

DINING SPECIALS
A YARD.

Pieces of pretty cre-tety colorings, rich
red, green, lawn, pink, etc. We place sale Friday morning 12 noon at, per yd.
..... 9c

ored Muslins - In dainr designs, choice qualstylish patterns and et colorings. Reg. 15c a On Sale Friday at, per
..... 9c

ite Flannelette, firm
y, pure white, bleached, a tip from us and sup-needs tomorrow, the
is going up very soon.
y Special at, a yd. .... 9c tain Scrim in cream one yd. wide, lace stripe y, extra value. On Friday at, a yard. .... 9c nts - We offer you quantity of odds and in some good prints.

15c, to be closed out y at, a yard ..... 9c

CK PARASOLS AT
5c.

only, worth $1.00. n's Parasols in black
ral wood handles, es, steel frames and ings. The rain will each, your chance.
ach. Special Value,
..... 65c

Goods, Silks,
gs

a real genuine clearness we are compelled e space. Every yard

LE OF ALL SILKS, MMINGS, ETC.

In fancy floral designs, s, colorings of navy, ad and reseda; also colored spots and floral ar 50c and 65c. Closing
..... 39c

In real French goods, colorings, pure silk,
nk, fawn, grey, brown,
Closing Out Sale Price,
..... 44c

in excellent quality, colorings, of sky, pink, yrtle, rose, tan, brown, eg. value 60c. Closing
..... 44c

pure silk, lovely soft, pretty dresses, rich soft shades. Reg. 75c. Closer yard ..... 50c

at advertised, we give per cent. off regular

nforters, Etc.

Money

is in Marseilles or only the very best of regular prices are far s ask. All are reduced

now ..... $ .95
now ..... 1.25
now ..... 1.85
now ..... 2.40
now ..... 2.85
now ..... 4.25

er Underwear for wo-in large variety of qual-Our range of combina-garments cannot be anywhere. See our special at 65c a suit.

th razor-like teeth and an un-appetite for blood. Men-imate enough to fall into ay-where the perianth is most -may be picked clean before in be rescued.

Abacoda is ubiquitous, moves ht, and has a weird cry. a party killed one 65 feet long other party reported killing one in length.

is are legion, and render life re. Mosquitoes are the least ve. "In places one is covered and to foot with bees, inside clothes and outside, in one's eye, hair, and mouth if it ed, pungent-colored and seekperspiration. Feeding by day uch circumstances is out of the
." There is a whole list of il and obscure diseases, and ut, tree, dropping its heavy un 100 feet or 150 feet, often the traveller's head. There is tree which drops a colourless which causes the body to swell the acute pain.

are rumors which cannot be id, since no one knows the of the continent of a white race the eyes and red hair.

Locals

At the closing out sale of the ock of jewelry, etc., commences of the creditors. 3432-113

LOCAL NEWS

If you want to win a new automobile, valued at $1,650, see Stewart & Kelly's ad this morning.

Mrs. M. Bennett Peacock, 1415 7th street west, will receive on Friday, April 22, and not again this season.
Canadian Bear grease is in Beattie, with other valuable agents, making it the best pomade. 50c a jar.

Dr. Hicks has moved to his new office in the McNaughton block, 5th avenue, opposite Empire theatre.
3445-117

Mrs. J. C. Thomson, 1035 Seventeenth avenue west, will not receive on Thursday the 21st, nor again this season.

The picture of the season, 2,000 feet in length, showing a three months' hunting trip with Roosevelt in Africa, has been secured at enormous expense by Starland, Ltd., and will be shown at Starland on Monday next, April 25th.
The genuine article. First run.

3437-118

The Oxford v. Cambridge boat race and the Grand National Steeple Chase, moving pictures of which have been taken by Starland Ltd's representative in England, took place on March 19th and 20th, and will shortly be shown in all Starland theatres.

3376-113

On Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, in the Burns Block, the C. O. F. Court No. 475, will hold their regular annual roll call meeting, and it is desirable that all members make a special effort to be present.

3410-111

Free Matinee.

Free matinee for ladies and children
on Friday afternoon at the Orpheum.

