The Nursery

Contributed Ideas.

The best buttonhole for children's underwear may be made by overcasting the slit, then buttonholing both edges and working a bar at each end of the slit. If carefully done with No. 60 thread, this is a beautiful buttonhole for the wash dresses.

Children's stockings first show wear at the knees. Before the stockings are worn, take a deep tuck in them just below the shoe-son. When they are worn at the knees, let out the tucks and the worn parts will come too high to be noticed when mended.

Both hands must be used in lifting the baby from the lap to the bath. One hand supports his back while the little head rests upon the nurse's lower arm or wrist; the legs and lower part of the child's body are lifted in her other hand. It will take only a trifling amount of practice to gain familiarity with the trick of raising the baby in this fashion without giving him the least discomfort. Before he goes into the bath the child's face and head should have been washed, so that there is no danger of soapy water getting into his eyes or mouth.

When one of the children wants to ask in a playmate's presence if the little guest may be asked to remain for the next meal, the child waits until it catches the mother's eye, and then unobtrusively lays a finger against the cheek. The mother can answer with a nod, not a word being spoken; two thumbs mean something else and so on; and the child is pleased to know it can "signal" with no one else but the mother knowing anything about it.

Jack-o'-Lantern Cakes

From a plain loaf cake cut pumpkin-shaped cakes about two and a half inches wide and two inches thick. Fill with a yellow icing, made from the yolk in place of the white of the egg. While the icing is still moist, stick in two small round red candles for the eyes and a row of little white candles to the teeth.

Clock Cakes

Cover vanilla wafers with a vanilla frosting and let them dry. Then take some melted chocolate and with a small clean paint brush make the numbers of the clock face all around the edge and the hands in the centre pointing twelve, the "witch hour."

Elmer Murray

"Loopy, yuh, Doctah," a trifle hypercritically carped Mr. Fagg, who had recently recovered from an illness.

"Dis yuh bill of yo'n is mighty high, 'foots like,'" "It might look dat-uh-way to 'yo' sah, at de fust sight," replied Doctor Slasher. "But 'yo' fevah was mighty high, too. I gravitates much 'foots 'cedin' to de ponderosity of de malady; de lofter de fevah, de taller de bill, sah."—Puck.

TURKEY PRICES WILL BE HIGH

Dealers Already Are Asking 30 and 32 Cents a Pound For Thanksgiving Birds.

Last year Toronto paid twenty-five cents a pound for Thanksgiving turkey, and thought that was about the limit, but that was a low price compared with that which prevails today. Dealers say that Thanksgiving birds are scarce and are asking 30 to 32 cents per pound for them. Although they express the possibility of a rise in price before Oct. 28, the prospects for cheap turkey are anything but bright. Chickens and ducks, which are comparatively plentiful, are in price from 18 to 22 cents per pound.

So if people refuse to buy turkey and hesitate at the price of chickens and ducks, they can have geese at 16 cents per pound.

DANFORTH RATEPAYERS

Meeting to Discuss Civic Questions Will Be Held Tonight.

A public meeting of the Ratepayers' Association of the east end of Danforth avenue will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in MacPherson Sunday school rooms. The business to be discussed is the question of the suburban car line on Danforth avenue and Gerrard street and other local improvements.

A petition, signed by several women, to have the Grand Trunk water tank at the Mac street bridge removed on account of the nuisance created by the smoke from the engines which stand directly under the bridge while taking water will be discussed. The aldermen from the east end and other members of the city council are earnestly requested to attend.

"Posterity will build a monument to that man," said the admiring constituent. "I'll tell you what would please him more," replied Senator Scorgum. "Build something now, and give him a look-in on the contract."—Washington Star.

Chollie—"And we have been engaged for a fortnight now, dear." Mollie—"Yes, Chollie." "And have you told your father about it yet?" "How mean of you Chollie! Do you want to have the engagement broken so soon?"—Yonkers Statesman.

MONEY WANTED FOR WOLFE'S MEMORIAL

Campaign Opened in Toronto For Donations to Erect a Memorial at Greenwich, Eng., in Honor of Hero of Plains of Abraham—To Cost $40,000.

In the interests of the movement to erect a monument to General Wolfe at Greenwich, England, a meeting of representative citizens was held in the city hall yesterday afternoon, when, after an address by F. C. Wade, K.C., of Vancouver, the promulgator of the movement, the campaign to raise money for the memorial was definitely put under way in Toronto. H. J. P. Good, who has already been chosen secretary of the local committee, was authorized to receive subscriptions and deposit the same in the Bank of Commerce.

In his address, Mr. Wade said that history of Canada paid too little attention to the root of the tree. By virtue of Gen. Wolfe's victory on the Plains of Abraham Canada's existence commenced, yet comparatively little had been written of the hero of that great battle. The capture of Quebec, he said, was the culmination of 100 years of bloody warfare between the French and the English. Every great soldier who had been entrusted with the British cause in America had failed, he declared, and it was only when William Pitt selected Gen. Wolfe that the tide turned.

Greatest Hero Ignored

"Nine years ago," said the speaker, "I found the remains of Wolfe entirely unmarked in Greenwich, England. There are the remains of the hero who laid the foundations of Canada, and whose conquests have more than doubled the empire."

"It made up my mind," he declared, "that it was the duty of Canada, if she had any duty at all, to remember and honor her heroes. The first duty is to her first hero, and the greatest duty is to her greatest hero."

Will Cost $40,000

Mr. Wade stated that the original intention was to erect a monument at Greenwich, costing $20,000. In order that the memorial might be more national in character, it was decided to erect a more substantial monument, at a cost of $40,000, and to make an appeal for money from coast to coast.

British Columbia and the prairie provinces had already taken up the matter, he said, and the enthusiastic response had been most gratifying. When the proposal had been laid before the other provinces a central executive would be formed, with headquarters probably in Toronto.

Those present at the meeting were: Sir Edmund Walker, who acted as chairman; A. E. Davies, Noel Marshall, C. B. Powell, R. L. Patterson, F. M. Bell-Smith, R. Y. Ellis, Dr. E. A. A. Grange, F. C. Wade, K. C. W. H. Knowlton, J. R. Roaf, H. W. McKie, K. C. Frost, James Mavor, D. R. Wilkie and City Treasurer Cady.

A subscription list was opened up at the conclusion of the meeting and $300 was subscribed, $500 of which was donated by C. B. Powell.
