

which, let us hope, Lord Grey will realize for us. Frankly, we are not proud to be known and measured by the few dingy lofts and corner groceries scattered and lost in the bewildering aggregation of seven millions of people. Let us have the "Golden Milestone." Let us have the House of Welcome. Let the Empire have a Home. To whom in all the Empire in this generation would we more readily follow or more implicitly trust? To whom would we more gladly yield our grateful tributes for that stroke of sympathetic insight which I am sure is to give us that one Imperial Thing, the very naming of which provokes our wonder that we have been so long without it. That was a great service Lord Grey rendered the Empire when he put forward the plan for the Dominion House. "To give to human minds the direction which they shall retain for ages," says Macaulay, "is the rare prerogative of a few Imperial spirits." Lord Grey may yet prove the truth of the old saying that "a moment of inspiration is worth a lifetime of experience."

After the above address, Dr. Vrooman presented the following resolution, which was very happily seconded by Mr. Alfred Buckley, M.A. The resolution was unanimously adopted.

BE IT RESOLVED:—

That the Progress Club of Vancouver heartily and unanimously endorses the project known as the Dominion House on the Aldwych Site in London, and that it recommends that the trade and professional organizations, Provinces, Dependencies, and
