

- URSULINE Convent and Hotel-Dieu, damaged, iv, 196; votive lamp in the, iii, 188; ii, 217.
- VALLEY of the St. Charles, the iii, 119.
- Vaudreuil, Marquis de, governor general of New France, i, 143; Parkman's estimate of, i, 144; his profession of friendship for Montcalm, i, 145; his opposition to a French commander, i, 146; evidence of jealousy, i, 171; an example of colonial prejudice, i, 173; dissatisfied with Montcalm, i, 209; duplicity of, i, 252; defends Bigot, i, 261; his letters to the inhabitants, ii, 48; sends de Niverville with detachment against Durell, ii, 59; deceived by a British prisoner, ii, 77; hears complaints of citizens against Delouche, ii, 76; proposes to attack the British, ii, 94; blamed for not protecting approach to traverse, ii, 61; letter to Montcalm, re plan of defence, ii, 51; exonerated by Court, ii, 44; his journal of the campaign destroyed in 1870, ii, 31; requests Montcalm to direct the campaign, ii, 27; his preparations to oppose the British, ii, 26; organized a special staff for the protection of city, ii, 131; returns money sent by Wolfe of soldier of Guyenne, ii, 164; replies to Wolfe's protest against scalping, ii, 129; favours the plan of Kanon, ii, 229; his quarters in the horn work, iii, 101; his action on receiving news of the landing of the British, iii, 104; remains in camp at Beauport, iii, 170; his attempt to defame the memory of Montcalm, iii, 197; his letter to Montcalm on the 13th of Sept., iii, 255; suggests another attack, iii, 251; countenances orders of Montcalm, iii, 129; holds a council of War, iii, 191; his delay in advising Montcalm of the approach of the foe, iii, 110; Letters of in Correspondance de Bougainville, iv, 14, 16, 19, 20, 25, 26, 31, 34, 41, 47, 49, 54, 57, 61, 62, 64, 65, 67, 68, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 76, 78, 79, 81, 82, 83, 85, 86, 90, 92, 95, 99, 101, 108, 110, 112, 113, 117, 126, 127, 128, 130, 132; his instructions to de Ramezay regarding the capitulation, v, 299; letters to Cadet, v, 343, 344, 345, 356, 358; letters to M. le Comte de Maurepas, v, 361; letters to Berryer, v, 341, 346, 348, expresses surprise at the capitulation, iii, 283; his connection with Bigot, iii, 303; memoire by, vi, 130.
- Vauquelin, M., proposes to capture British vessel, ii, 227; opposed by M. Kanon, ii, 228; partisans of, ii, 229; dissatisfaction of, ii, 229; iv, 42.
- Vassau, M. de, iv, 90.
- Vergor and Villeray, tried by court marshal for having surrendered Beauséjour, i, 224.
- Vergor, post of, ii, 295; charges of treachery against, iii, 90; his post, surprised, iii, 89; wounded, iii, 86; reference to iv, 96, 203, 204.
- Vernon, Admiral, i, 7.
- Vessels, British, pass the town without damage, ii, 106.
- Victoria Cross, the, ii, 161.
- Victorious army finds no difficulties, iv, 251.
- Vienne, M. de, house of, ii, 79, iv, 90, 243.
- Villejoie, M. de, iv, 21.
- Ville Marie, iv, 240.
- Villeroy, M. de, iv, 62.