

INDEX.

Parliament, act of, for the suppression of smuggling, i. 13. For imposing duties on certain kind of merchandise in America, 19. Objects of this act, the commerce of the colonies, and revenue of the state, ibid. Act for regulating the paper currency of America, 20. These acts occasion great discontents in America, 30, 31. (See Stamp Act.) Opposed in America as unconstitutional, 40. The right of parliament to lay taxes on the Americans denied by the congress, 45. Act for repealing the stamp act, 50. Accompanied by an act declaring that parliament had a right to legislate for America in every case, 51. Act for providing for the more comfortable subsistence of the troops in America, 57. Act for levying duties on imports into, 59. Attacked in colonial pamphlets and news papers, 63. Addresses his Majesty on the disorderly state of Massachusetts Bay, 76. Discontinues all the duties in America, except on tea, 82. Act for exporting tea free of duty, 96. Disgusting to the New Englanders, ibid. Act for shutting the port of Boston, 99. Act for changing the constitution of Massachusetts Bay, 100. Act for the better government of Massachusetts, 101. For the settlement of Canada, 102. For prohibiting the most disaffected colonies from trading with any country but Britain, 137. Makes a conciliatory proposition to America, 138. Not accepted, 139. His Majesty's speech at the opening of, after commencement of hostilities, 174. Arguments for and against coercive measures, 176, 177. Coercion resolved on, 178. Measures adopted accordingly, 180. Takes the American petition into consideration, 181. Rejects it, 182. Conciliatory bill proposed by Mr. Burke, ibid. Rejected 183. Act for prohibiting all intercourse with America, ibid. Conciliatory motion by Mr. Hartley, ibid. Rejected, 184. By the duke of Grafton, ibid. Rejected, 186. Debates on the proclamation of lord and general Howe, 294. Bill for securing persons accused of high treason, 300. Motion by lord Chatham for addressing the King against the war, 303. Manly speech of the speaker to his majesty respecting the public money, 305. Bills for reconciliation with America ii. 3.

Patterson, general, services of, at Charlestown, ii. 207.

Peck's Hill, expedition to, i. 310.

Penobscot, British settlement in, by general Macleau, and successful defence of, ii. 167, 168.

Pennsylvania, planted by Penn with Quakers, i. 10. Assembly of, secedes from congress, 213. See Philadelphia.

Penn, William, settles Pennsylvania, i. 10.

—, Richard, presents a petition from congress to his majesty, i. 172.

Percy, lord (now duke of Northumberland), sent with a detachment to seize the military stores at Concord, near Boston, i. 130.