Card of Thanks

Mrs. J. R. Dalton wishes to thank the many friends of her late husband for their sympathy and assistance during her recent bereavement, especially the O. R. C. B. R. of T. B. P. & E.
R. L. E. and the A. P. & A. M. No. 3, square and compass; Order Railway conductors, No. 465, wreath; No. 255, wreath; No. 487, wreath; No. 244, wreath; Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, No. 435, wreath; No. 232, wreath; No. 355, wreath; Ladies' Auxiliary, B. R. T. wreath; Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, No. 663, wreath; No. 304, wreath; No. 356, wreath; A.
Nevin and D. A. Stewart, anchor; H.
King, spray; C. A. Cassidy, wreath; M. and Mrs. Impey, spray; Mr. and Mrs. G. Henderson, spray; Mr. and Mrs. Pettit, spray; Mr. and Mrs. W.
Anderson, spray; G. E. Jacques, spray; Mr. Haden, spray; Hon. W. T. Finlay, star; Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Elson, wreath; Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Johnson, spray; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Evans, spray; Train Despatchers, star; Mr. and Mrs. Elliott, spray; Mr. and Mrs. W.
Thompson, wreath; Mr. and Mrs.
W. Livingston, wreath; Mr. and Mrs.
J. Gordon, wreath; Mr. and Mrs. J. J.
Chamberlain, wreath; Mr. and Mrs.
J. Lewis, spray; Mr. and Mrs. J. B.
B. Jacques, star; members of reg. 238 and 24, wreath; Mrs. G. L. Smith and family, cross; Mrs. Baggott and son, wreath; Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, star; Mr. and Mrs. C. S. McCarty, star; Messrs. J. M. S. McCarthy, M. P. wreath; Mr. and Mrs. I. G.
Rattle, spray; Mr. and Mrs. G. Chisholm, wreath; Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Pratt, spray; C. W. Rowley, cross; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas McNeill, wreath; Mayor and Mrs. Jamieson, spray; E. B. Bennett and H. A. Allison, wreath; Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Niven, star; Calgary Commutative association, cross; Herb Alut and Frank Beathier, pillow, and many others.

At the Orpheum Theatre.

Manager Sherman has decided to give a free matinee for ladies and children on Friday afternoon. Every act at the Orpheum theatre will be changed today and will run the balance of the week.
The Melvilles, Hal and Marion Munson, and Miss Dixie Christie and Bert Ranson have proven that they are popular artists. Harry Woodland and his orchestra are furnishing up-to-date music.

At the Lyric Theatre.

Have you ever given a careful thought as to the amount of training required to thoroughly present a musical play with scenic investiture, light effects, costumes, etc., and to win the approval of the press and public everywhere?

The Juvenile Bostonians, who are to appear at the Lyric theatre Friday and Saturday, have their own orchestra and band, having toured the United States and Canada for the past three years, and their coming at this time should be greeted with much pleasure.
The company, the clever comedienne Daisy Mann, once seen will never be forgotten. The musical numbers which they offer are all genuine and no doubt will be new to the audience. Manager Sherman has secured them only after much hard work and negotiation.

Large inducements and music will be given to show their appreciation of giving them liberal patronage. Sale tickets will open Tuesday, Friday they will present the old favorite, "Bertha's Bride," and Saturday night "The Ransom." Saturday matinee will be "Gloria."

Locals

The big winding up sale of Doll's jewelry is on today. 3432-113

Indian Ocean Sealing a Failure

Victoria, B. C., April 20.—The sealing trip to the Indian ocean, where six schooners, many of them, were sent this year, has proved a failure, according to advice received here. The six schooners took but 3,411 seals. The wild but 398, just enough to pay expenses. She visited the Marion and Chloe groups.

BORN

MARSHALL—At St. Andrew's manse, April 20th, 1910, the wife of Rev.
A. Marshall, of a daughter.

MARRIED

MICHAEL—At the Central Hotel, Calgary, April 19th, 1910, the wife of Mr. H. A. Joseph, of Calgary, of a daughter.

DIED

WATTS—At Calgary, April 19th, 1910,
the wife of Mr. H. A. Joseph, of Calgary, of a daughter.

Locals

At the closing out sale of the
ock of jewelry, etc., commences
of the creditors. 3432-113

REMOVED TWO LOADS OF FILES FROM BUILDING AT MIDNIGHT

(Continued from page 1.)

effort to get some more information from him, but not with very satisfactory results. He got the witnesses to acknowledge, however, that he has been acting as a sort of confidential agent for Clarke. He also showed that to a certain extent he had been the means of communication between Biegar and Clarke in the Hawes matter.

Close to Mr. Cross

Bennett sweated the witness thoroughly, trying to show that he was very close to Cross, and he, at least, got McKinnon to acknowledge that he had gone to Cross' residence the afternoon he designed and that he had sent two telegrams the following day to Clarke advising him of conditions and how to act. One of these telegrams stated "Cross is in charge and everything is O. K." The other said "Biegar says important you wire him progress in Toronto matter before ten o'clock tomorrow morning," to which Clarke replied, "Well Biegar I am anxious to arrange matters as fast as possible."

