Address Great Labor Day Demonstrations.

Mr. Laurier at Ottawa and Hon. Mr. Hardy at Toronto.

Touching Tribute to the Worth of Canada's Workingman Premier.

PREMIER LAURIER AT OTTAWA Ottawa, Sept. 8.-The First Minister addressed a large crowd at the labor demonstration here yesterday. The weather was bright and warm; it could not have been better. The parade in the forenoon was very successful in point of numbers, appearance and every other way. Large crowds lined the streets to witness it. At accompanied by Mr. A. Belcourt, M. P. for Ottawa. Mrs. Laurier, accompanied by Mrs. L. O. David and other panied by Mrs. L. O. David and other ladies, occupied prominent seats on the grand stand. The chair on the platform in front of the grand stand was occupied by Mr. Cleary, who introduced the Premier, who was received with loud cheers. He thanked the organizers of labor for the privilege of heing there to take his characteristics. the organizers of labor for the privilege of being there to take his share in the general joy. The bright scene which he saw, soft breezes, a balmy atmosphere, the games and the sweet faces before him, all these were a diversion from the routine of the House of Commons (Chaors). They had no privileged classes, no titles, no caste. Freedom and equality were their boon, and there was no position in the land not within the reach and ambition of every man among them. (Cheers.) As they all knew, he was able in a short time to take rank among the first in the land. For a young man to hold his own among statesmen like Sir John Macdonald and Hon. George Brown was no small credit, yet that honor was carried off by a man who commenced his career Lauried added: "You are brave, you Edinburgh, Sept. 8.—The congress of are, most of you, young; be true to yourselves, as Mr. Mackenzie was true to himself. He was true to his country. (Cheers.) Be as he was, frugal, active, temperate, honest, and all the fruits which he reaped may be yours." The Premier was loudly cheered on sitting down.

> PREMIER HARDY AT TORONTO. Toronto, Sept. 8.-Hon. A. S. Hardy, Premier of Ontario, was the principal speaker at the great labor demonstration on Island Park yesterday. The Premier said it would be unwise to speak on subjects connected with labor, Mr. Hardy went on, with such experts on the subject close by as Messrs. Jury, Glockling, Armstrong and many others. He had had an opportunity such as few men had enjoyed of coming into contact with leaders of labor, and he could tell his hearers that they had able leaders, fervent and honest leaders; there was no advance in labor which they did not seize upon and present to the Govern-

"What does it amount to?" called "What does it amount to?" returned the Premier; "it would take two or three hours to tell what it amounts to." Twenty years ago, Mr. Hardy assured his interrupter, they had made a beginning of systematic labor legislation, and there was now, owing to the initiative of the labor leaders, and the absorbing powers of the Govern-ment and the Legislature as fine a body of labor laws as in any State of country in the world. (Cheers.) Furthermore, steps were at that moment being taken to issue in a handy volume a sketch of what had been done in this respect. The labor leaders had found no opponents in the men gath ered around the council board: there had been the one thought to do all that could be done as far as conflicting interests would allow, and to carry out the wishes of organized labor. There were no opponents to legislation of this kind on either side of the House; both sides vied with each other to see what they could do to crystallize into laws what the country wished. It would not be difficult to point out what they had not done, but it was more interesting to point out what they had done. Mr. Hardy then spoke of the great question of legislation to raise the rate of wages and to shorten hours, and of legislation to protect workingmen from disease and accident Something had been done in this respect. Legislation must follow public sentiment in matters like these. Hardy reminded his hearers though it had not been possible to pass definite laws on these subjects, much had been done to advance public and an improvement was being effected, if slowly, at all events surely. No country could prosper where wages were low, he asserted; a high rate of wages was a proof of prosperity in a country, for a country's pros-perity depended largely on the wealth of its workingmen. Mr. Hardy then referred to the case of the unskilled laborers, saying that skilled artisans could look after themselves, but that the unskilled men needed more assistance and encouragement. An income of $270, $300, $400, was not enough, he declared, for a man to live upon, support a wife and family upon, send his children to school with, and present a decent appearance with. (Applause.) It was not by the Legisla-

ing his declaration in favor of better organization and higher wages.

Mr. John Ross Robertson, M.P., who also spoke, explained that he supported the new Government in taking a Governor-General's warrant to provide supplies till Parliament met, on the ground that such a course was necessary in order that the workmen might have their wages. have their wages.

BASEBALL. THE CHAMPIONS. Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 8 .- Over 2,000 eople turned out to see the morning league game at Dundurn Park yester-day between the Maple Leafs, of Guelph, and the Hamilton team. Upon the result of this game depended whether the Guelph team were to be the Canadian champions for 1896. Umpire Charles Collins' decisions were considered unfair to the home team, and because First Baseman Morrison hurled some choice epithets at the week, and dismissed others. John Morkin, who has been sobering up for a week, promised to take the pledge.

Lansdowne Park sports and games were carried on. Mr. Laurier's arrival was greeted with cheers. He was accompanied by Mr. A. Belcourt, M. replaced by McGinnis after the third inning. The Leafs, however, won the game and the championship hands

CRICKET. ASYLUM VS. CONSERVATIVE CLUB The asylum cricketers on Saturday defeated the Conservative Club by 104 runs. The winners declared their inning when six wickets were down for 144 runs, after Flynn, England and Burnand had punished the Conservative trundlers to a considerable ex-tent. England played a pretty inning and privilege to serve under a man tent. England played a pretty inning who was Prime Minister of Canada, of 33, while Flynn carried his bat for a carefully compiled 30.

Burnand broke all the ground rapid scoring records by hitting up 63 in about 30 minutes. While at the wickets the big asylum cricketers scored no less than eleven fours and gave an exhibition of hard hitting powers seldom seen on this side of the water. K. Andras was the most successful of the Conservative bowlers.

For the losers, J. Andras was the only batsman who reached double figures, K. Andras and Dalton being the next best wielders of the willow. The Conservatives were only able to compile 40 runs against the asylum bowling, and when their last wicket fell were 104 runs behind their opponents. For the winners Goode took four wickets for 1 run, and Angus two for the same cost. The following is the score:

Bringing

Just now we are bringing in the goods that will soon be engrossing the attention and thoughts of the ladies. Every department is receiving its quota, and very shortly the whole store will be brimming over with attractions. Many are here now, but we are looking forward to when it will be complete. The attractions of this big store are so many, that it is difficult to know where to commence in giving suggestions to

Your safety is in doing the whole store, starting at the front door, and traversing the floors of the two stores, both up and down stairs. The people of London realize that there is a satisfaction in trading here that is not found elsewhere. We believe in solid, square and straight methods. You can always count on the character and quality of our goods, and will ever be satisfied with the service given you.

Sending

Though our stock is still incomplete, many are taking advantage of the new arrivals, and are already making their selections. This is a wise precaution. First choice is usually worth a consideration. Then you get just what you want, and those who come later have to be content with what they can get. Not that there is a difference in the material, but some have their choice of colors and styles. When buying our European traveler tries to secure just such styles and colors as he thinks will suit our trade; but, as you must know, he has to do considerable guessing at that. Buy early and see the stock later on.
