

[Text] the appeal process would be more objective and would be much quicker as decisions are final.

I wonder if you could just quickly tell me about your experience and your appeal.

Mr. Heparde: It was frustrating to say the least. It cost the industry dearly and continues to now. The industry. Due to the fact that we export 35% of our production to the States, the United States market is our lifeline, and it is going to be for some time to come. I suggested to Mr. Gorman that if he does not feel the American market is as important to our producers, I would challenge him to go and talk with every one of my hog producers and tell him that sometime he is no longer going to be in the business of producing hogs.

The Chairman: Thank you very much. Ladies, we thank you for joining us this afternoon and for responding to our questions even though the time was short.