Waddell Kept Silent

Dr. Waddell, chief engineer of the A. & G. W., was on the stand at the opening of the session of the royal commission this morning. Mr. Johnston questioned him as to his $35,000 annual salary and $75,000 bonus. The witness explained that he travelled with Clarke a whole year as consulting engineer, much against his will, and was entitled to substantial remuneration for this time. Johnston read the contract between the two men, which showed that Waddell had agreed to keep silent regarding the company's affairs.

Bennett then began his cross-examination. Witness explained that it had first been proposed in this agreement that Waddell receive the regular five per cent for engineering, but that the agreement was finally approved, was made at the suggestion of a member of the London house of Morgan & company, who thought it would be a better arrangement. He had discussed the matter with Clarke.

J. P. McKinnon, right of way agent of the A. & G. W., told an interesting story of how he had been keeping Clarke advised of the political developments. He said he had applied to Clarke personally early in the fall for the position of right of way agent. He had previously been manager of the Edmonton Liberal club and had also been election agent for the government. He had bought only 30 parcels of land since employed.

"I was Clarke's diplomatic representative to the government," asked Wash.

"No, I have simply kept him advised. I think the day he left here he asked me to keep him in touch with political events so he did not want anything to interfere with the construction of the road."

Wash read a telegram from the witness to Clarke, who was in New York on March 8, which said: "Get Bow-en's papers. Most important your business in the east be closed in the manner intended when you left."

Witness explained that he sent the telegram because the fate of the government was then uncertain, and he was afraid that if Clarke did not send the papers, the government would be stamped. Later on in his examination McKinnon admitted that the papers in question were not the Bowen papers, as he then supposed, but the Hawes papers.

Cross Was in Control

Witness explained he understood the papers were to be used as a club for collecting money from Clarke. He also admitted that owing to the critical stage of affairs with the government at that time he contemplated signing a false name to the telegram to cancel his identity, but concluded not to. The name he had in view was "J. R. Green."

The next telegram was sent March 11, from witness to Clarke, who was in Montreal. It read: "Cross has returned to cabinet today and government sustained by small but substantial majority, which will grow on succeeding divisions. Cross in charge and everything O. K. Witness explained that he understood that, cross at that time was the real helm of the government and would bring things through all right. He did not think Cross would have gone back unless he was master of the situation.

A telegram from witness to Clark in New York, March 12, said:

"It is important that you return to Edmonton. There will probably be a judicial investigation which will clear things up."

Witness said he then thought the investigation would show statements of instruments to be rash. On March 16 he sent another telegram saying situation was more steady and advising Clark to send him the new agreement, in which Clark offered to allow the government to hold back $1,000,000 until the road was finished. He explained that Waddell told him that he considered the concession unwise, and that he would tear it up if he got it.

He was anxious that Clark should see it to witness so that the agreement would be sure to reach the government.

Witness then told of going to Win-ipeg at Clarke's request to discuss the whole situation with him. He went alone at Clarke's suggestion. Goddard, Darling, Minty and Pettigrew, K.C., Clarke's private secretary, was there.

The Cross-examination

Bennett then began his cross-examination. Witness admitted that he had once been in the employ of the Northwest Hardware company, leaving under conditions not to his credit, and had then become manager of the Liberal club from which he had resigned. Bennett tried to show that McKinnon had been interested in getting control of townships along the railroad, but could not. Witness said a man named Denby had gone over the line for the company in reference to selecting townships. Bennett got the witness to admit Cross had told him at his home about his resigning and that he became aware of it some time before the public knew. He would not acknowledge that Cross had told him, but admitted he had asked Cross to speak for him. His salary was $1,800 a year.

Manitoba Bonds Sell Well

London, April 19.—The Province of Manitoba loan of a million sterling has been subscribed at 100 per cent. stamp duty, is being underwritten for an issue by the Canadian Bank of Commerce at 105.

This securities allowing for interest, is less favorable by 3.5 per cent than the recent issue of Winnipeg. A considerable portion of the Winnipeg issue is still unsubscribed.

Free Matinee.

Free matinee for ladies and children
on Friday afternoon at the Orpheum.

KILLED ON FIRST
DAY IN CANADA

Man Came From Kansas to Nanton and Was Run Over By Train on Monday.

Nanton, April 20.—Quentin Osborne Furness, Kansas, arrived at Nanton on Monday morning with his household effects, intending to make that town his home. At 4:30 that afternoon he lay in the tracks of a passenger train, dying on the spot.

