MAYOR DOMINEERS OVER THE COUNCIL, SAYS PROGRESSIVE

Also Is Charged With Interferring Too Much With City Engineers.

One Reason Put Forward as to Why West London Has Not Yet Got Breakwater.

It is quite likely that West Londoners will hold a picnic all their own this summer. At a meeting of the West London Progressive Association held in Collins' Hall Wednesday night, on motion of Mr. E. A. Pocock, seconded by Mr. Edward Pudney, jun., it was decided to appoint a committee to inquire into and discuss the advisability of holding a picnic in Platt's grove, some time during July. Every member was enthusiastic about the proposition committee was appointed: Messrs. Pudney, jun., Pocock. Churchill, Cluggstone, and Pudney,

A communication from the city clerk stating that the letter from the association about the breakwater had been received by the board of works and filed, received the same treatment. Mr. Pocock's Letter.

Mr. Cluggstone brought up the question of Secretary Pocock's letter to the committee, and said that he thought every letter written on the authority of the association should be read in th meetings before being sent out. He put a motion to this effect, but could not get a seconder for th, the members contending that it would be casting an asperion on the secretary if such a r otion were passed.

Mr. E. A. Pocock reported on his and Mr. Churchill's attendance at the meeting of the Central Progressive Association, and Mr. Cluggstone asked Mr. Churchill if he made a statement at the meeting to the effect that a reakwater could be built for $20,000. Mr. Churchill replied that he made the statement that he was willing to build a breakwater 21 feet high and 12 steam inches thick on a slope of 45 degrees avoid between the Blackfriars bridge and the gers. Dundas street bridge for that sum, if the city would give him permission to take gravel out of the river.

Breakwater Discussed. Discussion of the possibility of se-curing a breakwater then arose, and several of the members vigorously attacked Mayor Graham and his at-
