

Western Terminus (Foot of Granville Street) of the Longest Transcontinental Railway on the North American Continent, Which, With its Atlantic and Pacific "Empress" Line of Steamships, Provides the Longest Route of Travel in the World By One Company.