

Catharine had selected a pretty, cool, shady recess, a natural bower, under the overhanging growth of

THE FIRST BREAKFAST.

cedars, poplars, and birch, which were wreathed together by the flexible branches of the wild grape vine and bitter-sweet, which climbed to a height of