

Speaker—Con.Rulings and statements—Con.

Debate on a question which is on the order paper for tomorrow . . . (cannot be allowed), 2308

Interruptions, 2367, 2395, 2398, 2443

May only be made with consent of member who has the floor, 2152

Irrelevance, 1484, 2210, 2238, 2255, 2259, 2262-63, 2269-72, 2279, 2299, 2303-04, 2315, 2339, 2395, 2398

Bill, general discussion on instead of discussion of principle, 1479

Member may reply on point mentioned by another member, as briefly as possible, 2278, 2297

Members, giving as wide a latitude in discussion as members who have already spoken, 2379

Labour Progressive party pamphlet attacking government, 476, 509

Language

It would be more in keeping with the traditions of the highest court in the land if we tried to express ourselves in a manner which we could all read with pride in the future, 2213

Unparliamentary

“Dishonesty,” 2158

“Double talk,” 2298

“Fascist,” 2212

Must necessarily be withdrawn, 2269

“Rotten injustices,” 2156

Letter read in the House, sufficient to identify its source and it need not be tabled, 2209-10

Letters emanating from people outside the house referring to the proceedings in the house at the present time should not be read, 2424, 2427

Member/Members

Asked not to converse in the chamber, 2383

Asked to co-operate in obeying rule against the reading of speeches, 154

Cannot accuse another hon. member of knowingly uttering an untruth, 2156

Closing debate with the unanimous consent of the house, 314

Giving as wide a latitude in discussion as members who have already spoken, 2379

May reply on point mentioned by another member, as briefly as possible, 2278, 2297

Must accept hon. member's word, 2157

Must take word of another member that there is no collusion between parties regarding question now before the house, 2296-97

Speaker—Con.Rulings and statements—*Con.*Member/Members—Con.

Not in order for hon. member to read from a newspaper or a document published outside the house and reflecting on the proceedings in the house, 2242

Reference to something which took place during some other debate not a proper reference, 2301

Referring to another debate on another subject, 2447

Replying to interjection, . . . not . . . to read any letter that may have been received, 2399

Should not cast a reflection upon the other place, 1761

Should not express in this house opinions of individuals outside the house on the subject of the present debate . . . It is highly irregular to express the views of others who are not in the house . . . , 2383

Should not refer to a debate that has taken place, 2269

Statement from outside the house contradicting what a member has said in the house not allowable, 2346

Using improper language, must necessarily withdraw it, 2269

When the Speaker suggests that hon. members abide by the rules it is customary that they do so, 377

Will put his question without quoting his dispatch, 377

Ministerial statements, 1921, 1984

Motion/Motions

Amendment to, debate on may refer to main motion, 2302

Considerable latitude allowed on calling of since no opportunity has been given this session to raise grievances, 1984

For appointment of committees of supply and ways and means, not debatable, 1828

Is not wholly inoperative . . . (and is allowed) to stand, 2307

Made without notice respecting the time of sitting is in order, 2257-58

May be made that any member who has risen “be now heard,” 2280

Relating to business of the house and for the discussion of reports from committees are allowed on routine proceedings, 1712