

THE LAST RESORT

When all else failed, the Doctors said, "try Fruit-a-tives"

And "Fruit-a-tives" cured Mrs. Cadieux

PLANTAGENET, ONT., JANUARY 31st, 1910.

"About March 1st 1909, I was taken deathly sick with Stomach Trouble, Backache and General Breakdown. I failed from 125 pounds down to 80 pounds, was confined to bed for eight weeks, and was unable to eat or keep anything on my stomach, vomiting nearly all the time. I expected to die, and took many remedies as well as employing different physicians. The doctors said they could do nothing for me and, as a last resort, one of the doctors told me "to try Fruit-a-tives—if they would not cure me, nothing would."

MDE. LAURENT CADIEUX

My husband bought "Fruit-a-tives" from Mr. Arthur Kolcau, merchant of Plantagenet, and I started taking them at once, and inside of ten days, I was able to leave my bed. My stomach got strong and I could eat and retain my food. I gained rapidly and soon had my usual good health back again, and today I weigh as much as ever, 125 pounds."

MDE. LAURENT CADIEUX.

Even the doctors are recommending "Fruit-a-tives". They realize now that these wonderful fruit juice tablets will positively cure all Stomach Troubles, Indigestion and Dyspepsia—and they are using "Fruit-a-tives" in their practice.

Few people realize the vital importance of keeping their blood pure. Impure blood is the chief cause of Stomach Trouble, because it is from the blood that the stomach obtains the fluid which digests food. When the blood is laden with impurities, the dissolving fluid (or Gastric Juice) will be impure. These impurities may come from a congested liver, from Constipation, from weak kidneys, from an inactive skin, or from all four. Naturally, the ordinary "digestive powders" and "pepsin tablets" will not cure the trouble, because they only help to dissolve the food—they do not get to the seat of the trouble. "Fruit-a-tives" is the greatest remedy ever discovered for all forms of indigestion, Dyspepsia and other Stomach Disorders, because "Fruit-a-tives" is unequalled as a blood-purifying medicine. "Fruit-a-tives" acts directly on the liver, regulates the bowels, strengthens the kidneys, stimulates the skin, and thus rids the whole system of all impurities. "Fruit-a-tives" will positively cure you of any kind of indigestion. "Fruit-a-tives" is sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50 or trial size, 25c. If you are unable to obtain "Fruit-a-tives" conveniently, do not accept substitutes but send to "Fruit-a-tives" Limited, Ottawa and the regular size packages will be mailed you, postpaid, on receipt of price.

The Ferry boat ran a special trip Sunday to take Odd Fellows and Masons of this place to funeral of Mr. J. M. Veits, collector of customs which occurred at Digby at two o'clock p. m. The Masons, Odd Fellow and Foresters from the surrounding country, made one of the largest funerals ever seen in Digby.

Messrs. Scurrah brothers, of New Glasgow are setting the boilers in building the furnaces in the power house here. The masonry is of brick.

By a land slide on the H. & S. W. Ry., at Thorne's Cove, at the dam near the large bridge, a piece of land went out about ninety feet in length and fifteen feet deep under the track. Mr. Hayes, section foreman, at once notified the company, when a working train was sent down and repaired the break.

This fine weather so early means you will pay for it in April, and Encl John here who is our earliest garden er, is preparing for planting. Rushin he season in this case won't pay.

Allie Hayes, of Lawrencetown came down Friday to take the place of William Rogers on the R. R. Section.

There will be considerable building here the coming summer. Two offices two stores and probably two dwelling houses will be going up. There will also be some buildings moved to their pier with the work now going on at th pier for McKenzie and Mann, and the Canadian Iron Company, which ought to make things fairly lively this year. Mr. Crossman, of Brighton, Digby Co., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jane Johns.

Port Lorne

Mr. M. M. Charlton, of Boston, after an absence of ten years, is visiting his parents, Major and Mrs. John Charlton.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Armstrong spent Saturday in town.

On Feb. 10th Amelia, wife of Deacon Chas. Hudson, passed away. She was a member of the Baptist church in this place and a true christian. She patiently endured the suffering caused by the dreadful disease consumption, and to the end of her days retained deep interest in the cause of Christ. Her husband, son and one daughter remain to cherish her memory.

Mrs. Frank Starratt has arrived home from Boston, where she has been spending the winter.

Mr. Chas. Hudson is at home after a visit with friends in Kene.

DOUBLE-STOPPED.

