What the Press Agents Say About the Shows

AT THE ALLEN

"ON WITH THE DANCE."

Allen Theatre Secures for Fair Week Most Sensational Spectacular Film of Year—Gorgeous Pageant of Dazzling Color; Beauty and Thrills, Starring the Beautiful Mae Murray.

Ziegfeld Follies beauty, Mae Murray, displaying all her graceful charms, supported by David Powell and an all-star cast, which includes such famous stars as Alma Tell; New York night life seen in all its mad dizzying whirl of lust of pleasure and wine, women and song. A revelation of the life of the Gay White Way—such is "On With the Dance," the exceptional attraction secured for the Allen Fair Week.

Never in the annals of moviedom has there been a picture produced which possessed to such a successful measure the ingredients of popularity full of dazzling color; sensational with thrills, and scenes of the street of pleasure, and the life in New York's notorious cabarets, a fashion show, continuing from the opening scene until the flash of the final picture, with all the latest Paris and New York creations in gowns, jewels, clothes, motors; the picture is a revelation of beauty, of feminine charms and youthful grace.

You will see the intrigues of the multi-millionaire in his palatial apartments high in the Tower of Measure; you will see the sensational after four frolics in the much talked about Cabaret Montmartre; the Masked Dancer will charm you with her graceful swaying sinuous interpretations; the mad search for more and new sensations and pleasures of the beautiful young Russian who steals the hearts from a hundred men, and drags them down with her to destruction; you will thrill to the shot that ends the revolting scene of the Peacock Room, and you will realize after seeing the picture that "On With the Dance" marks a new era in motion picture production, that it is an epic in beautiful settings, and the most amazing sensational story that the screen has yet entertained the public with.

For Fair Week the Allen will show as an extra attraction the special Sunshine comedy, "The Jazz Bandits," while the famous Concert Orchestra will be augmented for this extra special occasion. There will be a special matinee daily for school children, and we advise you to attend as early as possible, so that you may have the opportunity of avoiding the rush of the great evening crowds.

MAJESTIC

AN HOUR SPENT BEHIND THE SCENES OF A CANNIBAL ISLAND, WHERE PEOPLE LIVE TO EAT; WHO KNOW NO GOD, AND FEAR NO MASTER.

"SHIPWRECKED AMONG THE CANNIBALS," AMAZING AND INSTRUCTIVE, AUTHENTIC PICTURES OF HAIR-RAISING ADVENTURES.

Never has there been shown before, and most likely never will there again be taken, pictures such as you will see in that great film "Shipwrecked Among the Cannibals," the attraction that opens at the Majestic Monday for Fair Week.

Absolutely true and real, yet surpassing in drama the wildest fiction of the novellists. When Edward Laemmle and William F. Alder set out to obtain some pictures of the South Sea Islands they had no expectation of being shipwrecked—least of all on a cannibal island whose only foreign visitor, a missionary, had met his terrible end a few months before their arrival. As a result these pictures have a reality about them which convinces as nothing else could do.

Six reels of almost unbelievable pictures, made at the bottom of the world—in an island God forgot. Where men slash and tear their bodies to seem beautiful—where men torture their faces out of all human semblance to make them appear ferocious, where a million bones attest a thousand cannibal feasts.

View these most dramatic of all real pictures ever taken since the world began, and you see in an instant that there is something that is bound to be remembered as a photographic page from the history of a humanity that we know little of, of a people fast vanishing from the face of the earth.

This picture is induced by the boards of education of Toronto, Ottawa and Ontario, and the countryside, and it is recommended that every man, woman and child should take the splendid opportunity offered in seeing this unusual and exceptional offering.

Special children's matinee daily. Continuous performances throughout the week.
