LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—WESTERN ADVERTISER for this week

now ready.

—Mr. T. A. Mara, merchant, of Galt, is spending a few days in the city.

—It has been suggested that the public school boys march at the funeral of the late

Inspector Boyle.

—Joseph Brown, a Strathroy vagrant,

was jailed in the jail here yesterday

and will stay for a week.

—An Ottawa telegram says Hon. John

Carling was indisposed Wednesday and unable to transact public business.

—Dr. McTaggart, formerly of this city, but now conducting lumbering business at Birmingham, Alabama, is at present in the city.

—A young G. T. R. brakeman named

Amalie was found dead in bed at his boarding-house, St. Thomas, yesterday morning.

Heard disease was probably the cause.

—Mr. James Reid, son of Mr. Robert

Reid, collector of customs, arrived in this city Wednesday evening from British Columbia, where he has been for some time past.

—The fire brigade was called out about 9:20 a.m. yesterday, but its services were not badly needed. A defective stovepipe in the residence of Jas. Ashton, Queen's avenue, was the cause.

—Rev. E. N. Baker, pastor of the Methodist Church, received a message

Monday afternoon from London that his father was very ill. He left for London

the same night. [Port Hope Guide.]

—The friends of Mrs. L. Youmans, the well-known temperance lecturer, will be glad to learn that she has returned much benefited from Battle Creek, Mich., where she has been undergoing treatment.

—Harvey Washington Babcock left Wednesday for Washington, D. C., where he expects to receive a back pension of $10,000 from the United States Government, he having been engaged in the American war.

—While around London there remains a decided tinge of winter, the people of Charham are floundering along with several inches of mud, and not as much as an icicle

or a snowflake to keep up interest in ex-

Cattle Breeders' Association, states that their annual meeting will be held at Stratford on Feb. 18, sessions at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. The question of establishing a Canadian herd book will be discussed and papers read on winter dairying, the silo, the milk supply, the best and lowest from a sanitary standpoint, and other topics of general interest.

—Persons desiring to send to friends a reliable newspaper containing news of Western Ontario in particular and the world in general should get a copy of the WESTERN ADVERTISER for this week. It contains extended special reports of the recent meetings of the Ontario Dairyman's Association at Woodstock, latest news from all parts, including local, cable, telegraphic and general items of interest.

—Dan McAuley of London township, was sent for trial by Squire J. B. Smyth Wednesday evening on a charge of obtaining money under false pretences from R. N. Curry, of this city, on April 22, 1887. According to the evidence McAuley, as security for $23 borrowed at 12 per cent. from Curry, gave his note, on which was signed the name of Edwin Jones. The defendant said that Jones gave his consent to having his name inscribed while drunk, but the latter denied any knowledge of the affair.

—Judging from the increased attendance at Evangelist Macdonald's meeting last night in King Street Presbyterian Church, the interest is steadily growing. From the words, "But one thing is needful, and that is to have a good pair which shall not be taken away from her" (Luke, x, 42), Mr. Macdonald delivered an impressive address, many of the audience being in tears when he closed. The Bible readings in the afternoon, also conducted by Mr. Macdonald, are being largely attended.

Mrs. Frederick Gets the Boy.

Judge Elliot gave judgment yesterday in the case of Frederick vs. Frederick. The case is the outcome of a separation between A. M. Frederick and his wife, both of them seeking to obtain possession of their only child, a boy of about 3 years. Frederick suggested that if the child was not restored to him that Judge Elliot should name his guardians. This the judge declined to do, as his choice might not meet with the approval of both parents. He decided that the mother should remain in possession of the boy, and provided that the father should have access to him at the mother's place of residence at stated intervals. Frederick will be obliged to contribute $1.50 per week for the child's support.

Death of Inspector Boyle.

The community was startled yesterday morning to hear of the sudden death of Mr. James B. Boyle, public school inspector. As was his custom when he had pressing work to do, he went last evening to his office in the old Central school building. His family became anxious when he did not return at the usual hour, and his son-in-law, Mr. John Anderson, went to the office, but found the door locked, while the shutters on the interior of the windows prevented him from seeing whether a light was burning inside or not. Mr. Anderson then went to the residence of Mr. Alex. Johnston, where Mr. Boyle was a frequent visitor, and the object of his search not being there, he returned with Mr. E. H. Johnston, school trustee, to the office. Assisted by P. C. Woolway the door was broken open, and Mr. Boyle was found sitting in his chair dead. He had a handkerchief in his hand, and by the lamp light the expression of his face seemed peaceful, evidently showing that his death had been a relief. Dr. Weid was called in and from examination gave it as his opinion that death had resulted some hours before and probably from heart disease. Mr. Boyle was 77 years old and a most vigorous and healthful-looking man. He was born in Antrim county, Ulster, Ireland, in 1812, and after receiving a good education in his native country came to Canada about the year 1840, settling in Toronto, where for over ten years he was actively identified with the educational interests of the city. In April, 1853, he was appointed principal of the public schools of this city, succeeding the late Hamilton Hunter, and in January, 1859, was made public school inspector, a position he retained until the time of his death. He was also Dominion Government civil service examiner for this district. For some time back he had been troubled with weak eyes, and during a recent visit to Toronto he was taken so severely that it was with some difficulty he was brought home again. Very few who beheld his rugged frame and vigorous appearance suspected that he had a serious constitutional weakness, as he attended regularly to his arduous duties and appeared to be in the best of health and spirits, and likely to remain so for some years. Deceased was a staunch member of the First Presbyterian Church, attending both services last Sunday, and he was generally respected and esteemed for his social qualities as well as his shrewd business and mental abilities. His wife died some ten years ago, and two daughters—Mrs. J. Anderson and Miss Boyle—survive him. They have the sympathy of the public in their bereavement.

HIS FIFTH VICTIM.A Brooklyn Thief Robs a School Girl of Her Treasures.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The man who robbed several Brooklyn school girls of their hair, and who has terrorized about all the girls in that city, found his fifth victim on Monday morning. She is Gertrude Breast, the 17-year-old daughter of Thos. C. Breast, of 363 St. Mark's Place. She attended public school at 15 Third avenue and Schenck street. Gertrude Breast's hair hung far below her waist. On Monday morning she started for school a few minutes before 8 o'clock. A man with a blonde mustache was standing at Fourth avenue and St. Mark's Place. When she was half way over the crosswalk he came forward and she felt a pull at her braid and heard what sounded like the click of a pair of shears. Her braid had been cut off. The thief ran up Fourth avenue and escaped.

OLD BACHELORS ARE BARRED.Curious State of Affairs in a Presbyterian Church.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Jan. 29.—There is a curious state of affairs in the Presbyterian Church at New Bedford because the congregation overruled the church law that a man elected to the office of deacon must "be the husband of one wife and have his children in subjection." At the annual meeting of the New Bedford congregation, which took place recently, William Wright was elected a deacon. After his installation it was discovered that, according to the rule, he was not eligible to election, he having a second wife. Wright, who is a fine old gentleman, is greatly vexed over the situation, and will resign.
