I wish I were
" w.ĭ.sh " w.ē.r.

In these two words wish and were the large quadrant is used for w, as in won, wum. It is shorter than this other way, which is also correct: ◠, ◡. wish, were like cousin Ellen

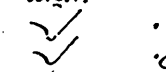
l.ī.k. k.ŭ.s.en e.l.en

To represent in, en, in cousin and Ellen, we by all means use the quadrant that unites without angle, instead of that which represents en, in, when alone. The grave accent above ` " is employed to designate the sound en, of the quadrant: but that accent is by no means necessary, and is dispensed with in current Shorthand. 527

who has a maid
h.oo. h.a.s ă. m.ē.d.

to tend to her; I
" t.en.d " h.er "



have no one to wait
h.ă.v. " " " w.ā.t.

on me. No one to wait on you said

her mother. why
" m.o.th.er. h.wă.ĭ.

Notice how the letter ū alone is used for you.