Delaware Park Survey

Hamilton's Choicest Residential Location

There are still to the south of Cumberland Avenue three lots for asie at $7.00 per foot and four lote at $5.00 per foot. The sidewalks in front of these lots are now being laid. The 13 other lots south of Cumberland Avenue have been sold.

Eight fine lots on the north side of Cumberland Avenue, 100 feet deep, at $12.00 per foot. These are splendid building lots.

A number of lots still left on both sides of Eastbourne Ayenue and on east side of Westmoreland Avenue. A few of these lots though specially well located are a little lower than the street, and we have a special filling in arrangement as to these. The price is still $15.00 per foot between Main Street, and Delaware and $14.00 per foot with the except and Cumberland Avenue the price is $13.00 and $14.00 per foot. All these lots will soon double in value. Cumberland avenue the price is $13.00 per foot. All these lots will soon double in value, north and south of this survey and you will say it has no equal in the city. You can lose nothing in an investment in this property but on the contrary are certain to make a handsome profit. Your own judgment tells you this and you can find no one to dispute it. In most cases you must risk to make but here, you have a certainty.

West Mount Survey Very Popular

The very liberal terms under which we are offering lots in West Mount is appreciated and taken advantage of by many. It is seldem that a high class property, auch us West Mount, is placed upon the market at such a price, combined with such liberal terms, a uniform price of $300,00 for destrable building lots 40 to 44 feet fronts ge, 126 feet deep with aliey in rear, and with NO INTEREST OR TAXES FOR FIVE YEARS, and with five years to pay for lot. These conditions must appeal to any person having the elightest desire to own a home, or to those seeking lovestment.

Plans of 'West Mount' and 'Beubah' surreys can be had by calling at our office. Our representative will be on the ground, head of Garth Street, Saturdays, 2 to 5 octock.

The Cake Pointer.

In the sideboard apprehension
Thrills the hidden gingerbread;
Doughauts, shrinking from attention,
Shiver with a nameless dread.

In the pantry devastation
Now begins its ruthless rule;
Hungrier than all creation,
Little Willie's home from school!

As the needle seeks the pole,
Willie moves by force of habit
Toward each gastronomic goal,
Sniffs the air and tiptoes slyly
To the sideboard with a smile:
"That there boy," says uncle, drily
"He can smell a cake a mile!"

Once we had a maid named Tillie, Once we had a maid named Tillie,
Who was sly as any mouse.
"Me for angel cake!" said Willie,
As one day he searched the house.
Later Tillie cried, "I, did it!"
(Saved the cake was what she meant.)
"Inth the onions Tillie hid it,
Throwing Willie off the scent.

An Early Egyptian Statue. Students of ancient Egyptian history will be interested to learn that a life-size statue in red granite of a king of the thirteenth dynasty has just been placed on exhibition in the Northern Egyptians culture gallery of the British Museum. The statue, which, says the London Globe, is that of the Phathe London Globe, is that of the Pharaoh Ra-sekhem-natch-tani, or to give him, his usual and shorter name Sebekhetep II., represents the King seated upon his throne, which is ornamented at the back with figures of lions and hieroglyphs giving his name, but which have suffered considerably owing to the weathering of the stone.

hieroglyphs giving his name, but which have suffered considerably owing to the weathering of the stone.

Sebek-hetep appears not to have been originally of royal descent, but the son of a priest called Mentu-hetep, and very little is known of his history or that of the period in which he lived. Statues of this King are extremely rare, and the one just exhibited is the only one at present in the national collection. The date of the statue is about B. C. 2000.

New York, June 5.—Noon letter.—The market developed some good buying to offset commission house offerings of steel in connection with recent price cutting and other offerings which aseemed to be in direction of reducing commitments on the long side. It seems probable that the Republican convention time next week will find the market in good technical position. Expectation is that the Government report this afternoon will place spring wheat condition at around 95, and winter wheat at 86. We note that electrical concerns have been good recent buyers of lead, and it seems highly probable that concerns of this character will soon enter the copper market. In fact, one of the largest copper consuming the seems of the