Mother (speaking of her son)—"He has a beautiful voice, and we have had him taught the flute so that he can accompany himself."—Bon Vivant

LAND OF THE CARIBOU

NEWFOUNDLAND IS THE PARADISE OF THE HUNTER.

Thousands of the Indians of the Islands Get Their Livelihood From the Pursuit of the Animal—American Sportsmen and the Fishermen Are His Two Greatest Enemies—Always a Needless Slaughter.

Famous among modern nimrods is the caribou hunting territory of Newfoundland. It furnishes food for thousands of Indians of that island and Labrador and sport for hundreds of hardy hunters, who like nothing better than "roughing it" for a few weeks in those parts.

The Newfoundland caribou is lighter in color than his relative further east and north in Canada, and his antlers are shorter and more massive. So numerous are these animals on the island that they are frequently hunted on the barren open hills.

Two annual dangers harass the caribou. In the late summer and fall hunters from all parts of the United States—of the eastern section, at least—are after them with guide and rifle. During February and March the great yearly slaughter by fishermen takes place.

At that season the fishermen find their stock of winter provisions running low, while the ice king still holds the waters in his relentless clasp. Food must be had, and so the people turn to the caribou herds for fresh supplies.

A great many more animals than are needed are killed at these periodical slaughters. The nearly starved beasts are poor at best, and frequently the hunter will kill one that is little more than skin and bones. These are left lying where they fall.

Then, too, the methods of killing are by no means sportsmanlike, and hundreds of caribou escape the hunters to die of their wounds in the forests. Firearms of the fishermen, as a rule, are ancient, being loaded with handfuls of buckshot, iron balls and slugs.

Not a clever marksman at best, the native gets as near a herd as possible, and lets fly one of these broadsides at the mass. When one animal is killed, several others may be badly wounded.

Withal, the caribou is more numerous in Newfoundland than in any territory of equal size in the world, perhaps. They have over 30,000 square miles of moss-strewn barrens for pasturage, wolves harry them but little, the Indians, formerly mighty hunters, are diminishing in numbers, and the climate is milder than in the same latitudes on the mainland.

Venturing into this land of game for the first time, the hunter will experience trouble in finding a good guide. Most of the natives are fishermen, knowing little and caring less for the art of hunting.

Their services may be had at a low figure, however—a dollar a day and supplies being the usual charges—and they are useful as packhorses. They will carry heavy loads day by day without objection and endure hardships without a murmur. Before the novice starts for the Newfoundland wilds, he should pick up all the information he can regarding the habits of the game he is seeking.

He may have hunted the white-tail deer or even the moose with success, but lessons learned upon those trips are not sufficient in the caribou country.

During the sultry weather of summer deer and moose may be seen in the daytime along almost any wild stretch of water in New Brunswick, Maine or the Temagami Lake country. They seek the water in order to cool themselves and secure protection from the flies.

For a similar reason, the caribou of Newfoundland take to the dense spruce thickets in hot weather, coming out at dusk to spend much of the night browsing over the moss rocks. The hunter who waits until after August will have a better chance of getting his coveted pair of fine antlers.

It is almost useless in hot weather to attempt to hunt the caribou during the day. Many a novice has learned this to his cost, after tramping under the blazing sun for miles, day after day, without seeing a single stag.

So alert and wily are the animals that it is difficult to approach them at best. A caribou can scent a man at almost incredible distance, and once he catches the scent, he is promptly off for another locality. The hunter will have much better success if he patiently waits for the game to approach him.

As soon as the first rays of the dawn day bring their rosy fingers over the horizon, the hunter must be off to the likely places. At sunset he should take his stand where the signs are plentiful and await the coming of game. During the remaining hours he can lounge peacefully about camp or go fishing.

But even in camp the utmost precautions are necessary, if one does not wish to clear the vicinity of game. If a fire is lighted, it should be a very small one, for cooking only. The slightest alarm or the faintest scent of a man will serve to send the animals scurrying to distant hiding places.

Believe Girl Has Evil Spirit.

Word comes from New Zealand, a remote settlement in Eastern Prince Edward Island of a demand by the simple farmer and fisher-folk that Father Walker of Rollo Bay dispossess a young woman of an evil spirit. Her name is Chenec, and she is 23 years of age. Her parents are dead, and she has been keeping house for a brother. When he announced his intention of getting married, she declared she's as soon have a devil in the house, and her subsequent demeanor has convinced her neighbors that she should be exorcised by the church.
