Three of them have naught to honor them save the plain Aberdeen granite column bearing on its southern side the one word "Macdonald" and on the west the name Williamson." Looking from the northem side of the railing, which was the side on which the remains of the chief entered to-day, two simple mounds were seen upon the right. These are the graves of Hugh Macdonald and his brave wife, the father and mother of the great deceased. On the left of the monument is a grass covered mound, beneath which the first John Alexander Macdonald was laid to rest. To the left of this again another simple mound was seen, but this one had at its head a simple marble slab bearing the words "Margaret Macdonald, wite of Rev. Timeday's issue was a typical one. In the leading article it was announced that in Ontario and Quebec hay was light, fruit the Conservative constituents who were so proud of him. Every man's head was hard as the plumed hease of death passed by, every woman bowed her head in farewell to him who had been the people's idol, every child was told of the historical importance of the day. In Quebec everything was doubtful. Since the old woman roased her husband in the morning with the complaint that it was Monday, next day was Tuesday, and then Wednesday camehalf the week was gone and not a thing was done, there has been no such awful state of affairs as the Globe pictures. And the lesson of all this evil, actually possible and imaginative, is that the administration at Ottawa is confronted with a most difficult task, Sir John is dead; there is a large public debt; the provinces are clamoring for relief at the expense of the federal treasury, and our power to borrow money is reduced. The remedy, of course, is the old one of surrendering Canada's commercial autono-my to the control of the Udited States, The desire of the Globe writer is to create popular anxiety and dissatisfaction, and by operating on the dissatisfaction make it possible to destroy the Canadian federation. ### Protestant Praise.

Rev. Cunningham Geike, D.D., in an article, "Roaching the Masses," says; "The monks, who in their early purity and zeal won land after land for Christ, visibly moved the distinguished and sympathetic gathering. The musical service, which was very time, was renderof Kitton; near Exeter, became St. Bonithe seeds of her economical and spiritual inheritance. To the Franciscans was due, nearly seven hundred years ago, the bringing back of the masses to Christianity. The love with which these poor brethern, the 'Friers' or 'Freres,' were clothed, was the secret of their reaching the masses as they did. None could be poorer than they, but they sought out the leper, the diseased, the fever stricken, the dying, and the multitudinous army of the wicked, to give them human sympathy and tenderadministrations. Silver and gold they had none, any more than the Apostles, but they had better, and gave it freely. They spent and were spent in secret offices of Christian love and picty."

THE MAYBRICK CASE

To be Referred,—Rumors of a Release being Probable. NEW YORK, June 13 .- Mrs. Florence Maybrick, the American woman who is now serving a life sentence in Woking prison for the murder of her husband, a Liverpool cattle merchant, has brought suit against the Mutual Life Reserve Fund Society of New York, whose office is in the Potter building. It is hoped that this suit will result in freeing her, The matter in New York is being looked The matter in New York is being looked after by Mrs. Maybrick's United States attorneys, Roe and Macklin, of 156 Broadway. Several years before his death Mr. Maybrick took out a policy in the company for $10,000. After his death Mrs. Maybrick received $2000 of the face value of the policy. A little while afterwards the way a phenol in little while afterwards she was placed in gaol on the charged of baving murdered her husband. She made application to the insurance company for the remainder. It, of course, refused to pay it. Since Mrs. Maybrick's sentence her attorneys on both sides of the ocean have the company. To this end Richard S. Cleaver, her Liverpool solicitor, has been appointed trustee. Under the English aw Mrs. Maybrick is officially dead. Charles Russell, who defended Mrs. Maybrick, will conduct the suit, and Sir Edward Clark will appear for the Insur-rance Company. The legal fight will attract the widest attention not only because of the unusual interest in Mrs. Maybrick's case, but because the Insurance Company will have to prove that she did poison her husband. Of course, it will cite the proceedings of the trial and the verdict. Mrs. Maybrick's attor-neys are certain that they can show that this trial was irregular, and that her guilt was not proven. In this they have with them the opinion of the Home Secretary. The attorneys will also have an onnortunity to bring in new evidence, which they say they have discovered. If Mrs. Maybrick gets a verdict it will set aside the previous verdict and undoubtedly result in the legal freeing of the young woman. Sir Charles Russell has said that he is almost certain that the verdict will be in his client's favor. In view of this, efforts to secure Mrs. Maybrick's pardon have been abandoned for the
