

women—Mode of initiation into manhood—Powers of imagination—Evening amusements—Favourite game—Scale of happiness—Capability of improvement.

CHAPTER II.

DESCRIPTION OF THE BANTU TRIBES OF SOUTH AFRICA

35

Necessary classification in groups—Inferiority of those west of the Kalahari—Appearance of those of the interior and the eastern coast—Disposition—Hardihood—Cause of rapid increase—Language—Tribal divisions—Tribal names—Mode of government—Order of succession to chieftainship—Laws—Tribunals of justice—Trials on charges of dealing in witchcraft—Privileges of members of ruling families—Religion—Mode of interment of chiefs—Belief in 'demons—Witchfinders—Seers—Rain-makers—Herbalists—Belief in 'charms—Mode of reckoning time—Traditional knowledge—Folklore—Rites of circumcision—Marriage customs—Food—Land tenure—Kraals—Huts—Domestic cattle—Descent of property—Weapons—Clothing—Manufactures—Ordinary mode of life—Cattle-lifting—Comparison between the interior and the coast tribes—Want of veracity—Powers of deception—Practice of slavery—Comparison with Europeans.

CHAPTER III.

ASIATIC SETTLEMENTS AND PORTUGUESE CONQUESTS IN SOUTH AFRICA . . . . .

75

Relics of the occupation of part of South Africa in ancient times by a race of gold miners—Occupation