DRUGGISTS ARE DISGUSTED.

Judgment in Recent Case Stated to Be Beyond Comprehension.

The regular monthly meeting of the drug section of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada was held yesterday afternoon, with C. H. Cowan presiding. A deputation was present from the council of the Ontario College of Pharmacy.

The contract plan committee reported that they had taken into consideration the situation created by the recently decided case of Wampole v. Kearn. The report stated that, according to the circumstances of the case, the judgment was beyond comprehension. The committee were of the opinion that the evidence was quite insufficient to properly present the truth of the matter, and was also in many ways quite misleading as to facts. Two alternatives were open. One was to apply for a new trial, and the other was to have a fresh case prepared. The matter was left in the hands of the committee.

F. W. Flett and A. E. Walton presented a report from the pharmacy committee, which recommended several new formulas, and strongly urged that Toronto druggists stand truly loyal to Canadian formulas.

The New York State Pharmaceutical Association will be in session at Niagara Falls the latter part of this month, and the delegates will visit Toronto 300 strong. The local druggists, with the council of the O. C. P., will tender a reception.

A committee was appointed to arrange for an excursion to Grimsby.

INVITED TO RESIGN; ACCEPTS

Chamberlain's Victory in Withdrawal of Sir Edward Clarke.

London, June 7.—Sir Edward Clarke, former solicitor-general, and one of the Conservative members of parliament for the City of London, today resigned his seat as the result of the action of the City of London Conservative Association, May 23, in inviting him to resign as the result of his attitude on the tariff reform movement.

On the Fence.

A novel idea has been carried out by Oak Hall's window trimmer and is quite new in its way. A rustic fence has been erected across their big east window, and the figure of a man dressed in up-to-date summer apparel is just astride the fence. A card with this reading on is nailed to the fence: "If you are on the fence of indecision about clothes drop on our side." Other appropriate signs are nailed to the fence and on the trees. The bottom of the window is thickly covered with freshly cut grass, giving to the whole scene a very realistic effect. Go on down and see the window.

$1.20 to Peterboro.
Going June 9 on 7.50 a.m. Grand Trunk Express. Returning until June 11. Secure tickets at City Ticket Office at depot.

TO have that comfortable feeling in summer you must wear light clothing and a good fit is essential.

We have a complete line of summer goods and can make you a nice, easy suit at $25.00 and $27.00.

CITY WILL BE A BIDDER FOR VICTORIA PARK LAND

City Council, in Special Session, Assure Each Other That Investment is Most Desirable.

The board of control is authorized to bid for the Victoria Park property at its disposal by auction on Saturday, the city council, at a special meeting yesterday, approving of the board's making an offer at a figure privately submitted. Aid. Dunn was the only objector.

A communication was first read from Secretary Alex Burns of a ratepayers' association, conveying a resolution passed in protest against the buying of park land outside the city, and declaring such an addition unnecessary. The argument found favor with Aid. Dunn.

"What would the park be worth to Toronto if the street railway refused to run there?" he demanded.

Ald. Noble opined that the property would be worth just as much, and that the public taste for wandering in High Park in support.

Ald. Dunn took refuge in the assertion that the electorate would snow under the project if given a chance, and hinted darkly at information that an alderman of indefinite identity owned property adjacent that would be a remark with some heat, as a "mean insinuation," and branded it as "disrespectfully false," and there were no disbelievers.

"I can see by the firm attitude of this council that nothing can prevent the purchase," was Aid. Dunn's parting shot.

Gratitude.
Ald. Oliver admitted a preference for the Leuty-avenue property, but the price was prohibitive. He would be sorry to see any alderman influenced by the Ratepayers' Association. The speaker made biting allusion to the lawyer shown by a member of that body, who, after getting a job through canvassing the aldermen, was alleged to have made uncomplimentary remarks about his benefactors.

Ald. Oliver's view, that the west end had an undue amount of park land, was shared by Aid. Sheppard, who believed it would be a timely act to buy, as the land was sure to increase in price.

The city had tried for two years to buy park land in the east end, without going outside the city limits, the marked Aid. Keefer, in support of the purchase, and Aid. Stewart urged that it was the next best thing to the west end.

Ald. McHale drew an alluring picture of baseball and other sports being carried on without police interference, as the park would be beyond their jurisdiction.

Ald. Fleming spoke disparagingly of Victoria Park as a "sand hill," and no place for amusement. On the purchase at which the Leuty-avenue property had last been offered, it would only cost $100,000, and the Victoria Park, at $40,000 of a difference. The vendor of the latter property knew he could get more out of the city than out of any other sale.

