken to visit their large in-dustrial works, of which Wallace-burg is so justly proud.

In no other section of the County of Kent can be found such large of Kent can be found such large factories carrying on such immense works, employing so many men, paying such uniformly high wages and bestowing such immeasurable benefits on the agricultural community, for all of which great credit is due to the enterprise, business ability and courage of that captain of industry, the justly respected, popular and courteous member for East Kent. The visitors first inspected the glass factory, where ever obliging Mr. Dundas spared no pains to show and explain to his guests all the details of glass blowing and glass manufacture. Afterwards the sugar factory was visited, and it is putting it lightly to say that the whole party was simply astonished at the immensity and substantial character of the works. Words fail to give any adequate description of this plant; it must be seen to be appreciated. And as to the raw material there were beets to no end—mountains of beets—beets piled up in the large sheds in the yards, on cars, and all around the country side everywhere. These were being carried about, cleaned, evaporated, put through almost every conceivable, process until the finished article appeared in the beautiful, sweet, clear granulated sugar of the choicest and highest grade.

The method of sugar making was illustrated and the various and complicated machinery required therefor explained to the members of the party by Mr. Gordon and Mr. Lafavour, who were assidious in their attention. factories carrying on such immense mttention.

The best evidence in the world that the raising of sugar beets is profitable to the farmer, is the fact that so many are in the business. The farmers of Kent are the best judges of what pays them, and they have learned by that best of all tests— the test of practical experience that sugar beets yield them the best re-turns. It also makes clean farms. When the intricacies of sugar maksugar Deese yield them the best returns. It also makes clean farms. When the intricacies of sugar making were thoroughly studied and each visitor supplied with neatly done upsamples of the sweet, all were invited by Mr. D. A. Gordon, M. P., as his guests to the Tecumseh and Empire Hotels, where a bountiful dinner was served. The labors of the day vare somewhat strenuous, and as few of the visitors had dined since the Warden's supper on the previous evening, ample justice was done to the sumptuous repast so gracefully supplied. After a little time spent in social intercourse the party began the events of the day and profitted by the information obtained and the interesting object lessons received, and loudly and enthusiastically extelling the praises of the kindness and gracious hospitality of the people of Wallaceburg.

Amongst those who accompanied his worship the Warden were: Mrs. J. Vester, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Haggart, Mr. and Mrs. Greenwood of Blenheim, Mr. and Mrs. Greenwood of Blenheim, Mr. and Mrs. Greenwood of Blenheim, Mr. and Mrs. D. Procotor, Miss L.