Close to the time he met with the accident.

Osborne had just completed arrangements to work for Mr. Curtis, the saddler, at Nanton, and walked across to the siding, where his car of household goods were standing, evidently with the intention of unloading it. In crossing the C. P. R. yards he started to pass between two freight cars, when one of them was shunted by a yard engine, knocking him down and throwing him across the track. The blow evidently stunned him, for one freight car passed over his legs, crushing the left to pulp and amputating the right above the knee, the bone of the latter protruding.

Help came at once, and he was removed to the doctor's office, where every possible attention was given, but the effect of the terrible shock was too great, and he passed away without regaining consciousness.

Osborne's wife was to have arrived yesterday, but a friend of Osborne's, who lives out of Nanton, hearing of the accident, opened a letter addressed to the dead man from her, stating that she was leaving Kansas yesterday, and would spend a few days at Cobell Bluffs en route to Alberta.

The authorities immediately wired her at Cobell Bluffs, notifying her of the shocking tragedy.

An inquest was held yesterday afternoon, the coroner presiding, and Macleod. After being out only a few minutes the jury, through their foreman, C. H. Marshall, gave a verdict of "Purely accidental death."

Yesterday afternoon a wire was received from his wife, asking to have the body buried at Nanton, where the household goods disposed of there.

Osborne shared his car as far as Nanton with a friend, but after looking over the town decided to locate at Nanton, and came on alone. The man appeared to be without means of any description, only a five cent piece being found on his body.

HON. FRANK COCHRANE, Minister of Mines for Ontario, who has announced very important policy for the preservation of Ontario forests

NEW CITY COMES INTO BEING IN ENGLAND

Six Towns Unite in Staffordshire So As to Form One Great Borough

London, April 19.—A new city will come into being in England to-morrow.
Six towns will become one. A movement towards federation, which began in 1817, achieves its end when Hanley, Burslem, Longton, Tunstall, Stoke Newington and Stoke-on-Trent, who Penkyn will be merged into the great city-borough of Stoke-on-Trent, to become thus the twelfth largest town in England.

There has been much discussion and much dispute. Hard times have been said in council chambers and at the meetings of the town and ward committees. For some time the street corners there has been earnest deliberation. Mr. Burns of the local government board gave the movement its official sanction in 1904. Mayor Wood, great-grandson of the great Joshua, has graciously helped it throughout, and before parliament the discussion was closed, and keen, but here the advocates of federation found another champion in Lord Cromer, wise and tactful chairman of the house of lords committee. On December 21, 1908, the federation act received royal assent.

Stoke-on-Trent, with its 100,000 people and its more than 2,000 acres of land, its population 2,000,000 and its rateable value, comes into being for the first time its council meets.

Where Art and Labor Blend

Here in this centre of England's pottery trade art and labor blend and labor you can find art, and you can find the monotony of labor in London, in Liverpool, in Birmingham, in Leeds, but the whole is so pervaded with an air of competence and of respectability so enfolds it that you have to peer and investigate before you can find it. For some time the heavy duty on machinery makes it natural the plans should have been evolved for its manufacture within the country. It is natural, too, that they should be established in the center of the cotton country.

It is not surprising that the Krupps, who do an extensive trade in machinery, should be back of the enterprise.

Nevertheless, the incident impresses the British foreign office much as the United States department of state would be impressed by the Vickers, Sons & Maxim, or W. G. Armstrong & Co. to establish big plants in South America. It might mean nothing wrong but it would look suspicious.

Certainly after the Krupp plant in Stoke-on-Trent, it may prove to be more profitable to supply arms and munitions to all and the freedom of the town and wild tribesmen of the region than to sell cotton spinning machinery to the agricultural population.

Russia and Germany both have interests in the east which would be benefited by the armaments of the tribesmen, the latter being desirous of anti-German in their sympathies.

Against the English, on the other hand, it is not surprising that the Krupps should have been invited to set up southward with the tribesmen of Mexico to invade, they might become dangerous opponents.

Premier Deakin Has Guit

Melbourne, April 20.—Premier Deakin has resigned as a result of the success of the Labor party at the polls in the general election last week.
Deakin himself had a narrow escape from defeat at the hands of the Labor candidate.

be safe to assume so much in the Potteries. "Art for art's sake" in this industrial is not a mere phrase; it is a fact. This spirit, which animated Wedgwood is not dead, and countless humble workers in the Potteries, if they have his skill, are not one whit behind him in their love for the beautiful and all that is delicate and graceful in ceramics. As in every other art, the pottery has been robbed of its life by the machinery which has much of its skill and initiative, but perhaps in no other trade in the world has the hand made such little headway or done so little to disturb the instinctive desire for creation. The way in which the art schools of these Potteries towns are patronized, and the enthusiasm which marks every exhibition of paintings by local and aspiring artists come as a revelation to the average workman elsewhere who as a taxpayer barely shares in a magnificent gallery filled with paintings by artists of national repute, and into which he may stroll once a year.

