COMPOUND CHAMOMILE CORDIAL.

THIS Cordial as its name announces is prepared scientifically by a Member of the Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain from the Flowers of Chamomile and other Vegetable Medicines, imported especially from England. Not only do a home doctor stand in need, but physicians and medical virtues have acquired a truly celebrated reputation in preparing the famous HARMONIUM, to which in point of richness taste and flavor, as well as in medicinal efficacy, it is incomparably superior.

These Inimitable Virtues, while fully preserved, are more delicately concentrated and developed in the Cordial, which from its transparency and golden colour resembles Wine, and as such may be used at discretion. The flavor is fresh and fragrant and the taste most grateful and invigorating, either to the body, the Temperature moderate, or Inebriates enervated.

TESTIMONIALS:

Toronto, June 29th, 1852.

Mrs. REXFORD & Co.

GENTLEMEN.—We have tasted the Sample Bottle, with which you favored us, of your "Compound Chamomile Cordial," and find it as soon describes, fragrant and agreeable to the palate, and consider it an excellent Preparation for the use of the valuable Tonic Properties of the Flowers of Chamomile.

We are, &c.,
GEORGE HERBERT, M.D.
JOHN KING, M.D.

77 Bay Street, Toronto, June 29, 1852.

GENTLEMEN.—I duly received and have tried the Sample of "Compound Chamomile Cordial," which you sent me.

Aware of the manner in which you prepare it, and of the nature and quality of the ingredients which you employ in its manufacture, I cannot afford to express to you in my writing my opinion of it, which I should not hesitate to do under different circumstances.

I consider it a very elegant Pharmaceutical Preparation, no discredit of being made exceedingly useful in a dietetical as well as therapeutic point of view. It will serve as an excellent substitute for much of the trash which is purchased as Wine for the use of invalids; and will also prove an excellent medium for the agreeable conveyance of tonics, which, without some assistance, are often rebuked against and rejected by the stomach.

I am, Gentlemen,

Yours, &c.,
FRANCIS BADGLEY, M.D.

Mrs. REXFORD, & Co.

Hamilton, July 1st, 1852.

Mrs. REXFORD & Co.
GENTLEMEN.—I duly received and have tried the Sample of "Compound Chamomile Cordial," which you sent me. Consider it a very elegant Preparation, and useful in all cases where a mild Tonic is required, more especially in cases of Hypospasmodic and the weakness of the Sinews; it being very agreeable to taste, can be taken by any one.

I am, &c.,
THOMAS DUGAN,
Surgeon.

London, C.W., June 16th, 1852.

Mrs. REXFORD & Co.
GENTLEMEN.—I have received the Sample Bottle of your "Compound Chamomile Cordial," and consider it as beautiful as well as highly valuable preparation. The aromatic and peculiar bitter flavor, in which lies the essential Medicinal qualities, appear to be largely infused and well preserved; and as this vegetable Tonic is highly beneficial in those forms of Hypospasmodic, depending on debility, or want of tone of the digestive organs, (the form most frequently met with on this continent,) your Cordial will, I doubt not, form an invaluable addition to our Pharmacopeia.

From the knowledge possessed by me of Mr. Rexford, and his very high reputation as a Pharmaceutical Chemist, I feel much pleasure in confidently recommending his preparation of the valuable Tonic to my Professional brethren, and to the public, as a delightful and invigorating Cordial.

I am, Yours, &c.,
GEORGE HOLME,
Surgeon.

Mrs. REXFORD & Co, Toronto,

GENTLEMEN.—I have no hesitation in expressing to you my professional approbation of your "Compound Chamomile Cordial." The tonic properties of the Flowers of Chamomile, with which it is finely blended, are so universally acknowledged and the Medicinal qualities of that vegetable ingredient so fully admitted in Physiologic compilations, that I consider the idea of administering it in the pleasing form of a Cordial, most happy; and in the case of some proportion, so exceeding, that it cannot fail to be a favorite with the public.

By MOUNT, M.D.,
Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, England.

This Cordial is sold generally by all respectable Chemists, &c. The bottles are sealed with the initial R. & Co., and signed by the Proprietor.—Dear Sirs, for being genuine.

The Castilian Hair Invigorator.

THIS elegant Toilet Preparation is warranted to exceed all others ever offered to the public, for Preserving and Beautifying the hair; it prevents or cures baldness of grey hair; cure dandruff and ringworm; and what is of the highest importance, is that it is unlike most other Toilet preparations, being perfectly harmless, yet successful for the purpose recommended. It gives the hair a beautifully soft, smooth and glossy appearance; in this it also differs from other preparations, all of which more or less harden and dry the hair. The Spanish Ladies who judiciously used for beautiful and glossy hair, have used for centuries. It causes the hair to retain its original color to the latest period of life, only making it assume a darker shade if originally very light. Dried hair loosens and falls out in turn grey. This Invigorator removes such disease, and renders the skin and hair to a healthy condition.
