Miscellaneous and General News. HORRIBLE SOLUTION OF A MYSTERY.

In the early part of the month of August last, a girl named Eliza Drummond, about eleven years of age, whose parents live near the town of West Monro, Onwego County, left her home one morning for the purpose of picking berries, and never returned.

The event, which created a profound sensation at the time, had almost passed from the minds of all save the stricken parents, when it was painfully recalled by a recent occurrence. On Tuesday last, five or six ladies were out hunting in the vicinity, and during the day came upon a spot where a large number of black snakes were discovered and killed.

DEATH OF A WEALTHY EARL. The death of the wealthy Earl of Brownlow, at the age of only 24 years, seems a sudden call from the beyond.

AN ARAB WEDDING BY MOONLIGHT. Anxious to do their guests honor, the good tempered Arabs had fetched on chairs from the fort and carpeted under them, and when we were seated the men, boys of the village squatted around in a large circle, enveloped in their white burnouses.

THE FENIAN COMMANDERS. A letter in the Dublin Freeman of Monday thus describes some of the Fenian leaders:—Dunnan, for whose arrest the Government offers £2500 reward, I know intimately; he is a man of fair intelligence, pleasing address, and a native of the south of Ireland.

JOHN BELL, MANUFACTURER OF CLOTHING. In all its branches, thankful to his Friends and the Public generally, that he is still to be found at his OLD STAND, Queen Street.

Among other marvels to be sent to the Paris Exhibition, Switzerland is about to forward the famous reliquaries given by Charlemagne to the Abbey of St. Maurice (Valais). One of them is large enough to contain a whole man, and the other, formed of the precious metals and Arabic enamels, is, according to tradition, a present formerly made to Charlemagne by the Caliph Haroun-Raschid.

The Cincinnati Gazette says all anxiety about the wheat crop may now be dismissed, as that crop is in good condition, and doing well. A Louisville paper says not only in Kentucky but in Tennessee also, the wheat crop is more extensive than in usual years, and promises an abundant yield.

The New York Herald advises the colored men of the South to pay particular attention to all their meetings and conventions to prepare for the next Presidential election, and adds:—They should start upon the right principle, and that is by nominating Gen. Grant and Gen. Lee for President and Vice President.

The Milwaukee Wisconsin notices a remarkable case in which a bullet passed into the brain of a man who yet lives in apparently good health. It appears that Ole Everson, a Norwegian, about sixteen years of age, a private of company K, Second Wisconsin Infantry, was wounded in the head by a rifle ball on the 21st of July, 1861, just as he was entering the battle of Bull Run.

The emancipation of the Russian serfs is still incomplete. According to an official return just published, there were at the beginning of the present year 9,965,410 peasants still under obligation, while the number of those who had been freed from their obligations up to that date is 5,810,600.

A curious question has been raised lately as to whether the eldest sons of bishops are entitled, like the eldest sons of other peers, to admittance into the Peers' Gallery, in the House of Commons. The answer recorded to the eldest sons of lay peers is justified on the ground that they will themselves one day become legislators, which does not apply to the sons of bishops.

Victor Hugo once said of Louis Napoleon:—He is a man of a slight, the ice breaks, and all sunk and disappeared, except the child, which was thrown upon the firm ice by the mother.

The receipts of the Atlantic Cable, from the 24th of February to the 10th of March, 15 days, amounted to £15,339, or above $5,000 a day.

E. F. Whipple has written, at the request of Mr. Fields, an essay on Dickens, which will probably appear in the next number of the Atlantic. It is said to be one of his finest productions.

In anticipation of the rise in the price of provisions in Paris during the Exhibition, Napoleon has decided that there shall be granted to the troops quartered in Paris a daily supplement of three centimes per man, and to those quartered in the neighborhood a daily supplement of two centimes per man from the 1st of April to the close of the Exhibition.

We look to Confederation as the means of relieving this country from much expense and much embarrassment. Without expressing any opinion on the propriety of British guarantees for Colonial railways, we may at least say that when, through our assistance, there is any communication between the Colonies, there ought to be an end of British garrisons on the American continent. This is a matter on which no delicacy ought to prevent our statements and Parliament from speaking out. The presence of twelve or fifteen thousand men, large enough to tempt an enemy to the glory of capturing it, and not large enough to make any effectual resistance, is a danger rather than a safeguard to the Canadian people. The readiness with which the British Legislature responds to the desire of the colonists for a more effective Union ought to be met on their part by such local measures as will relieve this country from further military expenditure on their account.

A correspondent of the N. O. Picayune gives an account of the adventures of a party who attempted without success to reach the top of the volcano of Orizaba in January last. They reached a height of sixteen thousand feet, when one of the party had his shoulder broken by the fall of a detached stone from above, and they were compelled to turn back. During the war with Mexico a South Carolina officer undertook the ascent. He fell paralyzed at a height of 15,000 feet. A staff which is still standing was erected on the spot.

In India they pack railway carriages so full that death frequently is the result, seven or eight having died of this cause in one year on a single road.
