JURY DECLARED BECKER GUILTY
Fate Decided on Single Ballot—Counsel to Make Appeal.

 not permitted to accompany her husband to the courtroom. Newspaper men, court attendants, counsel for the defence, and District Attorney Whitbeck, and his staff were the only other persons allowed admission.
 Becker in the room overhead was still talking to his wife when Justice Seabury took his seat. Clerk Penny called "Charles Becker to the bar," and a bailiff went for the defendant. Becker kissed his wife and left her.
 "It's all right," he told her. "Don't worry, they will free me."
 Becker entered by the same door the jury had passed through but a minute before. He walked briskly to the rail facing Justice Seabury and gripped it with both hands.
 Clerk Penny asked the jury to rise. "Foreman," he said, "have you reached a verdict?"
 Blagden, a young man, blonde and slim, brushed his eyes with a handkerchief, already damp. "We have," he said softly. "We find the defendant guilty as charged in the indictment; guilty of murder in the first degree."
 Becker's face was gray as he gripped the bar in front of him with all his strength. The big muscles of his neck jumped out in heavy rolls. His veins at his temples swelled. His great frame swayed and drooped, then with quick control he became himself again.
 The whole proceeding from the time Becker was pronounced guilty until recess was declared, occupied scarcely four minutes.
 Mrs. Becker, learning the verdict, threw her arms around his neck and buried her face on his shoulder.
 "Oh," she cried, "Charlie, I'm so sorry, so sorry, I didn't expect it."
 She could say no more.
 Becker stood, looking down at her as she wept.
 Handcuffs were then locked around his wrists. He was taken from the room and around the marble corridors, quite the other side of the building, across the "Bridge of Sighs," and into the Tombs.
 Another Appeal.
 Immediately after the court was adjourned Mr. Manton said: "I fall to see how the jury managed to convict Becker in view of the conflicting evidence that was presented by the witnesses for the state and the testimony that witnesses gave. However, it has been done. I will immediately set to work to prepare an appeal. We will fight, and fight hard to have Becker cleared of the charge."
 District Attorney Whitman expressed himself as highly gratified with the verdict. "It speaks for itself," he said. "Becker is guilty. It was proved. He must pay the penalty of his crime."

RESIDENCE SOLD.
 The large residence at 400 Jarvis street has been bought by Olive Clark from Harry Ryrie. The consideration was $18,000.

HOW TO CONQUER RHEUMATISM AT YOUR OWN HOME
 If you or any of your friends suffer from rheumatism, kidney disorders or excess of uric acid, causing lameness, backache, muscular pain, stiff joints, swollen limbs, pain in the limbs and feet; neuralgic pains, itching skin or frequent urination, you should at once use our famous Free Trial Treatment of uric acid, known as Chronicure, with reference to full particulars by mail. (This is a G.O.D. scheme.) No matter how long the disease has lasted, it can be cured. Chronicure makes you feel that the cause of the disease has been removed. It cleanses the blood and removes the cause. If the system is not in good condition, it may be necessary to take Chronicure in conjunction with a general tonic, which we will send you free of charge. Please tell your friends of this liberal offer, and send them our large free package to MRS. M. SUMMERS, Box 46, Windsor, Ont.