Exhibition at Tunstall

It will not be easy for me to forget a visit to one of these exhibitions at Tunstall, which is now to be wedded into the city of Stoke. Tunstall itself must be granted the position of monotony among the six towns. Here every bad external feature of the other towns is emphasized. The place seems to be a mere spot for dwelling in.
There is a deadly uniformity in the houses, a lifeless air pervades the whole town, and you gain the idea of something which morally exists and has no part or parcel in the work of the world. Surely art can never be so dead in this desert as it is here wait a moment! Into the side street you pass, away from noisy, scurrying cars bedecked with advertisements and the noise of the city, and you enter the institute. The room crowded with paintings! The sunlight which shyly intrudes into the interior of the room, and the peace unhastened; a peace undisturbed by the sightseers is over all. The picture of monotony impressed upon the mind from without vanishes completely at the loveliness which surrounds you. Have you been haunted by some ugly vision? If not, how could it be that such craftsmanship can lie in the hands and such beauty be conceived in the minds of those who well in such an uninspiring environment?

The problem beyond you until you come to a picture which depicts a scene familiar to your sight. In a flash all is made plain. This new city, so wearying to the eye, so dead-ening to the heart, is set in a paradise.
Beyond the streets, beyond the reaches of the smoke-like tramway lines, beyond the pall of smoke from chimney stacks and kilns, lies a country which for fairness can not be surpassed England through. Here surrounds you the inspiration for the cultivation of art and music so zealously pursued on what at first appears to be most unpropitious soil. The valleys, smiling pasture land, timber-clad hills, streams pellucid and fresh, all fascinate the eye, and fishermen, all conspire to impart in the breasts of those fortunate folk who dwell in their midst a love for the beautiful which can not easily be eradicated. Those who talk of the Black Country as though it were a waste of desolation speak empty words.
A lovelier garden than the one in which this new city is cast it would be hard to find.

It would be neither honest nor gratuitous thus to depict the newly arisen city, to search out its bad points and its good, and to pass over in silence a great talent upon which it justly prides itself. It is not that its art and its artistic talent it makes no boast but for its musical ability it does not display the same reserve. And surely it is not to be looked in this respect
to be most unpropitious soil. The
valleys, smiling pasture land, tim-
ber-clad hills, streams pellucid and
fresh, all fascinate the eye, and
fishermen, all conspire to impart in
the breasts of those fortunate folk
who dwell in their midst a love for
the beautiful which can not easily be
eradicated. Those who talk of the Black Country as though it were a
waste of desolation speak empty words.
A lovelier garden than the one in
which this new city is cast it would
be hard to find.

It would be neither honest nor gra-
tuitous thus to depict the newly arisen
city, to search out its bad points and
its good, and to pass over in silence
a great talent upon which it justly
prides itself. It is not that its art
and its artistic talent it makes no boast
but for its musical ability it does not
display the same reserve. And surely
it is not to be looked in this respect
to be most unpropitious soil. The
valleys, smiling pasture land, tim-
ber-clad hills, streams pellucid and
fresh, all fascinate the eye, and
fishermen, all conspire to impart in
the breasts of those fortunate folk
who dwell in their midst a love for
the beautiful which can not easily be
eradicated. Those who talk of the Black Country as though it were a
waste of desolation speak empty words.
A lovelier garden than the one in
which this new city is cast it would
be hard to find.

It would be neither honest nor gra-
tuitous thus to depict the newly arisen
city, to search out its bad points and
its good, and to pass over in silence
a great talent upon which it justly
prides itself. It is not that its art
and its artistic talent it makes no boast
but for its musical ability it does not
display the same reserve. And surely
it is not to be looked in this respect
to be most unpropitious soil. The
valleys, smiling pasture land, tim-
ber-clad hills, streams pellucid and
fresh, all fascinate the eye, and
fishermen, all conspire to impart in
the breasts of those fortunate folk
who dwell in their midst a love for
the beautiful which can not easily be
eradicated. Those who talk of the Black Country as though it were a
waste of desolation speak empty words.
A lovelier garden than the one in
which this new city is cast it would
be hard to find.

It would be neither honest nor gra-