Ald. Chisholm said he understood that the owners of the Leuty-avenue had actually stipulated $172,000. "Their solicitor gave me the figure as $250,000," the mayor interjected.

Controller Hubbard owned he had been adverse to buying park land outside the city, but Victoria Park was only a few hundred feet removed from the limits.

The motion to support the board of control's report was then carried with an easy sweep, Aid. Dunn alone voting against. The absentees were Controller Ward and Aid. Geary, McMurrich and Adams.

Width of James St.
The width of James-street extension thru to Richmond-street will be 33 feet, if the board of control's recommendation carries. Solicitors for the Robert Simpson and A. Franklin, whose property is affected, objected to the width of 105 feet proposed by the works committee. The controllers, after having personally measured the distance by tape, decided that the 70 feet width at first planned was too narrow, and that 93 feet would be wide enough.

City Engineer Rust reported that it would cost $50,000 to run street cut into the exhibition grounds by way of Richmond-street; $125,000 by way of the old fort grounds, and $150,000 for an entrance via Strachan-street.

Ald. McBride opposed the plan of the property commissioner for the city to establish a horse exchange at the cattle market, renting it out to a private firm on a 10 per cent. revenue basis for 10 years. Pending a report from the city architect, the matter was deferred.

A Danger Zone.
Chief Grasett will, at the board of control's suggestion, outline the streets on which he considers organ grinders and vendors of peanuts and bananas should not be allowed.

The fire and light committee yesterday instructed the city architect to compel the Private Garage, Limited, to remove its gasoline tank, installed in a lane at the rear of 27 Robert-street, the tank having been placed there without permission.

Gerhard Heintzman & Co. were given permission to remove their lumber yard to the corner of Eastern-avenue and Broadview-avenue; the Langmuir Co. to put up an open lumber shed.

A. E. Kemp, M. P., has written the mayor, advising that the city accept one of the three options offered by the Yonge-street bridge, stating that the railway committee would be sure to throw out the city's application as it has covered up the city's application by the city in informing Toronto members of its attitude.

PREFERENTIAL TRADE TREATIES

Negotiations of Australian Government Well Advanced.

Melbourne, Australia, June 7.—Lord Northcote, the Governor-General of Australia, in his speech at the opening of the federal parliament today, announced the immediate submission of a bill for the "preservation of the position of destructive monopolies."

The governor-general also stated that the negotiations of the Australian government for three of the bottles trade treaties with South Africa, New Zealand and other parts of the empire were far advanced.

Chinese and Their Staying Power.

Two Chinamen, Tug Kow and Quon Chin, were charged before the Ontario Division yesterday with breach of the liquor laws.

Staff Inspector Archibald wasn't able to pick out the defendants from a number of Chinese who were in court, and the magistrate finally remarked that the case had better be adjourned until the inspector knew something about the matter.

Alex Mills, for the defence, claimed that all three of the bottles seized were marked as medicine, and none were intoxicating.

"How much would it take to knock out an Englishman?" asked the magistrate of one who was put on the stand to testify as an expert on Chinese liquors. "Do you think three tumblers would make him drunk?"

"No, the Chinese are used to it, and I think they could stand that much," was answered.

"How much would it take to knock out an Englishman?" continued the magistrate.

"Oh, I think that half a glass would be amply sufficient," was the reply.

"It's not intoxicating; it's used for food," said Mr. Mills.

Many Happy Returns.

St. Petersburg, June 7.—To-day was the empress' birthday, and it was observed as a general holiday.

The lower house of parliament, without specifically mentioning the reason, honored the occasion by adjourning until to-morrow.

Six Months in "2 in 1."

A Consulting Chemist Makes a Novel Experiment. An Unsolicited Letter That Explains Itself.

"I write to state that on account of your '2 in 1' Shoe Polish being criticised, and the charge made that it injured leather, I made this test as follows:

I mixed the contents of a box of '2 in 1' Shoe Polish, bought at a retail store from regular stock, with four ounces of water and into this mixture put a kid glove, and left the said glove in the mixture in a bottle from June 18th to December 18th, 1905—a full six months. I then took the glove out, washed it and examined it. The fine leather of the glove was not affected in the least. It was as pliable and soft as when new, and was not altered in condition, nor were the stitches affected in any way. This, I consider, proves that '2 in 1' does not injure the finest leather.

I hereby state that these facts are correct and true.
