The meeting of the West Huron Farm-ers' Institute held in the Town Hall on Wednesday of last week was not so large-ly attended as it should have been, owing doubtless to the backward state of the fall work. President Kernighan occupied the chair, and after the opening address, called on the first paper, which was on "The Feeding of Steers for Market," The rooms were handsomely decorated with Lunting, evergreens and hanging baskets, and a platform erected at the side for the musicians and one at the end for the patronesses, but as the latter was rather dimly lighted and had a nice, comfortable sofa, it was taken possession of by a few couples for a nice, quiet flir-tation. The Harpers of London furnishurging the cultivation of a good walking gait in the draught horse.
